WILSON HOME IN MONTH WITH TREATY

NOTED AVIATORS TO FIGHT IN SKIES OVER CITY TODAY

HUN PLANES TO HAVE PART IN EXHIBITION

LEAVE SPEEDWAY AT 1:30.
The traveling circus will leave the Speedway promptly at 1:30 o'clock, and will proceed to Five Points, where the sham battle will be staged.

Plans are pratically complete for the spectacular aerial exhibition today by the aeroplanes comprising the "Flying Circus," which is expected to reach Atlanta at 7 o'clock this morning on the Victory Loan special, and formally herald the opening of the drive here.

On the eve of the b... riotic demonstration Liberty Loan officials Friday were receiving numerous encouraging reports from all parts of the Atlanta zone. A number of voluntary subscriptions have already been received.

From Campbell, Cherokee and Fanning counties reports during the day indicated that workers were assured of splendid support, while local committee ... themselves as optimistic.

Great Mimic Battle.

Twenty noted American fliers and aces of the British, French and Italian corps who brought down numbers of Hun planes on the western front will appear in the great air sham battle, in addition to about 60 enlisted men. They will arrive in three Pullman cars, while their planes, which include the fastest and largest used during the war, will accompany them.

Among the planes are several German Fokkers, which will be exhibited as victory tokens. Although their former drivers will not be here to put them through the evolutions, Atlantans will derive much pleasure in seeing just how an enemy plane looks soaring over the city.

After the fliers leave the train at Terminal station to have breakfast at their hotels, the coaches will be hitched to swith engines and will be taken to Hapeville, where Candler field is in readiness for their arrival. They will be parked on sidetracks until just before the demonstration in the afternoon, when the machines will be sent to the field in motor trucks.

New York Threatened By General Strike Over Harbor Trouble

Butler Scores German Savants Seeking Favors

Teuton Scholars Must Acknowledge Country's Crimes and Show Contrition Before Allies Will Accept Them.

New York, April 18.—Acknowledgement of Germany's wrong-doing and contrition by her scholars and savants for the "thirty-one kinds of crime" committed by the Germans during the war must be indicated before German scholarship and German science can be rehabilitated in the eyes of university men of France, England and America, Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, says in reply to a recent protest made by German professors against "the outrageous action" of the French high command in ordering German educators to leave the University of Strasbourg within 24 hours.

Dr. Butler's letter was sent to the rector of the University of Upsala, Sweden, who had transmitted an open letter of protest from the faculty of the University of Leipzig, addressed to the Universities of Switzerland, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, together with a letter from the University of Heidelberg and Heidelberg academy, stating that those institutions joined in their objections to the treatment accorded their follow savants. The neutral nations were requested to forward the German protest to scholars in allied countries.

Prostitution of Scholarship.

Reminding the protestors that "it is an established principle in England and the United States that any one who comes into a court of equity seeking relief must come with clean hands." Dr. Butler declared that the allied peoples have not forgotten Germany's "amazing prostitution of scholarship and science to national lust," and that, before public sympathy can be expected, the people of the allied nations want to know what measure of protest, if any, the rector and senate of the University of Leipzig recorded against "the inhuman treatment of the scholars of the University of Louvain and against the wanton and barbarous destruction of the liberty of that university."

Dr. Butler cites "31 atrocious offenses" committed by German armies and German agents during the war, indisputably proved by international commissions, such as enslavement of women, putting to death of hostages, starvation of civilians, pillage, wanton devastation, poisoning of wells, bombardment of hospitals, sinking of hospital ships and destruction of religious, charitable, educational and historic buildings and monuments.

Must Acknowledge Wrong.

President of Federated Union Declares Strike Will Be Called Unless Concessions Are Made Harbor Workers.

TRUCE IS EXTENDED FOR 24 HOURS MORE

Hundreds of Thousands of Workers Will Be Affected Unless Efforts of Conciliators Are Successful.

New York, April 18.—A strike of all the trades unionists in the boroughs of Manhattan and Brooklyn was threatened late today unless private boat owners make "reasonable concessions" to their men in an effort to end the strike of the marine workers' affiliation.

The declaration that a general strike was imminent was made by Edward I. Hannah, president of the Central Federated union, which includes all the trades in Manhattan, after a conference at the city hall presided over by Mayor Hylan at which the armistice granted by the harbor workers was extended another twenty-four hours. The truce was prolonged to give the mayor another opportunity to confer with private boat owners regarding acceptance of an arbitration offer made by their employees.

Great Strike Threatened.

Mr. Hannah asserted that unless the boat owners promptly showed a disposition to meet their workers' demands, he would call a joint conference of the governing boards of the Central Federated union, the Brooklyn Central Labor union, the United Hebrew Trades and the Women's Trade unions to consider sympathetic strike action. Such a walkout would involve hundreds of thousands of workers.

Leaders of the marine workers' affiliation declared that unless the mayor was successful tomorrow in his efforts at conciliation the threatened strike designed to paralyze completely all traffic in the harbor would begin at 6 a. m. Sunday. The main point of dispute is the question of hours. The workers demand a basic eight-hour day, while the boat owners insist on a twelve-hour day. Mayor Hylan has suggested nine hours as a compromise pending arbitration of the entire question by a board of nine members as proposed by the unions.

Vaccarelli Is Removed.

Simultaneously with the threat of a general strike came the announcement that Paul A. Vaccarelli had been removed as vice president of the International Longshoremen's association at a meeting of the executive council late today. Since the harbor strike has been in progress, T. V. O'Connor, president of the longshoremen's union, has come into conflict with some of the leaders of the marine workers' affiliation who have contended that he was too diligent in attempting to settle the strike in behalf of some of the affiliated unions on terms too favorable to the employers.

While the longshoremen have not been on strike, thousands of members of the association have been idle because of the traffic tie-up.

FIRST TRAIN OF POLES IS "LOST" IN GERMANY

Coblenz, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first train of Polish troops being taken to Poland became "lost" soon after entering occupied districts of Germany. The train pulled into Treves late on Wednesday and because of the misunderstanding of orders on the part of German railroad men it was sent to Cologne instead of to Coblenz.

There was some excitement on board the train but allied officers soon straightened out the misunderstanding and the train was brought to this city. When the Poles got here and crossed the Rhine their excitement had entirely disappeared and officers on duty at the station in this city reported that the discipline on board the train was excellent.

LOANS TO ALL ALLIES TOTAL $9,138,829,000

Great Britain 100,000,000; Rumania, $5,000,000, and Serbia. $268,000.

This raised the total loans to all the allies to $9,138,829,000, o which $4,236,000,000 has gone to Great Britain; $20,000,000 to Rumania, and $27,268,000 to Serbia.

WILL PROBE DEATH OF MRS. J. H. HOADLEY

New York, April 18.—An investigation into the death last Monday of Mrs. Joseph H. Hoadley, wife of the president of the Hoadley-Knight Coal Mining company, who was found unconscious, presumably from gas poisoning, in the servants' quarters of her home on the upper East Side, was ordered today by Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, acting medical examiner. Subpoenas have been issued for members of the family and servants.

PALMER IS ASKED TO FIX LEGALITY OF ACREAGE PLAN

Opinion of Attorney General on Movement to Reduce Output of Cotton Sought by Secretary Houston.

COMPLAINTS MADE BY MANUFACTURERS

Pointed Out That Clayton Anti-Trust Act Makes Special Exemption in Favor of Farmers.

Washington, April 18.—Attorney General Palmer has been asked by Secretary Houston, of the department of agriculture, for an opinion as to the legality of the movement among southern cotton planters to reduce acreage with the purpose of holding up cotton prices.

The inquiry was made following receipt by the department of agriculture of complaints from a number of cotton-consuming interests.

It was pointe dout today in this connection that appropriation bills for anti-trust prosecution of the department of justice for several years has contained a clause forbidding employment of the trust law against farmers for any crop-raising activities.

The Clayton anti-trust act also specifies that farmers shall not be affected by its provisions.

Attorney General Palmer will prepare an opinion within the next two or three weeks.

MOVEMENT LEGAL, SAY PLANTERS.

Columbia, S. C., April 18.—The South Carolina Cotton association issued a statement here today when announcement was made that Secretary Houston has appealed to Attorney General Palmer for a ruling as to the legality of the cotton holding and acreage reduction movement in which the statement is made that "the cotton farmers are confident that the decision will be in their favor. The South Carolina association has consulted some of the ablest lawyers in the state and they are all of the same opinion—that the law will not reach the farmer."

The statement says also that the association has the opinion of Clarence Ousley, assistant secretary of agriculture, that the movement is legal. The statement concludes with the assertion that there are two sections of the anti-trust act which prevent prosecution of farmers organizations.

J. S. Wannamaker, chairman of the South Carolina Cotton association, today received a telegram from David F. Huston, secretary of agriculture, asking the South Carolina association to send a committee to Washington April 21 for a conference on factors to be considered in estimating the cost of production of cotton in 1918. The message said that work now being done will provide a basis for the estimate in a few weeks. If it is found possible to do so, a committee will be sent.

Atlanta Nearing Quarter Million Says Directory

By Ralph T. Jones.

Once more the weary wanderer, who has looked in vain for a street sign on the corner of his own residential avenue, can find out exactly where he lives.

The new city directory is complete, issued from the press and is now being distributed.

The new volume, in addition to elucidating the peculiarities of street nomenclature in this city of unnumbered streets of mystery, contains many instructive, entertaining and enlightening facts.

Nearing 250,000 Mark.

For instance, there are 4,497 more people here than there were one year ago, making the total population 244,497. Whether the increase is chiefly due to the influx from other points or whether it can be attributed to the normal growth prescribed by Mother Nature, deponent sayeth not. Anyway, let us all pray fervently that the remaining 5,503 required to reach the proud quarter-million mark come quickly, whether they travel by Pullman or stork.

Then there is a Buyers' Guide of compelling allure, hypnotic enough in its suggestion to drag a protesting dollar from the most parsimonious of the 244,497 and make them seek the marts of trade as purchasers.

There is a mass of statistical data

GOTHAM BREWERS TESTING DRY LAW BY SHIPPING BEER

Are Acting on Root's Opinion That 2 3-4 Per Cent of Alcohol Does Not Violate Regulations.

NO REVENUE STAMPS AFFIXED TO BARRELS

Action by Federal Authorities Is Expected to Bring Matter Into the Courts for Final Decision.

New York, April 18.—Brewers of the New York district took action today intended to speed court determination of their claim that beer of 2¾ per cent alcoholic content may be produced without violating the food conservation regulations when two of their number began distribution of a brew of the strength specified in barrels bearing labels describing it as a non-intoxicating beverage.

The kegs, sent out without revenue stamps, which the collector had refused, carried tags announcing that sums equivalent to the cost of the stamps had been deposited in banks to await the claim of the government. Attorneys for the brewers who advised their action declared that other manufacturers in New York and elsewhere throughout the country also would begin distributing.

Government Action Expected.

The beer shipped here from the Hoffman and Gambrinus breweries had been manufactured since December 1, when by presidential proclamation use of grains for brewing was prohibited, to be modified early this year by permission to make non-intoxicating or "near" beer which the revenue department classified as containing less than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content.

It was expected that the brewers' action would precipitate a move by the federal authorities intended to stop the sale of unstamped beer, thus bringing into the criminal courts the manufacturers' contention, already raised in civil suits, that the 2¾ per cent brew, being without the scope of the food conservation and prohibition statutes forbidding production of intoxicants, could be manufactured and sold, now and in the future under either the war-time or permanent prohibition status, in compliance with the law.

The Hoffman breweries notified the internal revenue collector early this week of their intention to resume distribution of the 2¾ per cent product. This was the standard during the greater part of America's participation in the war, under the food regulations. When application for revenue stamps was denied, the brewers announced their intention of tendering payment to the authorities.

Root Fixed Labels.

When this was refused, it was decided by the Hoffman and also the Gambrinus concerns to deliver goods without stamps, and special labels prepared on order of Elihu Root and William D. Guthrie, counsel for the brewers of the country, were attached to the barrels. The labels contained the following legend:

"Non-intoxicating beer, containing not to exceed 2¾ per cent of alcohol by weight.

"The internal revenue tax imposed by section 608 of the act of congress of February 24, 1919, of $6 for every barrel containing not more than thirty-one gallons, has been duly tendered to the collector of internal revenue for the district of —— and

Airmen Missing After Starting Ocean Flight

Limerick, April 18.—Up to midnight nothing had been heard here or at any airdrome in Ireland of Major J. C. P. Wood, the British aviator, who left East Church early this afternoon for the Irish base from which he proposes to make his jump off for the American shores.

Speculation as to the non-arrival of the aviator was varied, but the view held by all those watching for his advent was that nothing tangible would be forthcoming until morning. Mishaps of all kinds were suggested as possible causes for his delay, including one that he had fallen into the Irish channel, owing to the possibility of the long petrol tank of his machine being caught in an adverse wind and the plane somersaulting.

TWO AVIATORS START FOR IRELAND.

East Church, England, April 18.—Major J. C. P. Wood left East Church at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon for Limerick, Ireland, on the first leg of his attempt to cross the Atlantic in a short airplane.

Major Wood started his flight in ideal weather. There was very little wind. He was accompanied by Lancaster Parker, a test pilot, for the Short company.

The start was delayed by the discovery during the morning trial flight of a leaky petrol pipe. This necessitated repair work and a new trial.

Three different engines had been tried in the past eleven days before one was found in perfect condition and fitted permanently.

A few minutes previous to the start the air force chaplain conducted a brief service in which he wished success to the fliers and offered prayer for their safety. All connected with the airdrome turned out to witness the start. The sun was shining brightly.

Major Wood, dressed in civilian clothes, was accompanied by Captain C. C. Wylie, as navigator, and an assistant.

Pilot Parker, in an experimental plane which is ten feet shorter in wing span than Major Wood's Shamrock, is accompanying the major to Curragh. The two planes made a fine show passing over Sheerness. They expected to reach Curragh at 7 o'clock, allowing about four hours for the preliminary flight of 370 miles.

NAVAL SEAPLANE HAS TEST FLIGHT.

New York, April 18.—The naval seaplane N C-2, which refused to take the air yesterday "because of experimental conditions," received today "a routine test in flight," according to a formal announcement here tonight by naval officers in charge of the department's plans for a trans-Atlantic flight next month. Failure of the plane to rise yesterday was said to have "proved nothing against the machine."

The N C-3, another trans-Atlantic competitor, probably will take a trial flight Monday, the officers said. The N C-4 "is in the state of being assembled and it is indefinite as to just when she will be in condition for a trial flight." The N C-1, damaged recently in a gale, was said to be "in the same state of preparedness as the N C-4."

A safety zone was established today around the naval air station at Rockaway, where the tests are being conducted. This was done, officers explained, "to protect the activities from interference and also to maintain adequate control of operations."

The first official announcement made here of the progress made at the station added:

"It is not the intention of the authorities to convey the impression that any secret is being withheld. At the proper time the navy department will make full announcement as to the plans and details for flights. The twenty-four-hour notice of the start from Rockaway is guaranteed."

CYCLONIC AREAS PREVENT START.

St. Johns, N. F., April 18.—Cyclonic areas between Newfoundland and Ireland, which are preventing Harry G. Hawker and Captain Frederick P. Raynham, rival aviators, from starting their trans-Atlantic aerial race for the $50,000 prize offered by The London Daily Mail, will not move out of the course charted by the fliers for at least two days, according to a statement tonight by Lieutenant L. J. Clements, royal air force, meteorologist.

Snow falling this morning to a depth of several inches was turned late today into slush by sudden rainstorms. In addition, reports of weather conditions in mid-Atlantic received here today by wireless are inauspicious for an early start, Lieutenant Clements said.

Captain Raynham, the Britisher, who has been able to assemble his Martinsyde biplane in the period his Australian competitor has been held up by inclement conditions, announced today he would "hop off" only when wind and weather offered "even chances."

Hawker, who has been growing restive with nothing to do but put "finishing" touches to a machine already found ready to take the air, is so eager to get the jump on his rival that it was said at his camp tonight he was ready to even take longer weather chances than last week.

Both aviators are so confident of making the crossing, once they get started, that they have cabled to London taking some of the wagers laid against them there at high odds.

COUNCIL OF FOUR WILL GIVE POLAND CORRIDOR TO SEA

Danzig to Be Internationalized—Polish Boundary Settled—Adriatic Question to Be Determined Today.

CONGRESS EXPECTED TO MEET BEFORE JUNE

Germans Not Planning to Delay Signing of Treaty, According to Present Indications.

Paris, April 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—It was stated in well informed quarters tonight that the situation of the peace negotiations was such that President Wilson probably would be able to sail homeward May 20, and possibly a little earlier—by May 15.

To Call Congress.

The belief was expressed that the president would call an extra session of congress to convene between May 15 and June 1.

Present indications are that the peace treaty will be signed before the president's departure. Information reaching the delegates tends to show that the Germans are not planning to take up time and delay the signing of the treaty, as they desire a settlement of the peace terms at the earliest possible moment.

Pole Boundary Fixed.

The Polish-German boundary question was finally disposed of by the council of four this morning. No announcement was made of the decisions taken, but it is understood that Danzig will be internationalized, while the Poles will have a corridor running from that city to their frontier to give them access to the sea.

Only routine work is connected with the coming of the German delegates was taken up in the afternoon.

The most important remaining question to be settled is that of the Jugo-Slav and Italian claims in the Adriatic. This matter will come up tomorrow. Baron Sidney Sonnino, Italian foreign minister, will set forth the Italian case, it is expected.

It was said tonight that the council of four intends to settle this question at tomorrow's session.

The council held both morning and afternoon sessions, occupying itself chiefly with the question of the disposition of Fiume and to the problem of Danzig.

It developed today that contrary to the plan originally contemplated there will be no German text of the peace treaty.

Prosecution of Kaiser.

The plan of the council of four to have Belgium prosecute the former German emperor on the charge of responsibility for the war is meeting with objections, which are again bringing up the whole subject for revision.

Those who have the matter in hand divide the question of war responsibilities into two distinct classes. The first class includes military and naval offenders, like General Ludendorff and Admiral von Tirpitz, and those accused of various excesses against the usual rules of warfare. The second class includes former Emperor William, ex-Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and others whose offense is chiefly of a political nature.

Concerning the first class, that of

NO SIX-CENT FARE, ANSWERS DECATUR

Petition of Georgia Railway and Power Company Turned Down by Unanimous Vote of Council Friday.

Decatur city council at its regular session Friday night voted unanimously to deny the petition of the Georgia Railway and Power company that the 5-cent car fare contract existing between Decatur and the power company be suspended and the company be permitted to charge 6 cents fare on this line.

Only a brief period of discussion preceded the vote. The ayes and nays were demanded and each member of council voted in the affirmative.

A number of citizens attended the meeting, but representatives of the power company and attorneys for the citizens' committee were not present.

Council held a public hearing on the matter last Wednesday night, and at that time Preston S. Arkwright, president of the company, and William Schley Howard presented arguments for the proposed increase, while Attorneys Hooper Alexander and J. Howell Green, as spokesmen for the citizens' committee, protested against it.

20 YEARS' SENTENCE GIVEN YOUTH TRIED ON GIRL'S CHARGES

At a late hour Friday night a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to the mercy of the court was returned in the trial of Harry McDaniel, the young boy charged with a serious offense against a young girl. Judge Humphries imposed a twenty-year sentence.

Would Punish Germans.

Paris, April 18.—A petition asking for the punishment of the Germans responsible for the deportation of women from Lille, Roubaix and Tourcoing in the spring of 1916, will soon be handed to the peace conference. It is signed by 15,000 women, including Mrs. Gaston Calmette and Mrs. Anna Roosevelt.

Killed by Explosion.

Washington, April 18.—Rear Admiral Knapp reported to the navy department from London today that two enlisted men had been killed by a boiler explosion on the U. S. S. Beukelsdijk. They were William G. Hollenback, Columbus, Ohio, and John Prender, Jr., Washington, D. C. No details were given.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO SETTLE PRICES

Washington, April 18.—President Wilson has directed the industrial board of the department of commerce and the railroad administration to reopen discussion of price stabilization and endeavor to find a common ground on which they can agree.

Chairman Peek announced today that the board would take up the question with the railroad administration immediately, but any action probably will have to wait the return of Director General Hines next week from an inspection trip in the west.

The president's cablegram was addressed to Secretary Redfield and in his absence the text of it was not made public. Mr. Redfield, after a conference with Mr. Peek, Assistant Secretary Sweet and Solicitor Thurman, cabled the president last Friday asking whether the board should go out of existence because of the refusal of the railroad administration to accept a new schedule of steel prices arranged with the industry, or shoud continue quiescent until the president returned and a new plan of action could be worked out.

The president's action is accepted generally as meaning that the policy of stabilizing prices by agreed reductions from war levels will be continued.

Redfield's Statement.

Springfield, Mass., April 18.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield, who spoke here today, commenting on the cable message from President Wilson on the reopening of the discussion of price stabilization, said that the statement from the president was telephoned to him by his secretary last night.

"Providing the statement was correctly transmitted to me," he said, "I believe it is safe to prophesy that the policy of stabilizing prices by agreed reductions from war levels will be continued. I can make no definite comment, however, until I read the cablegram myself."

EICHHORN FAILED TO ESCAPE IN AIR

London, April 18.—Herr Eichhorn, former Spartacan police chief in London, has been arrested by German government troops at Brunswick, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen says. When the troops took Brunswick, Eichhorn tried to escape by airplane, but the machine was forced to land and the fugitive was captured by the soldiers.

Deficits Won't Run Cities Even if You Change Names

When the thoughtful man impartially considers the situation and the facts in the case and the logic of the contentions and a lot of other objects of mental diagnosis, he gets down to the bedrock fact that no man or set of men—it makes no difference what you call them—can run a city or a pressing club without the necessary funds for maintainance.

When the voters of Atlanta are asked to pass upon the proposed increase in the tax rate on Wednesday next, the question they will have to answer, in its ultimate analysis, is simply this:

Do Atlantans want to be citizens of a run-down, slip-shod, ragged-at-the-edges, generally dilapidated municipality, or do they want to point with pride to a city of cleanliness, of order, of comfort and of beauty?

Two years ago, Atlanta answered the question of whether or not she wanted a commission form of government, at the polls. The answer was then made convincingly enough for all but the politically blind to read. The votes were overwhelmingly against commission government for Atlanta, counting over two to one against the proposal.

But, as a matter of fact, whether or not the question had been asked and answered in Atlanta before, makes no difference.

Because any business man will tell you, free gratis, that it doesn't matter whether an executive is called "general manager," "president," "superintendent" or "supreme controller of the wastepaper basket," he cannot change the value of currency, or make $1.25 buy $1.50 worth of material.

"A street by any other name would be as full of holes," says the Atlanta autoist.

And—"A government, under any other name would have the same expenses to meet out of the same income," says common sense.

Forget, for a moment, to boost or to criticise the present city government, and ask yourself how any government, under any name you choose, can achieve the impossible, produce that which does not exist and run a quarter-million city on an income sufficient only for 150,000?

If logic rules your reasoning, you will vote for the tax increase, on Wednesday next.

TROUP BOND ELECTION TO BE HELD ON MAY 27

LaGrange, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—The board of county commissioners have definitely decided to have an election on May 27 for the purpose of voting on a bond issue of $500,000. The rate of interest will be 4 per cent, the entire amount to be devoted to building permanent roads in the county. It is confidently predicted the bonds will carry by a large majority. This fund is to be supplemented by a similar amount from the government, making a million dollars Troup will spend on her roads at once.

Training at Norcross Enables Ga. Soldier to Pink Hun Sharpshooter

Norcross, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) It was the training that he received firing at bobbing targets on the small arms rifle range at Norcross that enabled Horace O. Bell to pick off a German sharpshooter, who was 'playing havoc in the Argonne.

The German, it seems, was perched in a tree, clinging to a limb and was entirely obscured from view. He fired on a detachment of soldiers of the Eighty-second division and was picking them off right and left. He had killed two and wounded five. Bell, with unusual keenness of eye, finally spotted the Hun. Slowly and deliberately he took aim and a second later the Hun sharpshooter fell to the ground like a bird. Horace O. Bell had got his man.

This little incident was related by a comrade of Bell's while both men were in Atlanta en route to Richmond, Va. Bell served with the Eighty-second division and was sent home several months ahead of his division because of illness. He went to France from Camp Gordon.

JAPANESE TROOPS ORDERED TO KOREA

Two Divisions Sent to Suppress Revolutionary Uprisings — 6,400 Have Already Landed at Fusan

San Francisco, April 18.—Two divisions of Japanese troops have been ordered to Korea to suppress revolutionary uprisings, according to a cablegram received here today by The Japanese-American, a newspaper, from a Tokio agent. Another cablegram to the paper from Fusan, Korea, by way of Tokio, said that six thousand Japanese troops and 400 gendarmes had landed at that place.

REPORTS DENIED BY JAPANESE.

New York, April 18.—The Japanese government suspects "one or two American missionaries of a connection with the present uprising in Korea," but has followed "the most considerate method of dealing with the matter and has not arrested a single one of them," according to an official cable message from Tokio made public here today by Chonosuke Yada, Japanese consul general in New York.

The cablegram denied reports that at Ping-Yang "a Japanese soldier struck an American lady missionary with the butt end of his gun," or that at Noburu-Kawa "our soldiers searched the home of an American missionary and forced their way into the bedroom of his wife." Thorough investigation of the Ping-Yang incident, the message said, showed "the report originated from the action of a Japanese soldier trying to force back the passage of a crowd with his gun held horizontally."

Asserting that the riots have been sponsored by "one Son Heiki, who is at the head of a cult called Tendo-Kyo (heavenly way) and harbors a mutinous ambition of bringing about a coup d'etat," the message continued:

"It is a matter of exceeding regret that a certain portion of the missionary body has inspired the suspicion that they have indulged in words and actions susceptible to political constructions. But the authorities have ever respected the freedom of faith and at no time and in no instance have they closed the churches conducted by the missionaries. Only those among the leaders of the Tendo Cult and the Korean missionaries who have had an intimate connection with the present rioting have been put under arrest."

The message asserted the reason certain native Christians and Korean students had joined the movement was because "they misinterpreted the significance of the league of nations and the doctrine of self-determination." Leaders of the uprising, the message added, had forced them through threats to join the rioters "in order to gain public sympathy."

After denying reports of cruelties practiced on the Koreans, the cablegram declared armed forces had been employed only in "certain remote sections where police powers were inadequate.

"Such a report as that of a soldier striking off a girl's arm is utterly without foundation in fact," said the official statement. "As a matter of fact the sword now carried by the soldiers is entirely too dull to cut off an arm."

A. P. Summary Of Situation

New York, April 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—With David Lloyd-George, British prime minister, again in his seat after his visit to London, where he defended his action at the peace conference before the house of commons, the council of four yesterday renewed its hearing of the claims of the Italians to the important Adriatic seaport of Fiume, and also had under discussion the question of the Polish claims to Danzig on the Baltic. The council met at the "white house," the residence in Paris of President Wilson.

The opinion prevails in Paris that with the Italian demands now the remaining obstacle to a full agreement, the situation is such that President Wilson will be able to sail homeward in mid-May with a signed copy of the peace treaty for submission to congress, which in some quarters in Paris it is believed will be called in extra session not later than June 1.

LITTLE OPPOSITION FROM GERMANS.

Little opposition to the peace terms is expected from the Germans according to the latest reports in circulation in Paris as they are declared to be anxious for a return to peace conditions at the earliest moment possible. It is asserted that there is to be no German text of the treaty—the document to be issued only in the French and English language.

Although a general strike has been proclaimed in Bremen and the assertion has been made that it has been impossible to unload foodstuffs, taken there on an American steamship, a German wireless communication asserts that the unloading of the vessel is assured. Employees of department stores and specialty shops in Berlin have joined the bank employees' strike. In Bavaria the situation still remains acute, but few details are available.

BOLSHEVIK RIOT IN VIENNA.

In Vienna there also has been disturbances. The Bolsheviki attempted to storm the parliament building, but were defeated.

Brigadier General Richardson has arrived on an ice-breaker at Archangel to take command of the American forces fighting in that region. A message from General Richardson to the American troops called upon them to maintain the morale that was expected of Americans.

Helgoland, Germany's great buttress of defense of the Elbe and Weser rivers, is to be dismantled, but not destroyed.

It has been decided also that the fortifications along the Kiel canal will be permitted to remain in existence.

BARNES IS NAMED WHEAT DIRECTOR

To Direct Handling of Entire 1919 Crop and Administer Billion-Dollar Guarantee Fund.

New York, April 18.—Julius H. Barnes, president of the Federal Grain corporation, has been appointed wheat director of the United States by President Wilson, it was announced tonight at the office of the food administration in this city.

Mr. Barnes will direct the handling of the entire 1919 wheat crop and will administer the $1,000,000,000 fund appropriated by congress to take care of the crop under the government guaranteed price. He was selected for the place, it was announced, upon recommendation of Herbert Hoover.

In addition to the administration of the $1,000,000,000 fund, Mr. Barnes will remain president of the $150,000,000 government grain corporation, which will continue to function as the commercial agency for carrying out the government policies and also acts as the purchasing representative of the American relief administration.

Letter From Wilson.

President Wilson said in his cable to Mr. Barnes requesting him to become wheat director: "Your responsibility will be directly to myself after Mr. Hoover's retirement as chairman of the grain corporation on July 1. The experience which you have gained and the success which you have attained in handling the wheat and cereal crops under the food administration has been so generally recognized by expressions from the different sections of the community that I feel it would be a national loss if we could not have your services continued until the completion of this most important national undertaking.

"I should like to take this occasion to express the high appreciation and gratitude which I have for the services performed not only by yourself, but by the directors, vice presidents and other members of the grain corporation. The sacrifice which these gentlemen have given in a time of national emergency, the skill and integrity with which they have carried out so difficult an economic undertaking, is one which I am sure the whole of our people must appreciate. I am in hopes that these gentlemen will remain with you in this service and I would be glad if you would convey to each of them my personal gratitude for the exhibition of sacrifice and willingness to national service which is so promising to the future welfare of our people."

Meeting in New York.

The executives of the grain corporation in the fourteen zones into which the United States has been divided for administrative purposes will hold a meeting in New York next Wednesday at which the personnel of the grain corporation for the coming year will be determined upon.

The first association of Mr. Barnes with government war work began when Mr. Hoover made him head of the wheat division of the food administration. Mr. Barnes gave up his private business as head of the Barnes Ames company, the largest wheat exporting firm in the world, to carry on the work of the government, and has not since resumed it.

Born in Arkansas and spending his childhood in Washington, D. C., Mr. Barnes has lived in Duluth most of his life. He started out as a poor boy and has been identified with the grain industry since early manhood.

RULE AT OMSK TO BE RECOGNIZED

To Be Accepted as the Government of Non-Bolshevik Russia, According to News From London,

Washington, April 18.—Great interest has been aroused in official and diplomatic circles here, it was learned today, by private advices from London stating that Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States propose to recognize the Omsk government as the de facto government of non-Bolshevik Russia, as soon as the peace treaty is signed and the details incident to it have been concluded.

This proposed solution of the Russian problem is said in these private advices to have been intimated by Premier Lloyd-George in discussions of the situation with British and Russian leaders in London. Some officials here after reading the advices suggested that portions of the address of the British premier in the house of commons this week could be taken as indicating that the associated powers had agreed to recognize the Omsk government.

Radicals Losing Ground.

President Wilson, it was learned authoritatively today, has information that an appearance of Bolshevik strength is now being made through the concentration of the armed forces at single points at the sacrifice of the rest of Russia. The president also has been informed, it was said, that Bolshevism rapidly is losing ground among the peasant class and even in some of the cities and that with the receipt of the food supplies which the associated governments have decided to furnish the movement will quickly collapse.

The Paris conferees have been kept advised of the situation in Siberia, where the Omsk government generally has been successful despite local troubles in the eastern portion, officials said. The London advices are said to point out that the stability of all sections of non-European Russia under the control of non-Bolshevists had led to the decision to recognize the Omsk government as the de facto.

Financial Situation.

Distinct improvement in the financial situation in Siberia is indicated in a cablegram received by the Russian embassy here from the ministry of foreign affairs at Omsk. The cablegram, made public today, asserts that while the ready money in state credit institutions last July 1 amounted to only 213,000,000 rubles, at present the ready money in these institutions amounts to a billion and a half rubles. Payments of taxes and customs are said to have been increased more than twelve times since the Omsk government came into existence.

Minister Kills Self.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 18.—Ill health is assigned as the reason for the suicide of Rev. Thomas Dalton, a Baptist minister, aged 69, who shot himself through the heart at his home here this morning. According to friends he has suffered lapses of memory following an attack of influenza the past winter.

SOLDIERS RETURNING IN STEADY STREAM

Washington, April 18.—Units of the 42d or Rainbow, the 83d (Ohio and western Pennsylvania national army), the 35th (Missouri and Kansas national guard) and the 28th (Pennsylvania national guard) divisions were announced today by the war department as having sailed from France. The departure for home of the 58th coast artillery regiment complete, and portions of the Eleventh and Eighteenth engineers also was announced.

The transport Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, one of the twelve German passenger liners assigned to the United States for troop transport, sailed from Brest April 16, and is due at New York about April 24. The vessel has aboard the medical detachment, third battalion headquarters and Companies G, H, I, K, L and M, of the 165th infantry, which is the old 69th New York infantry, one of the famous national guard organizations of the country and a Rainbow division unit.

Many Casual Companies.

Other troops aboard the former German liner are casual companies for eleven states; the band of the 331st infantry of the 83d division; the 336th and 337th butchery companies; 312th clothing unit, base hospitals No. 12 and 71, 116 casual officers, 23 casual enlisted men, seven army field clerks, 13 nurses, 147 civilians and 30 soldiers' wives and four children.

The transport Nansemond is due at Newport News about April 30, with the headquarters of the 70th infantry brigade and the 140th infantry complete and the first battalion headquarters and medical detachment, supply company and Companies A, C and D, of the 139th infantry, all of the 35th division.

The transport Tean is scheduled to arrive at New York about May 1 with the headquarters detachment, field and staff, medical detachment and companies A to F, inclusive, totalling 1,184 men, all assigned to Camp Kearney, Cal.; the headquarters, supply and medical detachments and companies D and E, of the 407th telegraph battalion; the headquarters and medical detachments and companies D and E, of the 413th telegraph battalion and a number of casual companies.

Other Transports Coming.

The transport Minnesotan due at New York about April 27, has abroad the field and staff headquarters detachment, supply company and companies A to E, inclusive, of the 111th infantry of the 28th division, and casuals.

The transport Chicago is due at New York about April 26, bringing the field and staff headquarters, medical detachment, company A, a detachment of company B, and companies D, E and F, of the 11th engineers, a casual company and eight casual officers.

The transport Santa Barbara will arrive at New York about April 30, with the 58th regiment of the coast artillery corps, complete, totaling 1,601 officers and men, all assigned to Camp Upton, New York.

The transports Luella, due at New York about May 10, the Liberty, due at New York about April 28, and La Touraine, due at New York April 26, have casual companies and casual officers and men on board.

Refrigeration Charges.

Washington, April 18.—Increases in the refrigeration charges on carload shipments of vegetables, fruits, berries and melons from points in Florida east of the Apalachicola river to various destinations in the United States and Canada were asked today by southeastern railroads in an application filed with the interstate commerce commission.

REGULATIONS MADE ON ADMISSION TAX

Washington, April 18.—Regulations governing collection of the tax on admissions, soon to be issued by the bureau of internal revenue, define the four classes which are exempt from the tax. They are, children under 12 years of age, bona fide employees of the place of amusement, municipal officers on official business, and soldiers or sailors in uniform. All other persons are subject to the tax, which is one cent for each ten cents or fraction thereof, of the price of admission.

If a theater sells to a soldier or sailor a two-dollar ticket for one dollar, the tax is ten cents on one dollar, not twenty cents on the regular price. Admissions by passes are subject to the tax. If the pass entitles the holder to a dollar seat, he must pay ten cents. The dramatic critic who occupies a two-dollar orchestra chair must pay twenty cents.

The law provides the tax shall be paid by the person paying for the admission, and that places of amusement shall keep a record of the amount of tax collected. Monthly returns and remittances must be made to collectors of internal revenue on or before the last day of the month following that for which the return is made.

LABOR SITUATION SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Washington, April 18.—Despite the surplus of labor reported in many sections of the country, efforts of the United States employment service to secure labor for work on the farms has met with little success, says a statement made public today by the department of labor. Concerning the labor situation, the statement says:

"Telegraphic reports received by the employment service for the week ending April 12 from fifty-nine cities indicate an improvement in unemployment conditions. Reports from these cities show thirty-six having a surplus of labor in representative industries aggregating 97,900, as compared to a surplus over the previous week of 123,605. Seven cities show a shortage aggregating 3,750 or 800 less than the previous week, while 16 show an equality of labor supply and demand. Of the thirty-six cities reporting surpluses it is noticeable, says the statement, that 14 showed decreases and none show a material increase.

Summarizing conditions by states and sections, the statement continues:

"Kansas rural districts report some shortage of farm labor. Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Nebraska report conditions good, with labor supply and demand equal.

"Practically all the southern states with the coming of spring show labor supply and demand about equal, except for a shortage of farm hands.

"Improvement in labor supply and demand during the week have been better on the Pacific coast than in any other sections of the country."

"CHRISTMAS KEOUGH" QUICKLY CONVICTED

Chicago, April 18.—Harry Harris, alias "Christmas Keough," whose swindling of jewelers during the week preceding Christmas day for several years, had earned him a national police record and his sobriquet, today was found guilty of operating a confidence game by a jury which deliberated, but five minutes. Harris refused to offer a defense.

"Christmas eKough" had eluded the police for several years until last Christmas when he was arrested at Pittsburg. He is said to have passed so many forged travelers' checks for $200 each, drawn against the Canadian Bank of Commerce, that that institution at one time ceased issuing checks of that denomination. He had a reputation of operating for one week, obtaining jewelry and money in exchange for forged checks, after sojourning in London. The police credit him with obtaining nearly $500,000.

ANARCHIST AT HEAD OF MUNICH COMMUNE

Berlin, Wednesday, April 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Bavarian anarchist, Sondheimer, has succeeded in obtaining complete control of the new communist government in Munich, according to advices received here from the Bavarian capital.

The German national government is considering seriously the sending of government troops or, at least, German general staff officers, to aid in the relief of Munich from the communist forces," although neither the Bavarian nor the German governments wish to cause such an invasion of state rights if it can be avoided.

The bulk of the Bavarian peasants, it is reported, are still loyal to the government of Premier Hoffman. The peasants' association has issued a declaration asserting that the devastation of the country, the plundering of houses and barns and the murdering of peasants by communists bands have become intolerable.

Munich, it is said, is affected only slightly as yet by the action of the peasants in cutting off food supplies. It is declared that there is enough food in the city to feed the inhabitants for one week, but the communists have seized all the supplies and can live comfortably for a long while if they do not feed the non-communists.

Gandorfer, a leader of a small section of the peasants which went over to the communists, has been arrested by the Hoffman government.

CRANE'S APPOINTMENT ANNOUNCED BY POLK

Washington, April 18.—Selection of Richard Crane, private secretary to Secretary Lansing since 1915, to be the first American minister to the new republic of Czecho-Slovakia, was announced at the state department today by Acting Secretary Polk.

Mr. Crane, whose father is Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, is 37 years old and was born at Denver, Colo. He graduated at the Lawrence Scientific school at Harvard with the degree of bachelor of science, and was in business until 1910, when he became a member of the Connecticut rivers and harbors commission.

EGYPTIAN SITUATION IS CAUSING CONCERN

Paris, Thursday, April 17.—Newspapers here feature reports as to the gravity of the Egyptian situation, and it is said that there is great concern among British authorities over the nationalist movement. Dispatches state that mutinous conditions prevail at Cairo, Alexandria and Port Said, there being several mysterious deaths in connection with the disorders.

The insurgent leaders demand that European officials resign, that English citizens leave the country and that a Mussulman empire be founded with a caliph at Cairo.

A WORD AS TO OUR TEACHERS' SALARIES

Inasmuch as those in favor of the 20% increase in the tax rate frequently refer to the matter of teachers' salaries, and as many of our worthy principals and teachers are making a vigorous campaign in behalf of the increase, for the purpose, no doubt, of having their salaries increased, is it not reasonable and proper for the taxpayer to know just what our teachers receive now, what they do to earn it, and how their salaries compare with those of other city employees who are just as faithful, just as loyal and just as competent in the line of their duty as are our most esteemed teachers?

While our teachers are nominally subject to the Board of Education for twelve months in the year, and while they receive their salaries in twelve monthly installments, still it is a fact that during three months in the year their time is their own; during these months some of them work for employers other than the City and all of them have that privilege; some of them, in years past, on their own application, have taught in the vacation schools, for which they have received extra compensation; some of them now teach in the Night School, for which they receive extra compensation; all of them have the right to dispose of their time out of school hours according to their pleasure or interest, and we are informed that some of them have other employment. Isn't the claim that they are overworked by the City pretty thoroughly exploded?

Many of our citizens think that the present teachers' salaries are adequate and even excessive for the service being rendered at this time, but the average man will probably admit that some raises ought to be made. Below appears a list of the salaries now being paid every white teacher in our school system. In order to be perfectly fair, we give the amounts received for the year, for each of twelve months, and for each of nine months, which is their annual term of service:

		PER YEAR.	PER MONTH 12 months.	9 months.
4	Principals	$2,400.00	$200.00	$266.67

43	Grammar School Teachers (white)	900.00	75.00	100.00

A teacher is on duty 5½ hours per day for 200 days a year, a total of 1,100 hours.

The lowest paid teacher, of whom there are only 17 in the whole system, received $660 per year, or 60 cents per hour while on duty.

The highest paid grammar school teacher, of whom there are 43, receives $900 per year, or about 82 cents per hour while on duty.

The highest paid grammar school principal receives $1,650 per year, or about $1.50 per hour while on duty.

Fifteen of our high school teachers receive $1,800 per year, or about $1.63 per hour while on duty.

Teachers have to go from home to school and back again on their own time.

Teachers have to do certain outside work, requiring possibly 10% additional time.

A policeman is on duty 8 hours per day for 350 days a year, a total of 2,800 hours.

The lowest paid policeman receives $1,020 per year, or about 36 cents per hour while on duty.

The highest paid private policeman receives $1,320 per year, or about 47 cents per hour while on duty.

A captain of police receives $1,680 per year, or about 60 cents per hour while on duty.

The chief of police receives $3,000 per year, or about 85 cents per hour while on duty.

Policemen have to go from home to the station and back again on their own time.

Policemen have to attend Recorder's Court, Superior, City Criminal, Federal and Municipal Courts all on their own time. Many of them are held for hours many times a month in some one or other of the Courts.

The voters are entitled to know the facts.

Is it a fact that our Principals' and Teachers' payroll has been increased about $50,000.00 per year since January 1st, 1918?

Is it a fact that about 275 of the teachers had their salaries raised on September 1st, 1918, in amounts ranging from $5 to $15 per month?

Is it a fact that the new Board of Education, during the present year, appropriated $25,000 with which to increase the salaries set out above, and is it a fact that that increase was declined by the Teachers' Association, whose policies and politics are shaped and moulded by the high-priced teachers and principals?

Isn't it a fact that $25,000 per year properly applied to the salary roll above would pay our teachers pretty well for the services they are required to render?

DR. EDWARD JONES HEADS PHYSICIANS

Important Convention of Georgia Medical Association Comes to Close. Two Bills to Go Before Legislature.

At the close of one of the most important sessions in the history of the organization, the Georgia Medical association yesterday elected Dr. Edward G. Jones, of Atlanta, professor of surgery at Emory university, president. Dr. W. H. Hendrix, of Tifton, was named vice president; Dr. J. M. Smith, of Valdosta, second vice president, and Dr. Allen H. Bunce, of Atlanta, as a delegate to represent the organization at the next meeting of the American Medical association. The next meeting will be held in Macon.

Two important bills which will be drafted by the committee on public policy and legislation of this organization will be introduced at the next session of the legislature, and will have the solid backing of the members of the association. These bills will provide for the prohibition of the practice of medicine within the state by men who have not had the five years training required, and will urge the establishment of a home for the feeble-minded in Georgia.

The subject of the home for feeble-minded was introduced by Dr. V. V. Anderson, scientific expert of the Georgia commission on feeble-mindedness, who have been touring Georgia investigating the state situation.

The Georgia Pedriatic society, which is inter-related with the Georgia Medical association, held a meeting after the banquet at the Capital City club Thursday night and elected the following officers: Dr. L. B. Clark, of Atlanta, president; Dr. Walker, of Macon, vice president; Dr. Anthony Warring, of Savannah, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. E. P. Merritt, secretary of the Fulton County Medical society, was elected as councilor of the Fifth district; Dr. J. L. Elrod, for the Sixth district; Dr. George B. Smith, for the Seventh district; Dr. W. E. McCurry, of the Eighth.

The two important speeches delivered at the Friday session were those of Dr. Anderson, the subject of the feeble-minded in the state, and Colonel Seale Harris, who told of his service while on President Wilson's personal staff.

10,000 Feeble-minded People.

Dr. Anderson stated that there are 10,000 feeble-minded people within the state.

"We found that in public schools of Georgia, from 2 to 4 per cent of the children in the elementary classes are feeble-minded—the grist that is to grind later on in our juvenile and criminal courts, jails, reformatories and prisons.

"Will Georgia's policy toward her feeble-minded children still be one of absolute indifference and neglect? Will her legislature say to the helpless little feeble-minded girls throughout the state, 'Yes, we know you are unable to profit by the public school instruction, but you will have to go there and be the dunce and the butt of jokes; yes, we know that your mind will always be weak and childish, and because of that you will be unable to properly support yourself; yes, we know that because of your mental weakness, because you are a mental cripple, you will not have the moral inhibitions of normal girls and, consequently, you will be the prey of lust and greed; yes, we know that you will become a moral delinquent, and develop the most serious and destructive diseases that women can have, and will spread those diseases throughout the community, that you will be locked up time and time again in jails, reformatories and the state prisons and lose whatever semblance of womanhood you ever had. We know all of this, but we propose to do nothing for you.'"

A cordial invitation was extended the organization to hold its next meeting in Rome, but a plea for a more central point as a meeting place was entered by the Macon representatives and the motion to meet there was overwhelmingly adopted.

It is agreed by the members that the great feature of the session was the visit to Fort McPherso where they saw many of the wonderful things which modern medicine and surgery are doing for the wounded soldiers.

ON OUR NATION'S HONOR ROLL

Light casualties continue to be reported by the war department, only 81 names appearing in today's list. Of those included in the latest lists, 21 more deaths are mentioned, while 60 are listed as wounded The two Georgia men mentioned in today's list are: Killed in action, Private Bert B. Lockey, 2932 Second avenue, Columbus; wounded in action, Private Charles A. Stallings, 1157 Twenty-seventh street, Columbus.

HARLOW HIGINBOTHAM KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

New York, April 18.—Harlow Niles Higinbotham, a former partner in the firm of Marshall Field & Co., of Chicago, died tonight in the embarkation hospital at the Grand Central palace where he had been taken earlier in the day after having been run down by an automobile at Madison avenue and Forty-fifth street. He was 84 years old.

WORK IS ABANDONED ON PERSHING POINT

Work on Pershing Point, the only public memorial yet begun in the city of Atlanta to perpetuate the memory of Fulton county's sons who lost their lives while in the military service of their country overseas, has been abandoned.

Pershing Point is the plot of ground owned by the city between the northern junction of Peachtree street and West Peachtree street. Here, as suggested by the Fulton County Mothers' club, of which Mrs. Sam Jones is president, the city had planned to create a memorial park and dedicate it in honor of the heroes who went from Atlanta and Fulton county, but who now lie shrouded in the soil of France.

In the park was to have been erected a bronze tablet on which the names of these heroes would have been inscribed, a permanent record of those boys who died for America and for democracy.

One thousand dollars had been appropriated in the January council finance sheet for this purpose. Actual work of grading was begun under the supervision of the park department, but upon failure of bonds to carry at the election in March, leaving a deficit staring the city in the face, the officials found it necessary to suspend work.

Should the proposed bond issue meet defeat at the election on April 23, it will be impossible to resume work on the memorial, according to a member of the park board, unless funds become available from some source that the board has not anticipated.

Part of the appropriations made to the park department will have to be diverted to enable other departments to run, in the event bonds do not score a victory, and the memorial will have to be left to the plans of the future.

NEW REALTY FIRM ORGANIZES HERE AND OPENS OFFICE

It was announced Friday that a new real estate firm has been organized in the city, to be known as the T. H. Simmons Realty company. The new firm will be composed of T. H. Simmons and T. J. Shepard, two widely-known Atlanta real estate men, and will be located at 1202 Fourth National Bank building.

Mr. Simmons, who for some time has been connected with the M. C. Kiser Realty company, announced that the firm will specialize in real estate and leases on business property.

"The real estate market for some time has been excellent in Atlanta," said Mr. Simmons. "During the last few days there has been an unusual amount of heavy trading. Just at present a large number of eastern corporations are trying to buy business property so as to establish their southeastern headquarters in Atlanta."

Mr. Shepard is well known in local real estate circles, and was formerly connected with the Burdett Realty company.

Claims His Wife Had "Murder in Her Eye," And Asks for Divorce

In filing suit for divorce from Mrs. Hortense Letton Wood, E. M. Wood, a refrigerating engineer for a large corporation, says that one night he woke up and found his wife standing over him as he was lying in bed, holding some sharp instrument in her hand. She had "murder in her eye," he states, but when he jumped to a sitting position she went back to bed without any explanation.

While the two were living in Hopkinsville, Ky., it is claimed, Mrs. Wood came to his office at the electric company one day and questioned him as to what woman had been in his office, and when he replied that none had been there, she made threatening remarks. Wood accuses his wife of refusing to keep house, and of being extremely untidy. Douglas & Douglas are attorneys.

Mrs. Grace Demplas has brought suit for divorce against George Demplas, charging cruel treatment, and alleging that once he slapped her and called her "d—n American trash." He also threatened to kill her, she asserts in the petition filed by C. Don Miller. She asks for the restoration of her maiden name, Grace Springer.

Cruel treatment is also the ground for divorce claimed by Mrs. Maud Wilson, who has brought divorce proceedings against J. B. Wilson, Jr. She states that her husband remained away from home until 3 o'clock in the morning, and wen she urged him not to do so, he cursed and abused her. She claims further that Wilson did not provide for her, and that he is now living in Montgomery, Ala., from where he recently teelphoned her to come and live with him. Mrs. Wilson is represented by Harry W. Balfor.

Negroes Favor Bonds.

Waycross, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—The Negro Business league, at their regular meeting Wednesday night, adopted a resolution indorsing a bond issue for good roads in Ware county. This organization of colored people is composed of the leading colored men of the county and has done much toward the development of the negro's interest in this community. They co-operate at all times heartily with the chamber of commerce or other organizations of the city, where the interests of white and black are involved. The president of the organization is Dr. H. C. Scarlett.

THE FAMOUS SOLDIER SMILE

How Europeans Became Enraptured Over the Beauty of Our Soldier Boys' Teeth.

Everywhere our soldier boys went in Europe they silently preached the gospel of oral hygiene every time they opened their mouths. Everybody over there admired their teeth—their smiles. For what is a smile but a pretty pucker of pinkish lips around two rows of white, glistening teeth? We are proud of the dental service we gave to hundreds of the boys of that grand and heroic Eighty-second division. The work was of the highest order. Some of them have since returned and expressed their appreciation. One soldier who enlisted in the Canadian army three years, had a bridge put in his mouth by us before he went away. Now he is back and wants more work just like it. It is a pleasure to see how interested the soldiers are in their teeth. It was a great lesson they learned in the army—Oral Hygiene. The Atlanta Dental Parlors, with its competent staff, stands ready to advise and render you the same service. We do the work painlessly and at reasonable figures. Examination free. Call any time. Negro Chauffeur Whose Car Killed Man Held by Court

Troy Hunter, a negro chauffeur, who drove the automobile which fatally injured J. L. Mitchell, 67 years old, of 168 Luckie street, last Tuesday night, was given a preliminary hearing in the police court Friday afternoon and ordered held for the grand jury under a $2,000 bond on the charge of manslaughter.

The accident happened on a rainy night at the intersection of Marietta and Walton streets a short time after the aged man had alighted from a street car. The negro told the court he had just borrowed the car from Dunn Brothers' undertaking establishment on Marietta street, and was taking a sick friend to the hospital when the accident occurred. He pleaded that Mitchell apparently did not notice the approach of the car, which could not be brought to a quick standstill on account of the slippery streets.

PAVING TO BEGIN SOON ON BIG ROAD PROJECTS

Paving on three more of the county's road projects will probably begin next week, which, together with the two already under way, involve an expenditure of more than half a million dollars.

The biggest of the jobs for which contracts have been awarded and which will be commenced within a few days is that of paving Pace's Ferry road. The cost of this one alone will approximate $150,000.

Work on the Marietta road and Nacoochee drive will probably be started Monday morning. The paving on the first of these will extend from the bridge at the Exposition Cotton mills to the river.

The county convict forces are now working on the East Point road, which goes from West End to East Point, under the direction of W. A. Hansell, county engineer. Nearly two miles of concrete have alreday been laid here and the expectation is that the job will be finished in forty days. Paving is also being done on the Hapeville road and the Cascade road.

NEGRO WHO SLEW FLOYD CO. FARMER TAKEN IN PARIS, KY.

Rome, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—Charlie Harris, the negro tenant who slew his landlord, George Pierce, a wealthy Floyd county farmer, two weeks ago, in a dispute over a mule, was arrested today in Paris, Ky. A. L. and Lon Hall, two special officers from here, went to Paris after him and identified him. Harris had been in Paris several days and had written a letter to a friend in Rome, telling of his whereabouts. Unable to read the friend took the letter to an officer to decipher, and this led to the capture.

Dispatches from Paris say he has made a full confession and will waive requisition papers. He made his escape from bloodhounds by putting snuff and turpentine on his feet and made his way gradually northward. He will be kept in the Atlanta tower for safe keeping until his trial is called.

Sumter Loan Campaign.

Americus, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) Mrs. Wyatt D. Ivey, chairman of the woman's division of the Liberty Loan campaign in Sumter county, has organized her campaign most completely, women representatives of every section and every organization here being named on her committee.

DR. CHAS. E. DOWMAN NOW WEARS GOLD LEAF

Captains Deer and Dupree, Serving at General Hospital No. 6, Made Majors.

Captain Charles E. Dowman, member of the Emory unit, who is now stationed at general hospital No. 6 at Fort McPherson, has been promoted to the rank of major.

Very few of his friends know of the promotion that came as a result of recognition from Dr. Harvey Cushion, the world-famed brain specialist, of the efficent service rendered by the young Atlantan while serving in the hospitals of France.

The promotion was granted on February 14, but Captain Dowman knew nothing about it until he received the papers last Monday.

Only two members of the Emory unit have been retained in the service, Major Dowman and Lieutenant Colonel Boland, whose promotion from a major was granted about the same time as that of Major Dowman. The news of Colonel Boland's promotion was brought by members of the Emory unit. Both are now serving in general hospital No. 6.

In the same list of appointments to higher ranks three other Georgia officers are included. They are: Captin John S. Deer to major, Captain Dupree, of Athens, to major; Major C. W. Strickler to lieutenant colonel. Each promotion came as a result of recognition of faithful and efficient service while treating the wounded men, and the news will be of state-wide interest because of the popularity of the officers.

To Pave Streets.

Barnesville, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—The city council has made all arrangements for paving the sidewalks on Forsyth street and after this work is finished it is likely that Brown avenue sidewalks will be paved, which will complete the paving to be done here, at least for some time to come. Last year the streets within the fire limits and the main sidewalks were paved. B. H. Butts, Jr., has been given supervision by the city over the work which is now in progress.

NEGRO IS CAUGHT SELLING WHISKY IN COURTHOUSE

Americus, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) Notwithstanding the vigilance of local officers and frequent raids upon stills in all parts of the county, it remained for Will Patterson, a well-to-do negro here, to be the first man arrested for selling liquor in the Sumter county courthouse. Patterson, who had been under suspicion, was caught by Sheriff Harvey, who says the negro had a bottle of whisky in his hand, and was in the act of selling it to another negro when he came upon the scene. With the appearance of the sheriff, Patterson dropped the bottle upon the floor, but it failed to break. Therefore he crushed it with his foot, thus preventing the sheriff from securing any whisky as evidence against him. After being placed under arrest he gave $400 bond for his appearance, and will be tried later in city court. The negro, who, it is alleged, was about to purchase the whisky from Patterson, was not arrested.

GOVERNMENT TO STOP PRESS AGENT STUNT

Washington, April 18.—Secretary Wilson today asked the department of justice and the postoffice department to take all possible legal action against a photoplay advertisement urging theater operators to put up red flags and hire soldiers to tear them down to obtain patronage for a picture depicting phases of Bolshevism. The advertisement, appearing in a motion picture magazine, described the film as an "exposure of socialism and Bolshevism." the secretary of labor said, but he declared that he had never heard of more dangerous device in an effort to get business.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning.

After you feel somewhat improved continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep the first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.—(adv.)

DEAR FOLKS:

THIS is the week of all weeks in the year when all of us pull ourselves together and try to qualify under the banner—"PURITY."

The occasion calls for serious thought as regards our conduct in both our business and private affairs.

I think we all realize now that Business is not exempt from the Moral Code.

It has to carry the banner of "PURITY" if it is to get anywhere in public esteem. I wish to call your attention to the fact that this word "PURITY" consists of six letters and fits in with the Cycle of Six which plays so big a part in the Wilson & Co. business.

But I want to tell you also that while all of the other things that enter into the Cycle of Six are important not one of them has the place in the Real Heart of the Wilson & Co. organization that the word "PURITY" has.

The officials and the 25,000 workers are all impressed with the importance of "PURITY" in food production.

Producing PURE FOODS is the business of Wilson & Co., and officials and workers realize that there is no closer relationship in all the world between any form of business and the people than that of dispensing PURE FOOD.

The Wilson & Co. organization has fitted itself to produce PURE FOODS by establishing within itself those relations between officials and workers that are necessary to bring about absolute confidence in one another and to work on the big principle of giving one another as well as the public a SQUARE DEAL, which to my notion, is one of the highest forms of "PURITY."

Does not this spirit influence their thoughts and actions, and does it not make them put Honor in their work?

"PURITY" in foods is essential just as "PURITY" in all else that makes life useful, helpful, clean and unselfish is necessary.

Shall we unite during this week our PURE FOOD THOUGHTS with our other thoughts, culminating Sunday morning next with a fine breakfast of ham and eggs or bacon and eggs?

It is one of the traditions of Easter Sunday—as old as the hills—that we shall observe the day, so far as our physical needs are concerned, by stuffing ourselves with eggs anyway—but starting the day always with a slice of fine ham or slivers of bacon.

Don't you remember as boys and girls, back on the farm, how you hunted hen's nests long before Easter and gathered great numbers of eggs for that day?

Most of you are so situated now, that you can't gather eggs as in the old days.

YOU HAVE TO BUY THEM.

Wouldn't you like to be SURE that you could buy as good eggs as you used to find in the hen's nest?

Let me tell you that you can buy such eggs. Go to your dealer this week and ask for CLEARBROOK EGGS, sold by Wilson & Co. under the slogan "THE WILSON LABEL PROTECTS YOUR TABLE."

They will measure up to your expectations as to what Easter eggs should be.

Then ask the same dealer to let you have some of the Wilson & Co. CERTIFIED HAM AND BACON — recently introduced through dealers in all sections of the country.

If you want good COFFEE ask your dealer to supply you with Wilson's CERTIFIED BRAND "BLUE LABEL BLEND."

Some coffee!

Some Butter!

These are only suggestions, but they all come under the classification of "PURITY"—the thing we are all thinking about just now, but WE WANT IT ALWAYS IN OUR FOOD, for as the poet says:

"We can live without love,
What is passion but pining—
But where is the man
Who can live without dining?"

VIENNA IS QUIET FOLLOWING RIOTS

Vienna, Thursday, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Bolshevik sympathizers this morning attempted to storm the Austrian parliament building, but were soon dispersed with a few wounded. The city generally is quiet.

STRIKE AT MILAN HALTS BUSINESS.

Milan, Wednesday, April 16.—The twenty-four-hour general strike called as a protest against yesterday's incident when four persons were killed and about 40 injured in clashes between the socialist and anti-socialist groups, caused a complete cessation of business here today. Even the cafes, bars and restaurants are closed and no newspapers are being published.

The police and military forces have taken the greatest precautions against further disturbances. Cavalrymen are patrolling the streets and breaking up any attempt at a gathering whether of socialists or nationalists. Officers and soldiers have been forbidden to attend any political demonstration.

Cardinal Ferrarri today visited the wounded in the hospitals. He urged calmness for both sides and a restoration of amicable feeling.

It was expected that work would be resumed on Thursday.

STRIKE AT CAIRO IS GROWING.

Cairo, Tuesday, April 15.—The city was outwardly calm today, although a majority of the public services were paralyzed by the strikes which are extending rather than abating.

The cabinet today issued a fresh warning admonishing the strikers to resume work Wednesday. The brevity of the warning and its firm tone seem to imply that the patience of the authorities has reached the limit and that other means will be resorted to if the nationalists pursue their present course.

Meanwhile sympathizers with the movement hold nightly meetings in the mosques. The nationalists are said to be strongly in favor of an unyielding attitude.

Berlin, April 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The strike of metal workers and bank employees spread today to the employees of department stores and specialty shops. Efforts to provoke a general strike are regarded as a renewed attempt of the radical opponents of the government to launch insurrection which would paralyze all lines of industry.

The police this morning confiscated 200,000 copies of The Red Flag, printed in Leipzig, consigned to a suburb of Berlin for distribution in the capital. The police also headed off a large edition of Spartacus, issued in Frankfort and sent by express to Berlin.

Articles in both publications urged the spread of the strike and the overthrow of the government.

GENERAL STRIKE AT BREMEN.

London, April 18.—A German wireless dispatch received here this evening, dealing with the situation in Germany, says:

"The general strike at Bremen continues, but the unloading of food ships is assured.

"The communists of Munich, in expectation of heavy fighting, have occupied all the roads leading to Munich and provided them with field artillery, stationed field posts all around the town and had trenches dug and provided them with machine guns.

"Government troops have advanced to Bachau and are in touch with the communist defenders.

"General Merkier has been instructed to dismiss the existing government in Brunswick, dissolve the workmen's council and form a new government. No resistance is expected."

MANY ARE KILLED IN RIOT IN INDIA.

London, April 18.—The India office, in further official reports regarding the outbreak in India, says that at Armitsar, on April 13, a mob defied the proclamation forbidding public meetings. In the firing that ensued two hundred casualties were caused.

At Kasur, in the Punjab, the treasury was attacked on April 13 and one British soldier was killed and two British officers wounded.

At Delhi, on April 13, a Mohammedan mob interfered with the reopening of the shops and the police were obliged to open fire. Troops were summoned and the mob was scattered. Four policemen were injured.

Calcutta is normal and Bombay quiet, but in the Punjab rural areas disorderly elements are damaging government property, looting trains and stopping the railway service.

DIVORCE SUIT FOLLOWS FIGHT ON THE STREETS

Following an altercation with her husband, a traffic policeman, on the streets Wednesday, Mrs. Ida B. Greer Friday filed suit for divorce, reciting a long list of offenses against her. According to the petition the Greers were separated once before for a few days, but upon the promise of the husband to reform, his wife returned to him. At that time Greer signed a written contract, his wife states, agreeing to give her a piece of property known as 111 Confederate avenue, and turned over the deed to her.

She took this, she said, as an indication of his good faith, agreed to waive his misconduct and went back to their home. However, since the reconciliation he has again been unfaithful to her, it is claimed, and after three months failed to provide for her. When she complained of the need of money, it is alleged that Greer stabbed her in the right hand with his pocket knife. He also shot at her, but missed, the paper asserts.

In her request for alimony Mrs. Greer states that $15,000 would be a reasonable amount for the policeman to give as permanent alimony, of which $12,500 would go to her, $2,500 to their 15-year-old son, and $500 for attorney's fees. In the meantime she asks $150 temporary alimony, saying that Grer receives $100 a month from property rent in addition to his salary as a policeman.

Judge Bell has set May 3 as the date for a hearing on temporary alimony. The plaintiff is represented by James & Bedgood.

Acting upon reports to the local police to the effect that Mrs. Greer had again attempted to assault her husband, Officer Steve A. Greer, Thursday afternoon. Recorder Johnson has ordered another case docketed against her charging her with contempt of court.

Upon the appearance of Mrs. Greer in the police court Friday afternoon the recorder ordered that the case against both Mrs. Greer and her husband be placed on trial, but it was soon learned that no witnesses were present. The court ruled that it was illegal for either party to testify against the other, and continued the case until Saturday afternoon so that witnesses to the affair could be secured by the police. Both cases against Mrs. Greer and the one against the officer will probably be tried at the same time.

It is alleged by the police that Mrs. Greer and her husband had become engaged in an argument, and Mrs. Greer beat the officer on the head with an umbrella.

BOND AND TAX RALLIES DRAW BIG AUDIENCES

That interest in the proposal to vote bonds and restore the tax rate to $1.50 at the election on April 23 is growing in intensity as the campaign advances was made apparent Friday night at three rousing rallies for the two measures.

Greenwood school, Walker Street school and Adair school were scenes of the three meetings. Large crowds indicating the strength of friends of the measures were present at each gathering.

At Greenwood, Charles S. Culver, acting superintendent of schools, and Paul Fleming, president of the board of education, addressed the voters. Both spoke on the subject of tax, and were accorded an enthusiastic reception, together with the assurance that the ninth ward is going to put over a majority for the tax increase and bonds.

Mr. Culver also spoke at the Walker Street school, following City Attorney James L. Mayson, who spoke on both tax and bonds, stressing bonds principally. Mr. Culver recited the evil conditions which have grown up as the result of inadequate appropriations in the schools, and named many specific instances of lamentable conditions in support of his plea to the voters to cast their ballots in favor of the tax increase. The pupils of the school gave a delightful program of entertainment.

Monday Mayor Key will speak at No. 10 engine house, and Mr. Mayson is scheduled to address a meeting of citizens at Grant Park school.

On Tuesday night Mr. Mayson will be one of the speakers at the Slaton school. The same night there will be an open-air meeting at Ponders avenue and Marietta street, in the fifth ward. Mayor Key is scheduled to speak at this meeting. W. H. Johnson, chairman of the fifth ward bond commission, states that this is going to be one of the biggest meetings that has yet developed in the campaign.

Six Children Killed And Six Are Injured As Train Hits Wagon

LaPorte, Ind., April 18.—Six children were killed and six severely injured today when a school wagon was struck by a Grand Trunk mail train at a grade crossing near the village of Kingsbury, seven miles south of here. The wagon was driven by Mrs. Walter Johnson, whose husband is the regular driver, and she and her two small children, who were on the driver's seat, escaped with slight injuries.

Thirteen children were in the wagon on the way to their homes. The thriteenth was on the steps and jumped off in time to escape death or injury.

GREAT WORK IS DONE BY CHARITIES IN 1918

The thirteenth annual report of the Associated Charities shows that 3,761 persons, representing 1,011 different families, were under the care of the body during the year 1918. Of this number 1,713 were children under 14 years of age, 203 were more than 60 years of age, 167 were deserted wives, 117 were widows with children under their care, 34 were unmarried mothers with children, 105 had deadly diseases, 11 were drug addicts, 90 were otherwise handicapped and 16 were insane.

The association was operated during the year at the nominal expense of $9,702.64. This included the expense of the executive and the administrative departments. Lee Ashcraft, the retiring president, in his report, congratulated the members on the success of the work in the past year, and pointed out that the charities had aided in numerous other ways. He said the body trained eighty Red Cross nurses, and organized a committee to handle family problems.

ATLANTAN SERVES ON SEVEN FRONTS; MADE LIEUTENANT

New York, April 18.—Enlisting as a private, sailing for France in December, 1917, and going into action March 17 and in succession serving on seven fronts and returning home a lieutenant "without a scratch" is a brief resume of the war experience of Andrew J. Burch, Atlanta, Ga., first field signal battalion, who arrived in this city Thursday.

The fronts on which Lieutenant Burch served and in their order were Verdun, Chateau Thierry, Soissons, Marne, St. Mihiel, Champagne and last in the Argonne forest.

Twenty-five American sailors, part of the crews of four American "chasers," who had spent the better part of a year in the Adriatic hunting German and Austrian submarines, also were on the Alighiere. Their boats, they said, were sold to private interests in Italy prior to their departure.

The men said they left New London, Conn., on Easter day, 1918, and then begun a series of cruises, which in the language of one of the sailors, "run their log up to 21,000 miles," before the armistice. There were numerous encounters with submarines and while not "officially credited" the men as a unit claimed the destruction or disabling of no fewer than eleven.

TWO ARRESTS ARE MADE FOR PROHI VIOLATIONS

Two arrests were made by military police last night on charges of violating the prohibition law. W. W. Mitchell, 24 years old, a young white man, was arrested at Lakewood by Sergeant Wittbrodt and Private McCue, of the provost guards. Seven pints of rye whisky were found in his possession.

NOTED AVIATORS TO FIGHT IN SKIES

Show Starts at 1 S'Clock.

The aerial show will begin at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when the aeroplanes will leave the Hapeville speedway and fly over Atlanta. Atlantans anxious for a good view of the flyers are advised to gain positions on top of buildings in Atlanta. Nothing will be gained by going to the speedway, for the planes will not return there until after the flights over Atlanta. Visitors will not be admitted to the scene of the planes' departure from the speedway, except men interested in enlisting in the aviation section. Recruiting officers will be on hand to enlist applicants.

After leaving the speedway the planes, for the most part Curtiss machines, will fly over Atlanta and bombard the city with Liberty Loan literature and paper bombs. Autographed letters signed by the secretary of the treasury will be dropped. Photographers who will be passengers in the planes at the same time will drop dry plates of the pictures they have made, attaching them to baby parachutes to break the force of the fall so finders may develop them.

And while the Curtiss machines are engaged in showing Atlanta what Paris and London experienced at the hands of the eppelins, a number of the German Fokkers will leave Candler field and begin bombing the bombers. A pursuit squadron of American and allied machines will later go to the rescue of the beleaguered planes, and will stage a realistic exhibition of an air battle on a big scale. The planes will continue flying around the city after the "rout" of the Fokkers.

A gang of laborers Friday were removing the last particle of impediments that might handicap the planes in getting off for their exhibition.

Officers Are Coming.

The commissioned officers to take part in the big air spectacle are: Major Henry J. F. Miller, flight commander, commanding squadron; Major Gerald Y. C. Maxwell and Captain H. W. Woolett, both British aces; Major Maurice Connolly, Victory Loan flyer and official lecturer; Captains Arthur E. Simonin, Leroy E. Gabris, Harry M. Smith, Fred B. Wieners; Lieutenant Alberto Cantoni, Italian ace, and following four American aces: Lieutenants John O. Donaldson, James G. Hall, Jesse O. Creech, George T. Wise and additional acrobatic and specialized flyers, Lieutenants Melvin B. Kelleher, Raymond T. Birdsall, John P. Roullot, Jean De St. Mart, George C. McDonald, William F. Sharon, George T. White, Bert R. Blair, Grisson E. Haynes, Guy Stewart; Lieutenant Isaac Uty, engineering officer; Albert J. McPherson, detachment commander; H. C. Crueger, traffic officer.

After the aerial circus Saturday the rest of the program for the launching of the Victory Loan will consist of a tour of talks Sunday and a parade by Belgian heroes Monday.

Traveling in two Pullman cars and a drawing room sleeper, the Belgians will arrive in Atlanta at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning over the Seaboard Air Line. Plans for their reception have been made by Henry L. DeGive, Belgian consul in Atlanta and chairman of the committee in charge of entertainment.

Chairman Robert E. Harvey, of the Atlanta zone, Cobb county, announced Friday arrangements for a holiday in Cobb county on April 23, when a tank from the western front, a jazz band and other features will draw a large crowd of people to Marietta for a patriotic demonstration in the interest of the coming drive. He said it is planned to have returned soldiers take part in the program.

Official Movies.

"The Price of Peace," a five-reel war picture, taken under the authority of the committee on public information for the pictorial history of the war, will be shown free in Atlanta for the first time tomorrow afternoon at three theaters, in the interest of the Victory Liberty loan.

The picture is regarded as a movie masterpiece. It shows the experiences of the American soldier from the time he leaves home for the training camp until he is discharged from the service. Three thousand feet of the film is devoted to battle scenes taken during actual engagements on the western front. The Liberty Loan organization secured exclusive rights for the picture for the Victory Loan campaign.

Belgians to Parade.

Arrangements were completed Friday for the entertainment of the company of Belgian heroes who will visit Atlanta Monday in the interest of the Victory Liberty Loan.

St. Elmo Massengale, director of publicity of the Liberty Loan organization of the Sixth Federal Reserve district, in conference with Samuel C. Dobbs, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the local Liberty Loan committee: Henry DeGive, Belgian consul; Julian Boehm and A. A. Jameson, scout director, decided upon the detatils in connection with the reception and entertainment of the visitors.

The company, consisting of 115 men and seven officers, will reach Atlanta in the morning from Richmond, Va. They will be met by representatives of the Liberty Loan committees. Breakfast will be served at the Piedmont hotel shortly after their arrival at 8:30 o'clock in the morning.

At 11 o'clock, the company, with their dog teams, machine guns and other war equipment, will parade through the principal streets of Atlanta. The parade will form at Peachtree and Baker streets and move down Peachtree to Whitehall and Mitchell, thence to the state capitol. Governor Hugh Dorsey has been invited to welcome the Belgians on behalf of the state of Georgia.

Reception to Heroes.

Following the reception at the capitol, the company will return over the same route to the Piedmont hotel, where a luncheon will be given in their honor. In the afternoon they will be taken on an automobile ride to Fort McPherson, where Colonel T. S. Bratton will speak to them and to Camp Gordon. The Forty-fifth regiment band from Camp Gordon will take part in the parade. Scoutmaster Jameson has made arrangements for a troop of Boy Scouts to carry Victory Loan banners in the parade.

At 6 o'clock there will be a dinner at the Piedmont hotel. The Belgians will leave at 8:30 o'clock for Nashville, the only other city in the district which the company will visit.

The company is composed of some of the men who helped stem the Hun invasion of the little country. All of the men wear war decorations. The company reached America a short time ago and will make a tour of the country during the Victory Loan campaign, returning to Europe at the close of the drive.

GERMAN SCHOLARS SCORED BY BUTLER

ernment, the German armies and the German people and contrition for that wrong-doing, are the first and necessary steps in the rehabilitation before the world of German scholarship and German science," says Dr. Butler's letter.

"It is probably within the truth to say that the universities of France, England and the United States are awaiting with deep interest and no small measure of anxiety, some sign that German scholars and men of science realize the enormity of the offenses, public and private, that have been committed by Germans and in the name of Germany during the war now ending, and some evidence that these scholars and men of science feel sincere regret for them.

"We have not forgotten the amazing prostitution of scholarship and science to national lust marked by the formal appeal to the civilized world made by German professors in September, 1914. That appeal was an unmixed mass of untruths, and the strain which it placed upon the intellectual and moral integrity of German scholars and men of science will forever remain one of the most deplorable and discouraging events of the war which German militarism and Prussian autocracy forced upon the peaceful and liberty-loving nations of the world."

GOTHAM BREWERS TESTING DRY LAW

upon his refusal to receive the tax and issue the customary stamps, the full amount of the tax was deposited to his credit with —— bank, thus keeping the tender good. If any attempt be made to seize the beer, telephone or telegraph at once to undersigned," and the name of the brewer follows.

The text of the labels was contained in an opinion given to Christian W. Feigenspan, president of the United States Brewers' association, by Messrs. Root and Guthrie. This opinion, written when the brewers declared the collector had "threatened" to refuse issuance of stamps, advised the procedure begun by the Hoffman and Gambrinus companies.

The Hoffman concern is complainant in the test case brought to restrain the federal district attorney and the internal revenue collector from interfering with the production of 2¾ per cent beer. Argument on a motion by the government to dismiss the action has been set for next week.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT MAKES NO COMMENT.

Washington, April 18.—In the absence of Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper, officials of the revenue bureau tonight would not predict what action might be taken in the case of the New York brewers who today started distribution of beer containing 2¾ per cent alcohol, claiming it to be non-intoxicating under existing laws and regulations. The only action of the bureau so far has been to refuse to authorize the sale of revenue stamps to brewers desiring to make beer with this alcoholic content, since regulations place at one-half of 1 per cent the maximum alcoholic content for non-intoxicating beverages of any kind.

By refusing to sell stamps, the bureau inferentially held that beer containing 2¾ per cent alcohol was intoxicating, but Commissioner Roper has not ruled specifically on this point since the question was raised several weeks ago by the brewers. Before deciding finally he has awaited an opinion by Attorney General Palmer. This opinion has not yet been prepared by the attorney general.

The revenue collector at New York probably will have to take the initiative in any action against the brewers in this case, it was said tonight by bureau officials. No official report has been received here on the latest phase of the situation.

COUNCIL OF FOUR WILL GIVE POLAND

military offenders, it is agreed that there is no international court-martial suitable to undertake such military trials, but it is pointed out that every country has its own system of court-martial for military offenders within its borders. This has developed the suggestion that these countries combine their courts-martial and act under a single military procedure codified from all the separate military codes. A joint court-martial would thus be constituted capable of dealing with offenders of the first or military and naval class.

Napoleon as Precedent.

Concerning the political offenders, it is said that a tribunal is not necessary and would be ineffective, owing to the legal immunity of political offenders. Therefore, it is maintained that the action against Napoleon I. furnishes a precedent for the determination of the allied course as a general measure of policy.

In the case of Napoleon there was no trial, but he was confined on the island of St. Helena as a general measure of policy for the tranquility of Europe. Some such general policy is designed to reach ex-Emperor William and other political offenders, with Belgium or another country against which the political offenses charged were chiefly directed acting for the purpose of securing the extradition of the individual as a preliminary to putting the general policy into effect.

Kiel Canal.

The naval terms to be incorporated in the peace treaty concerning the Kiel canal and Helgoland, have been revised in several important particulars. It was the original plan to destroy the fortifications of the canal, making it a strictly commercial waterway without defenses. The changes that now have been made leave the present fortifications of the canal in existence and provisions also have been inserted permitting of the continuance of the present coast defenses, all of which were to have been destroyed, according to the original plan.

The changes concerning Helgoland leave intact the present large basin constructed on an extensive scale for the use of submarines during the war. It was concluded that the use of submarines now had been so restricted that the basin no longer constituted a menace and its continuance was decided upon as providing a useful haven for the North sea fishing fleet in case of distress. The fortifications of Helgoland are to be dismantled so that the basin is virtually the only thing retained.

The final disposition of the German fleet is one of the subjects still undecided and even the highest naval authorities are not aware how the question stands since it passed into the hands of the council of four. The disposition to be made of the battleships and battle cruisers is one of the chief things to be determined under the head of naval terms and the decision will affect the large number of capital ships held under the terms of the armistice.

Should Germany Refuse.

Military experts under the direction of Marshal Foch have been charged with the drafting of a report on what should be done in the event that Germany refuses to sign the treaty of peace. It is indicated that the methods of coercion which the allies would adopt may include the occupation of more German territory, the blockade of enemy ports and the discontinuance of the dispatch of food supplies to Germany.

Frank P. Walsh, former chairman of the national war labor board; ex-Governor Edward F. Dunne, of Illinois, and Michael J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, the delegation sent by Irish societies in America to plead the cause of Ireland before the peace conference, had a long conference at the Paris "white house" this morning. The conference was an outgrowth of the interview Mr. Walsh had yesterday with President Wilson.

The American delegation to the peace conference has up to this time refused to receive Sean O'Ceallaigh and George G. Duffy, the delegates of the Irish provisional government here.

HIGH HONOR FOR GIRL WHO ESCAPED GERMANS

Paris, April 11.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Twice sentenced to death by the Germans, a young heroine of the war, Louise Thullies, of Valenciennes, was decorated on March 21 by Premier Clemenceau with the cross of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre, with the palm leaves.

She distinguished herself by helping French and allied soldiers to escape from Germans and twice the urgent intercession of the Spanish minister in Brussels saved her from the firing squad. She was eventually sentenced to penal servitude for life, but after serving three years of her sentence the German retreat put an end to her imprisonment.

MAIL CARRIER HAS OVERCOME TROUBLE

Hopes to Bring Same Benefit to Others Who Suffer—He Gained Twenty-Five Pounds by Taking Tanlac.

"Yes, sir, it's a positive fact I have gained twenty-five pounds in weight and think it is time for me to talk Tanlac for the benefit of others," said J. W. McBath, postman for eleven years on route 5, residing at 2428 Poplar street, Oklahoma City, Okla.

"Three years ago I began to weaken from what was said to be impoverished blood, and I continued to go down. My appetite was very poor and what I ate gave me no nourishment. I lost weight and got so nervous and worried and downhearted that I couldn't eat, sleep or work. I was just about out of commission when I decided to try Tanlac.

"I began to build up in a short time after I started on my first bottle. My appetite returned in full force—I can now eat as hearty as anybody and feel stronger and better than I have in a long time, and now I feel like a new man. I sleep as sound as a baby, make my 26-mile trip every day and never feel tired."

BLOOD DEVITALIZED NEEDS IRON TO REGENERATE IT

If Your Blood Needs Iron, Revitalize It and Build Up Your System With Ziron, the New Iron Tonic, Which Will Energize Your Failing Powers to a Vigorous, Red-Blooded, Healthy Activity.

Strong, energetic people, well-provided with blood, overflowing with high spirits, and with zest and joy in life that is irresistible, are the people who are well prepared against disease, whose blood is adequately supplied with iron.

If you are below Par, if you feel weary and worn and disheartened, lack interest in your work, or suffer from headaches, indigestion, lack of appetite, your blood probably lacks Iron.

Ziron, the new iron tonic, is peculiarly adapted to the treatment of such conditions. It will put iron into your blood, and by its mild, strengthening, tonic effect, will help to restore the entire system to health. Ziron contains no alcohol, is free from habit-forming drugs, is pleasant to take, and is recommended to young and old.

Mrs. Laura James, of Corning, Ark., writes: "My brother, whom I have reared from infancy, joined the navy and left me and I was not feeling quite so well as I had been and it just seemed to tear my nerves to pieces. I was so nervous I would get weak and my head would begin to ache and I just had weak trembles. I did not sleep well nights and had no appetite. No matter what I did I would find myself just worrying all the time. I began to think I would have to go to bed. I felt so bad . . . I heard of Ziron and what it would do. I decided to try and see. It seemed to strengthen me after a few doses. I had only taken about two-thirds of a bottle when I quit having headaches. My limbs seem to grow stronger. I rested better at night, and was hungry all the time. I quit being so nervous. I certainly can praise Ziron, I am so much better."

SPECIAL OFFER: Buy a bottle of ZIRON, today, at your druggist's and give it a fair trial, according to directions on the bottle. If, after using up one bottle, you find it has not benefited you, take it back to the druggist and he will refund what you paid him for it. We repay him, so there is no reason why he should not repay you. This offer only applies to the first trial bottle. (Z. 2)

The First Principles of Health

The first principles of health are a clean alimentary canal, and healthy, active liver and kidneys.

If the alimentary canal becomes clogged up with accumulated waste matter, this matter decays and poisons the entire system.

It is the function of the kidneys to strain the blood of all acid and waste, and if they become weak or over-burdened, this waste and acid is retained by the blood and uric acid and rheumatism set in.

Don't dose your system with dangerous drugs that break and tear their way through your body, irritating the liver and kidneys, but get a bottle of JACOBS' LIVER SALT from your druggist and take two teaspoonfuls in a glass of hot water before breakfast each morning for a week.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT

You will immediately feel the beneficial effects. Your liver and kidneys will become healthy and active, your bowels clear and your stomach sweet.

If your druggist can't supply you with Jacobs' Liver Salt, we will send postpaid. Generous bottles, 35c and 75c.

TROOPS IN RUSSIA MUST STAND FIRM

Such Is Message From Pershing Carried to the American Soldiers by General Richardson.

Archangel, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Brigadier General Wilds P. Richardson, U. S. A., arrived at Archangel today with his staff on board the first big ice-breaker which has made its way into the regular Archangel docks since the beginning of winter.

One of the first acts of General Richardson, who comes to take command of the American forces in north Russia, was to make public to the American troops a telegram from General Pershing calling upon them to maintain their morale. General Pershing's message was as follows:

Pershing's Message.

"Inform our troops that all America resounds with the praise of the splendid record the American expeditionary forces have made. The reputation of the American soldier for valor and his splendid discipline under the most trying conditions have endeared every member of the expeditionary forces not only to his friends and relatives, but to all Americans.

"Their comrades in France have not forgotten that the Americans in north Russia are part of the expeditionary forces and we are proud to transmit to you the generous praise of the American people. I feel sure every soldier in northern Russia will join his comrades here in the high resolve of returning to America with unblemished reputations.

"I wish every soldier in northern Russia to know that I fully appreciate that his hardships have continued long after those endured by our soldiers in France and that every effort is being made to relieve conditions in the north at the earliest possible moment."

General Richardson plans to make a trip to the front as soon as possible.

Bolsheviki Retreat.

The Bolsheviki have evacuated the town of Bolshie Ozerki, according to peasants who fled to the allied lines yesterday. The enemy was evidently driven out by the constant shelling to which the Russo-allied artillery has been subjecting the town during the last two weeks, finally making it untenable. The Bolsheviki are reported to have established positions in the woods nearby.

This bombardment, together with a shortage of supplies due to the thawing roads leading south from Bolshie Ozerki, is seriously impairing the morale of the Bolsheviki, who are reported to be without reserve provisions. The peasants reported that the troops desired to leave the front, but that the communist officers were holding them in place with machine guns posted along the road in their rear.

The enemy's guns from near Bolshie Ozerki shelled the Russo-allied positions last evening for 20 minutes without causing any casualties. The other sectors are generally quiet.

ATLANTA NEARING QUARTER MILLION

concerning the city, its government, its schools, its churches and its municipal affairs. There is a review of social, commercial and industrial enterprises of the city.

There are the usual alphabetical lists of names of citizens, firms, corporations, etc. There is the usual street and avenue guide and directory of householders. There is a classified business directory occupying 125 pages.

Many Unusual Names.

The longest name in the book is Papanikolopoulas; the only name beginning with the initial letter X is Xydias.

The more common and familiar cognomens are represented in the book as follows: Smith, 1,546; Jones, 1,044; Johnson, 943; Williams, 941, and Brown, 896.

Study in Nomenclature.

The directory as usual offers a fine field for study in nomenclature. In turning over the pages are found names that are strange and odd. There are many "Hicks," 5 Bachelors, 4 Parsons, 2 Tenants, 1 Householder, 5 Jinks, 17 Boozers, many Gentry, several Looney, 1 Maiden, 1 Boy, 2 Lawless, 4 "Peelers," 2 Pills, 2 Pies, 2 Segars, 2 Wrinkles, several Screws, 3 Majors, 1 Sergeant, 1 Hero, 1 Human, 1 Freeborn, 1 Perfect, 1 Rube, 1 Pet and 1 Terror.

As indicating the sporty character of the town there are listed High, Low, Jack and Game, also Crapp and Wager.

Then come such names as Short, Shorter, Long, Longest, High, Hight, Large, Small, Square and Round.

For a dry town Atlanta still has a supply of cheer, such as Juice, Mints, Port, Redwine and Beers and resulting indulgence in Staggers and Sprawling.

Three Days Represented.

Three week days are represented, Friday and Saturday and Monday, and two months, "Febuary" and May, and there is but one Doctor, 1 is Fly and 2 are Shy, 3 are Irish.

The city is not without Afriend and Akiss; there is Faith, Hope, Joy and Honor, yet Fear, Doom and Sorrow.

There are 42 Graves, Stiff, Coffin, Tombs and Body, and there is Goodgrass and Goodpasture.

As showing a military spirit some names are suggestive: Carbine, Guns, Swords, Sergeant, Major, Drum, Fife, Grenade, Fleet, Flagg and Hero. Finance is represented by Bank, Cash, Dollar, Fortune, Gold, Money, Pence, Penny, Pounds and Purse. Fuss and Feathers are also here.

SUNDAY ISSUE LEFT TO LOCAL DIRECTORS

Washington, April 18.—The Sunday observance issue raised by protest of churches and ministers in a number of cities against flying circuses and exhibition of moving pictures in connection with the Victory Liberty loan was met today by the treasury in a decision to leave the question to each community affected. Frank R. Wilson, director of loan publicity, telegraphed the loan chairman of each community where the flying circuses of aviators are scheduled to appear on Sunday saying it was Secretary Glass' belief that the dates should be abandoned, but that the trains bearing the airplanes and crews would be run on schedule and the exhibitions would be held if all interests of a community agreed.

In this connection, Butte, Mont., and Walla Walla, Wash., were two cities which flooded the treasury today with telegrams protesting against any abandonment of the air performances in those places. The preachers of Walla Walla gave up their objections when it was learned the demonstrations were to be held in the afternoon, and not during the hours of church services.

To Start With Rush.

From scores of cities today came word that local loan committees have made all preparations for opening the three weeks' campaign with a rush Monday, in efforts to raise their quotas early in the period, and leave the remainder of the time for pushing the subscriptions above the allotted goals.

Self-interest constitutes the principal reason why the public should subscribe generously to the Victory loan, said the federal reserve board, in its monthly bulletin issued today.

"If the obligations already taken by the banks are not liquidated," said the bulletin, commenting on the billions of treasury certificates of indebtedness already absorbed by the banks, "the community at large will suffer from a continued inflation of banking credit and from the high prices that are consequent upon this condition of affairs.

"Only one remedy for the situation now existing can be applied, that—namely, of subscribing freely for the government obligations when offered and of paying for them out of the proceeds of saving, either already accumulated or to be accumulated from time to time.

"Indeed, the urgency for adherence to this policy is greater now than it was during the war, inasmuch as at that time there was strict oversight and control on the part of the government over production, distribution, and, in a measure, consumption, while at present that oversight has naturally and properly been greatly relaxed or, in many branches of business, entirely abolished.

"Where the responsibility of saving and conserving resources there remains with those who are the recipients of current incomes, either from investments or from salaries and wages, in perhaps a higher degree than was previously true."

CONTINUES TODAY, SAYS FORECASTER

Spring weather will continue uninterrupted in Atlanta and vicinity for a few days yet, according to weather predictions. The local bureau sees no sign of any force to stave off fair weather today, while the official bureau at Washington predicts that fair and warmer weather will prevail in Atlanta at least until Sunday night.

The thermometer's hurried drop Friday after the cool winds of Thursday brought out more people on pleasure bent, while the downtown shoppers also were more numerous. Local parks had numerous frequenters during the day, and spring costumes again came into their own.

The weather continues moderate and clear over all of the cotton belt states. Very light touches of frost have been reported in northern Alabama and northern Georgia. Higher temperatures are reported west of the Mississippi, reaching 50 degrees at Havre, Mont., the home of blizzards and frigid winds.

"Indications point to a marked period of warm weather at Atlanta beginning Sunday," said Mr. von Herrmann. "Fair Saturday and warmer Sunday" is the way Washington officials viewed the matter.

MONSTER PLANE READY FOR TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT.

Here is one of the giant airplanes which will start from St. John's, N. F., in an attempt to cross the Atlantic. Every preparation had been made for a perfect start, but a miserable fog intervened, and in the hope that it would be advisable to have the start made under better weather conditions a postponement was made. The daring airmen are confident that they will succeed in reaching the goal which they will struggle for so earnestly. The Canadian officials are lending every aid to the aviators who are to make the big flight.

ARMENIANS STILL SLAIN BY HUNDREDS

New York, April 18.—Withdrawal of the American Red Cross from relief work in Aleppo, Aintab, Marash and other districts north of Jerusalem in Asia Minor and its administration by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief was announced today by John H. Finley, commissioner for the Red Cross for Palestine, who has just returned from a trip to the Near East. Five hundred tons of cloth and general supplies valued at $366,706, which have been in warehouses here awaiting shipment, will be turned over to the American committee by the Red Cross, together with considerable equipment now in Syria.

Describing conditions in the Near East Mr. Finley said:

"From the one town of Aintab 30,000 Armenians were driven into the desert to die, and now there are, so far as we can learn, only 4,000 to 5,000 alive. If this proportion holds true throughout, then nearly 850,000 men, women and children perished in that desert.

"Throughout Asia Minor, beyond the points to which the British and French troops have advanced, the Armenians are still being persecuted by the Turks. The fact that the armistice has been signed makes no difference. In one way or another, by individuals and by groups, Armenians are being killed. I know of one case where 100 Armenians were slaughtered, and another where forty were shot down—all of this since the armistice was signed."

AMUSEMENTS

"Hearts of the World."

(Easter Week Attraction at the Atlanta.)

Just about two years ago David W. Griffith and his company of players arrived in France to begin the taking of the 120,000 feet of film from which he later selected the 13,000 feet shown in his greatest screen triumph, "Hearts of the World," which will be presented at the Atlanta theater throughout the coming week twice daily, beginning with a matinee Monday. The entire province of Picardy was visited again and again, and it is amidst surroundings that tried men's souls that many of the most important scenes were enacted for this play, which is described as the "sweetest love story ever told." Though these grim scenes only serve as a background for the unfolding of the love romance, "Hearts of the World" is really world history in the making and will, in addition to its dramatic qualities, be treasured as a rare document of the present struggle to make the world safe for democracy. Mr. Griffith's principal players were Lillian and Dorothy Gish and Robert Harron, who were many times under actual bombardment from the German guns. The company presenting this masterpiece carry their own large orchestra to interpret the superb musical score arranged for "Hearts of the World." The seat sale is now on.

FRANK GOULD OBTAINS DIVORCE IN FRANCE

Paris, April 18.—A decision dissolving the marriage of Frank Jay Gould and Mrs. Edith Kelly Gould was handed down Thursday in the civil court at Versailles. Mrs. Gould failed to appear in court, although she entered a claim for about one-half of Mr. Gould's fortune.

The Paris edition of The New York Herald says it learns from Mr. Gould's lawyer that the divorce decree will become absolute in a few months, unless Mrs. Gould appeals.

Frank J. Gould is the youngest son of the late Jay Gould, a member of various New York clubs and a director in several railroads. Mrs. Gould, formerly an actress, well known on the New York stage, is his second wife. Mr. Gould's first wife, who was Miss Helen Margaret Kelly, obtained a divorce in 1909. Mr. Gould and Miss Edith Kelly were married in 1910.

At the time Mr. Gould's suit was filed early in October, 1918, it was reported that incompatibility of temper was the ground given for the action. On October 26, the Paris corrections court ordered Mrs. Gould and Mario Casassus, a Mexican, to pay fifty francs each on a charge of having had improper relations.

MANY JEWS KILLED BY PETLURA'S MEN

Paris, April 18.—Detachments of the command of General Petlura, the Ukrainian peasant leader, have been carrying out excesses against the Jews in Galicia, according to information reaching the Polish national committee here. At Husiatyn and Fastov, it is declared, 2,500 Jews were killed or wounded. At Papniarka 250 are said to have been killed.

The Ukrainians are said to have pillaged the Jewish shops at Javoroff, northwest of Lemberg, and to have committed similar excesses at Czortkoff, west of Husiatyn, and at Lowaczna.

Simpson St. Paving Bid to Be Opposed By Alderman Styron

Alderman I. F. Styron will oppose Monday afternoon council's approval of the street committee's acceptance last Tueday of the bid of the McDougald Construction company to pave Simpson street from West Peachtree to Marietta street. This company was the only bidder on the project and named a figure of $2.11 a square yard for asphalt on granite blocks.

Mr. Styron, who is a member of the street committee, stated at a meeting of the committee Friday afternoon that he had asked H. L. Collier, chief of construction, what the city could do the job for. He said Mr. Collier had informed him that the construction department, not taking into considertaion any overhead expense, could pave the street for $1.50 a square yard.

In view of this fact he stated that citizens in the sixth ward objected to the contract being awarded at a figure 61 cents higher than the city could do the work.

On motion and unanimous vote Mr. Collier was instructed by the committee to confer with the McDougald Construction company in an effort to have the company consent to a reduction in its bid.

Unless the company does this Mr. Styron served notice that he will oppose the award in council and ask that the work be carried over until another year.

WILL SEND STRONG DELEGATION HERE

Macon, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) St. Omer commandery, Knights Templars, is planning to send a big delegation to Atlanta next month to attend the fifty-eighth conclave of the Grand Commandery of Georgia, which will be held May 14-15. Not only will the sir knights themselves go, but many of them will be accompanied by their wives, daughters and sweethearts. C. A. McAllister, of St. Omer, holds the office of grand junior warden.

The past year has been a most successful one for St. Omer commandery, forty-two having been knighted during the year, while the officers of the commandery have attended many out-of-town sessions, assisting in the work. In addition to attending the conclave in Atlanta, a goodly number of the Knights expect to attend the conclave in Philadelphia, when it is expected Joseph K. Orr, of St. Aldemar commandery, Columbus, will be made grand master of the grand encampment, the highest office within the gift of the order.

During the year drawing to a close St. Omer sustained the loss of its Thirty-third degree Mason, Marshall A. Weir.

To Hold Big Picnic.

Macon, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—The officers of the Macon Chamber of Commerce have heard the call of spring and when that happens the subjective mind naturally turns to thoughts of picnics and the like. That is just what has happened to the men who head the Macon Commercial club and now they have decided the Macon Chamber of Commerce must have a picnic, brass band and all, and they're going to have it, too.

A committee has already been appointed to arrange for the outing and is now looking around for a suitable place. As there are close to 1,000 members of the Macon Chamber and as each member will be privileged to take the members of his family along, it is pretty certain the picnic will be by far the biggest thing of its kind any Macon organization has ever attempted. It is proposed to make the affair an all-day trip, with basket dinners, baseball games and other forms of athletic sports, with just enough oratory to set the thing off right.

In addition to the picnic the chamber is arranging for a series of "visiting tours" to towns in the Macon trade territory. Teams are being organized to promote closer relations between Macon and the surrounding communities and the latter will be invited to meet Macon half way. The first step in this direction will be taken when a number of delegations from surrounding towns will be honor guests at the regular monthly assembly of the Macon Chamber next Thursday night at the Hotel Dempsey, at which time dinner will be served and a program of entertainment provided.

Will Help Policeman.

Macon, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) Just to show how much in earnest he has been in his campaign to secure more policemen for Macon, Civil Service Commissioner Julian F. Urquhart has announced he intends to take his monthly salary of $35 as commissioner and add $55 to it each month and pay the salary of one policeman.

The civil service commissioner has recently been waging a campaign for twenty more bluecoats, but city council has refused to provide the money for salaries and the commission is unable to increase the size of the force. Commissioner Urquhart claims the city is not properly protected and he hopes by his action in paying the salary of one extra policeman out of his own pocket to convince the aldermen he is sincere in the position he has taken.

Georgia League Meeting.

Macon, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) The scheduled meeting of the new Georgia league was not held here today because Albany asked that it be postponed until next Wednesday in order to give her more time in which to raise the money needed for the purchase of a franchise.

So far only two towns, Macon and Griffin, have posted the required forfeit, but Cordele, Columbus and Brunswick are said to be in a position to do so when called on. As for Albany, the outlook there is rather uncertain, but should the southwest Georgia city fall down, there are two or three other towns anxious to get in the league and there will be no trouble on that score.

The corn crop will be materially increased through the influence of "corn clubs," which have been organized all over this country among the children of the rural communities.

SIX CANDIDATES OUT TO SUCCEED CARRANZA

Washington, April 18.—Six candidates are in the field for the presidency of Mexico at the election in July, 1920, despite President Carranza's request that politics be put aside for the present, advices from Mexico City received here today said. The successful candidate will take office December 1, after the election. President Carranza himself is not eligible to re-election under the constitution, but two members of his cabinet are candidates. Public opinion in Mexico divides the candidates into two classes, civil and military, with the latter said to be the more popular.

The candidates already in the field, either personally or through their friends, are General Alvare Obregon, General Pablo Gonzalez and General Salvador Alvarado on the military side, and Luis Cabrera, Felix Palavicini and Auguirre Berlanga on the civilian side.

General Obregon's popularity rests largely on the fact that he is the only officer who has defeated the bandit Villa in battle. It is reported that he is more friendly toward this country than formerly.

General Gonzalez directed the operations which resulted recently in the defeat and death of the bandit leader, Zapata, which, it is said, has increased greatly his popularity. He is friendly toward the United States. General Alvarado is known principally for his administration of Yucatan, where he put state socialism into operation. He is the most ardent supporter of Carranza.

Luis Cabrera and Aguirre Berlanga are the members of the Carranza cabinet who are openly candidates for the presidency. Cabrera has been known to be hostile to the United States and failed utterly in his efforts during the war to align the other Latin-American countries against this country. Since then he has publicly stated his eyes have been opened and he does not consider the United States a foe of Mexico.

Berlanga, as minister of the interior, has charge of all the electoral machinery. He is reported to have been strongly pro-German during the war.

Felix Palavicini is the editor of El Universal, and was consistently pro-ally throughout the war. He carried his campaign against the German influence to such an extreme that he was forced to flee the country.

DANIELS INSPECTS MARINES ON RHINE

Coblenz, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—From a parapet of the Fortress Ehrenbreitstein, more than 400 feet above the junction of the Moselle and Rhine, Secretary Daniels had his first glimpse this afternoon of American marines on duty. Patrol boats were darting back and forth among the barges and tugs on the river, the American flag streaming from the stern mast of each little boat.

At the point where the Moselle joins the Rhine stands a heroic statue of Emperor William I., said to be the largest of its kind in Germany. Beyond the statue there are great piles of lumber which aroused Secretary Daniels' curiosity as he looked down upon the activity of Coblenz, which has been increased twofold by the American occupation of the city. It was explained to him the lumber was intended for new buildings which will serve as recreation centers and barracks for the American soldiers of the army of occupation.

Mr. Daniels was taken through the underground passages of the Ehrenbreitstein fortress which were built partly by labor paid for by twenty million francs which the Germans expected from France, and was shown the accommodations of American artillerymen where but a few months ago thousands of German soldiers had been quartered. He also inspected the motorized equipment of the 17th artillery regiment, which under Colonel E. W. McCable, formerly cavalry officer and commander at Ehrenbreitstein, is said to be the first American artillery unit fully equipped with motors.

Mr. Daniels will review tomorrow morning the second division, which includes a brigade of marines. He will go to Wiesbaden on Saturday and will return to Coblenz by way of the Rhine.

Resinol Stopped Itching and Healed the Sick Skin

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 15.—"My baby suffered terribly for three months from eczema. It appeared on his face, head and hands, and spread until his head was a mass of sores, and he looked as if he had been scalded. The itching was so intense I had to tie his hands. He cried all the time and could not sleep. I tried many remedies, but nothing did him any good. I heard of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and the fourth day after I began their use the itching stopped. Now one would not know he had ever had any skin trouble. Two jars of the Ointment cured him." (Signed) Mrs. Bessie Davis, 1012 South 13th St.

LIBAU SEIZED BY GERMAN TROOPS

Lettish Government Overthrown by Teutons Who Occupy Buildings and Place Officials Under Arrest.

Copenhagen, April 18.—German and Baltic-German troops have forcibly seized Libau and overthrown the Lettish government, according to advices received by the Lettish press bureau here.

Lettish reserve troops in Libau were surprised by strong German troops on Wednesday which overpowered the Letts and disarmed and interned them. Later the Germans arrested the Lettish minister of the interior and several officials, it is said.

The surprise was possible, according to report, because of the fact that Lettish troops had been sent to the front, while Baltic German detachments had been brought back to Libau. The city now is held by the Germans.

Premier Ulman has protested to General von Der Goltz, commander of the German troops in Letvia and the latter has expressed his astonishment over the incident. The Letts accuse the Germans of constantly hindering them from mobilizing against the Bolsheviki, which, it is said, accounts for the fact that Riga is still in the hands of the soviet forces.

A telegram was sent Wednesday by Premier Ulman to the Lettish representative in Denmark, reporting the seizure of Libau and adding that he himself is safe and collaborating with the British mission and British warships in the harbor. The telegram stated that the Germans had occupied the premier's department and seized the papers there. It was added that the Germans demand that one-third of the members in a new ministry which they insist shall be formed, shall be Germans. The telegram concludes by saying:

"We will accede to nothing."

In Absolute Control.

Washington, April 18.—State department advices today from Libau by way of Copenhagen described the German success in overthrowing the provisional government of Letvia Wednesday. Officials of the government were imprisoned. The German troops, the dispatch reported, seized the treasury notes of the provisional government and are now in absolute control of the situation. The coup was said to have been carried out under the guise of suppression of the Bolsheviki.

NOTEWORTHY MEETING.

The National Foreign Trade Convention of American Manufacturers, Merchants and Bankers, to be held in Chicago, April 24-26, inclusive, promises to be one of the most noteworthy gatherings of business men that have been held in this country since the beginning of the war.

The desire of those promoting it is to have every section and shipping center of the whole country well and capably represented at the convention, because the intention is to make this the occasion for the formulation of definite, comprehensive plans upon which the commercial interests of this country may aggressively enter the fields of foreign commerce in competition with Great Britain and all other maritime nations and upon a scale greater than was ever hitherto attempted.

A glance at the program of topics to be discussed at this meeting, by some of the foremost shipping authorities in the nation and by the general membership of the convention, is enough to carry conviction of its importance and to indicate its possibilities from the standpoint of American commercial development. Among those subjects are:

"America's Need of Foreign Trade, From the Viewpoint of Production, Finance, Labor and Imports;" "Post-War Foreign Trade Problems;" "Commercial Education for Foreign Trade;" "Foreign Trade Merchandising;" "Financing Foreign Trade;" "Advertising for Foreign Trade;" "The American Merchant Marine;" "Foreign Credits;" "Direct Selling," and "Export Combinations."

Thus practically the whole range of foreign commerce is covered by a program that contains topics of particular interest, not only to every manufacturer, shipper, exporter, importer, banker and even retail merchant, but to every citizen of the country, whatever may be the nature of his business or his avocation.

Local interests which are immediately connected with the promotion of this convention—foremost among which are those within the Atlanta Manufacturers' Association—are especially anxious that Atlanta, Georgia and the south in general may be well represented, because they feel that now is this section's golden opportunity to "get its stride" in a commercial sense and to take the position in the field of foreign commerce to which its prominence as a region of natural resources, which are only partially developed, entitles it.

It will be, therefore, to the best interests of the south, and especially to the personal interests of southern business men, for all who can do so to attend this nationally important convention.

BAD BUSINESS!

Last year a bright, promising young fellow employed in a Bellingham (Wash.) bank "went wrong" and was arrested.

He maintained at the trial that the worst he had done was to cover up an error of a fellow-employee of the bank, but the jury decided the penitentiary was the place for him, and the judge sentenced him to a term of from one to fifteen years.

A few days ago his aged mother was reported dying from a broken heart, caused by the disgrace brought upon the hitherto proud family name by her beloved son's downfall, and the acting governor of the state put the boy on his honor and granted him permission to visit her.

The mother died, with the boy at her bedside.

The added grief was too much for one of the young man's sisters, and she shot herself and was buried with the mother; and the newspaper report of the multiple tragedy says "friends are watching two other members of the ——— family, fearing for their safety because of the family sorrows."

And so, leaving the friends to watch, the boy kept his word with the governor, went back to prison—where he is alone with his thoughts!

Bad, sad business, this thing of transgressing the law of the state and of conscience!

It is a way that doesn't pay, no matter how you look at it; and the young man that starts out on that way takes a trail that is as certain to lead to public dishonor, disgrace, regret, remorse, misery and wretched death as it is certain to have an end.

The other road, boys, is by far the easier to travel, and leads to something worth while.

SOLDIERS AND JOBS.

Because he objects to seeing men in their country's uniform going about as peddlers, Colonel Arthur Woods, special assistant of the secretary of war, has begun a campaign, with the backing of the administration, to find what he considers "more dignified" employment for the mustered-out soldiers who have taken up peddling as an emergency of making a living.

He has requested state and local authorities to furnish him lists of all such applicants for peddler's license, that he may try to find more desirable work for them.

This effort on the part of Colonel Woods is altogether praiseworthy, and it merits co-operation on the part of all who can in any way help it along.

It is not that peddling is a dishonorable occupation, for it is not necessarily so; but, in the opinion of Colonel Woods—and probably a vast majority of the people will share it with him—it tends to cheapen the uniform in the eyes of the public and for that reason, if for no other, the condition that necessitates it ought to be corrected.

But that is only one of various reasons, the most cogent, perhaps, being that, as Colonel Woods believes, practically all of the soldiers and sailors so engaged have taken up peddling and canvassing—house-to-house door-bell ringing—not from choice so much as from necessity. They must live, want to live honorably, and have no other immediately-available means of earning a living.

The authorities to whom Colonel Woods has appealed owe it to the boys in whose behalf it is made to respond promptly and interestedly; and the business interests and the rank and file of the people of every American community are under similar obligations to do all within their power in providing good, congenial and remunerative positions for the returned soldiers and sailors into which they may step from the federal service ranks.

WE DO NOT WANT THEM

A superior court judge in a western state has just issued an order forever debarring from American citizenship twenty-nine men who are natives of Sweden, Russia, Norway and Switzerland.

This group of foreigners is composed of men who, between December, 1908, and August, 1918, had made declaration of their intentions to become citizens of the United States, and who, after the United States entered the European war and adopted the policy of military conscription, renounced those declarations, and then attempted to renew them after the armistice was signed.

At the request of the naturalization examiner the court, however, classified them as alien slackers and ordered that they be debarred forever from becoming citizens of this country.

Public sentiment undoubtedly will approve that disposal of their cases. In fact, nothing could please the patriotic American citizen more, unless it would be the deportation of the applicants.

We do not want such citizens, much less do we need them.

Any man who is unwilling to fight for his country—native or adopted—is not worthy the protection of its laws and institutions and the honor and benefits of citizenship.

Nor is such a citizen to be trusted in a possible hour of national peril; and for that reason alone, if for no other, the action of this judge is one that commends itself to the emulation of naturalization courts generally throughout the United States.

They say the ex-kaiser is "a broken old man." And truly, he has seen ghosts enough to turn him gray.

Governor of Kansas Gives Southern Farmer Good Reason for Food Crops

Editor Constitution: In the news of today comes the information that the aspiring republican politician, Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, has declined to accept an invitation to attend a conference of the South Carolina Cotton Growers' association at which representatives of the campaign to reduce cotton acreage will be received, giving as an excuse for declining the invitation that the southern farmers "are trading upon the misery of the world," in their effort to cut acreage and maintain a reasonable price for cotton.

This latest deliverance from the aspiring Kansas governor should furnish sufficient inspiration to the South Carolina Cotton Growers' association to cause them to do everything in their power to establish a marketing agency in every town and village in the state for livestock, dairy products and food crops of every description, in order to keep at home as much as possible of South Carolina's quota of the south's contribution to Kansas for her government-protected wheat crop.

There have been many able articles published and many speeches delivered recently advising the farmer to reduce his cotton acreage and produce more food crops, which is right and proper, but the farmer must be assured that there will be a market for his food crops when he produces them. It is not difficult to induce a farmer to devote his land and labor to the production of any crop which his land will produce if he knows there will be a market for it. Therefore, it behooves the business interests of every city and town in the south to co-operate with the farmer in the way of establishing a market for farm products other than cotton. If it is not practicable to establish a packing plant, canning plant, grist mill or creamery, a selling agency can be established at most any trading center where the farmer can dispose of his products and the products sent to points where there is a demand for them.

Let us hope the day is near when the south will feed itself and laugh at the Kansas governor and his ilk. JAMES T. WILLIAMS.

Man in Glass House Is Throwing Stones

Editor Constitution: I have just read with considerable interest what the governor of Kansas has to say about the cotton growers of the south "trading in the misery of the world," in their efforts to prevent an over-production of cotton.

Such statement as this, coming from the governor of the leading wheat producing state in the Union, after the wheat farmers had held the nation up for $2.20 guaranteed per bushel before they planted a bushel of seed. Is the chief magistrate of the great state of Kansas so selfish and so devoid of shame that he can condone the war profit on bread (the pre-war price on wheat averaged around $1) charged by his own citizens while he condemns the efforts of our poor farmers to get a living price for their cotton. How can he dare to mention profiteering without hanging his head in shame?

Yes, governor, we know what "trading in the misery of the world" means. We have furnished that commodity for years, but others have done the trading in it for us. Our people work for months to raise cotton as hard as your wheat growers work a few weeks during harvest time, for it takes several times as much labor to raise an acre of cotton as it does an acre of wheat. And even by such labor as this, many of our farmers earn the barest necessities of life, eke out a miserable existence—and, if they dare ask for butter to spread on the bread for which we have been overcharged, you yell out that you are trading on the misery of the world."

We have not been able to manipulate our legislature and get them to guarantee us four times what our stuff is worth or we, too, would be planting the by-ways and hedges, our patriotism and brotherhood growing by leaps and bounds, as we saw the shekels swell our coffers. Sure, you are so patriotic that you are going to plant nothing but wheat, unmindful of the fact that this is absolutely the most profitable crop you can harvest, guaranteed by the government at $2.20 per bushel for $1 wheat.

But providence has endowed us with a natural monopoly in the growing of cotton, and this year we are going to use our heads more and our arms less and see to it that we get an honest wage for our hire. Co-operative associations in California have proven very successful in getting a fair price for producers on peaches, raisins, nuts, oranges and other foods, and have demonstrated beyond a doubt that through such marketing arrangements the interest of both producer and consumer is best served.

As has already been stated, the south has a natural monopoly on cotton and if we can demonstrate this year, by the restriction of the crop that we can work together for the common good and are ready for an organization that will free us from the hands of the speculator and manipulator, we can assure ourselves a fair price for our cotton, lift our state from among the bottom in illiteracy, pave our roads so that we can travel them without hitching four horses to a one-horse load, and right here at home relieve our own misery so we can have time to regard that of our brothers over yonder.

And, speaking of profits on world misery, it looks like the governor of Kansas lives in a big glass house; he should not throw stones; rather, he should pull down the shades.

Very respectfully,

W. H. LEE.

Increasing the Tax Rate Only Hope for the Schools

Editor Constitution: I wish to put myself on record as unreservedly in favor of the increase in our tax rate. The situation is very far from ideal, and the question not nearly so clean-cut and definite as I would like it to be.

I sympathize with those who hesitate because the entire income from the tax is not to be used for the improvement of our schools, and whose faith is not strong that all of the money raised will be used in the very wisest way. But if our schools, and that noble group of teachers are to wait for "the end of a perfect day" before they receive any relief whatever, the situation is indeed hopeless.

The fact that compels my vote in favor of this tax is that the one hope, and the only hope, in sight for any improvement for our schools, is this increase in revenue. It is a short step, but nevertheless, it is a step forward. I must confess that I do not see how any citizen can face one of our teachers in the future, after refusing to do the one thing which he could do to help. So let us take the first step with the unalterable determination that it shall not be the last step toward a school system which shall be worthy of this splendid city.

The Friend of Old.

(In Memory of S. W. D.)

I.

Memories of friendship sweet
And of Love untold;
To Life's fireside-retreat
Comes the friend of old.
For he made
Love's dwelling fair,
And Love's welcome waits him there.

II.

Comes—even as in years gone by
When the day's tasks done,
The first star in the evening sky
Saw Home, like Heaven, won.
With the old lovelight in his face,
Home, in a dream, to Love's embrace.

III.

The Love that knows eternal spring,—
Dreams not of wintry blight;
The Love that makes the Morning sing
And sanctifies the Night.
To you, O Friend, Loves hands—and rest
Still on Love's faithful breast!

During the sermon, last Sunday Brother Jinkens' house was seen to be afire, and the preacher stopped preaching for one hour, till the blaze was put out, after which he said: "It some o' you sinners don't get insured against fire, you'll hit the hot time o' your lives in the other country."

"In the Day's News"

Hjalmar Branting, who is urging the allies to feed the larger cities of Russia as the most effective means of combating the spread of Bolshevism, has long been famous as the leader of the Swedish socialists. From the beginning of the war his sympathies have been on the side of the entente and from the outset he insisted that the defeat of the kaiser was essential to a lasting peace. Mr. Branting was swept into politics in the great radical socialist movement in Sweden in the eighties. Up till that time he had devoted himself principally to the study of mathematics and astronomy, but he gave up the prospects of a successful career in this direction and threw himself into the new political movement. Under his able leadership the Swedish social democratic party has become a real power in the state. Mr. Branting is a brilliant writer and a speaker of rare eloquence.

CARAGAHEEN.

Caragaheen is a fine mouthful of a word if you get the right trill on the r and the right vehemence on the h. It is properly known as Irish moss, and druggists call it chondrus. Botanists call it Fucus Crispus.

It is gathered from the seashore of the southern and western coasts of Ireland and from the coast of Scotland. It occurs also on the southern coast of Massachusetts, where it is gathered by tearing it from the rocks or picked up from the shore after it has been washed ashore.

Boiled with water, it yields a solution which thickens to a jelly on cooling. In cold water it swells but does not dissolve.

Irish moss contains a certain amount of natural iodine. In Scotland they cook Irish moss and eat it as a breakfast dish. It has some nutritive value, but it is especially valuable as a giver of bulk to the intestinal contents and as a demulcent, thus being a natural antidote to constipation. It has a rather agreeable salty taste. It is good to chew when you need something to eat and soften a harsh cough.

Because of its iodine in a natural assimilable form Irish moss should be kept in the house and fed occasionally to girls of 10 to 18 years who are inclined to have simple goitre. It may be chewed and swallowed as a relish, taken with cereals, or used to thicken soups, or as a demulcent drink.

It is an official substance in the United States Pharmacopoeia and in the British Pharmacopoeia, so if any reader goes to the drug store and finds that the druggist does not know what Irish moss or Chondrus is, let him just refer the druggist to the above authoritative works.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Bone Scrofula is TBC.

What is bone scrofula? Is there a cure for it? Is it an inherited disease? Would the children of one so affected be likely to suffer with the disease? (H. A.)

ANSWER—Scrofula is an old-fashioned term for tuberculosis. Tuberculosis of bone is curable by prolonged open air life and rest and suitable medical care, just as is tuberculosis of the lungs. Sun baths are beneficial. Sometimes surgical procedures are required. Tuberculosis is never inherited. Children living with a parent or other person who has active tuberculosis of the lungs or open (discharging) tuberculosis of bone would be quite likely to become infected during infancy, and to suffer with active symptoms perhaps several years later, the infection meanwhile remaining dormant, smouldering in the system, in some lymph node, for what reason we do not know.

Like Extracting the Wrong Tooth.

Can you tell me what to do for an ingrowing toenail? I have had one cut out and it has grown in again. I have been putting cotton in, but it pains me so I have to remove it again. Isn't there some simple home remedy I could put onto it to effect a cure? (M. B.)

ANSWER—"Ingrowing toenail," like "ingrowing hairs," does not grow in; the soft tissue at the edge of the nail is crowded tightly against the nail by the fool habit of wearing pointed tight shoes instead of wearing shoes that fit the feet. In the groove granulations (proud flesh) grow up, covering the edge of the nail and giving the appearance, to the uninitiated, of "ingrowing nail." So you see it is a mistake to remove the nail. Remove the infected soft tissues at its edge, and remove the cause—the vicious shoes—and adopt sensible shoes, not brogans, but shoes that give the toes a chance. In the earlier stage relief is obtained by carefully touching the "proud flesh" with 2 per cent solution of silver nitrate on a wisp of cotton on a toothpick once a day, then applying spiral adhesive plaster strips in such a manner about the toes and foot as to draw the soft tissues away from the nail edge, and of course avoiding shoes that defeat this purpose.

Rubber Soles.

Do rubber soled tennis shoes worn continually affect the eyes or injure one's health in any way? (L. M.)

ANSWER—No.

From Mole to Cancer.

Is there any danger of a mole, not quite as large as a dime, on one's skin turning to cancer? When I happen to strike it I find it becomes sensitive. (Miss P.)

ANSWER—Yes. Sometimes such trifling lesions ultimately become malignant. Why not have it removed by your doctor? This is a painless, trifling operation and will end the matter.

"Liberty! God's Dear Child"

BY NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS

It was at a meeting in praise of America. Foreigners were paying their tribute to our institutions.

Dr. Hillis.

Once our country had seemed the land of brilliant hopes, but now it had become in reality the land of glorious fulfillment. Work had been lighter, wages had been higher, meat had been more abundant than they had dreamed possible. An Italian arose to speak. He was a dealer in fruits. As he began to speak a physician whispered to me that this man had a wife and four children, that when the last babe was born, that every time he (the physician) ended his visit, the Italian unlocked a trunk, took out some bills, and paid his doctor on the spot. He said the house was so clean that it looked as if it had been scoured every day. No physician could have praised an immigrant and his family more highly. Meanwhile, the Italian had begun to speak. He stood there, square-shouldered, fully matured, with bronze cheeks, jet black hair, big brown eyes, and spoke with the artlessness and simplicity of a child.

"Liberty, God's Dear Child."

"You ask me why I came to America. Was it because New York has a gentler climate than the land of sunny Italy? Was it because that, standing here in Brooklyn I can look on waters bluer than my bay of Naples? Was it because there was some mountain back of New York, as historic as the Mountain of Vesuvius, that our Garibaldi loved? Was it that there is an American artist that eclipsed the fame of Raphael? Or that there are buildings here more beautiful and sublime than our St. Peter's of Michael Angelo? Oh, no! No! No! I will tell you why I came to the United States. One night, lying upon my blankets, in Naples, I saw a vision. In my dream I saw the Angel of Liberty, God's Dear Child, standing on the shore. She looked at me with her all-seeing eyes, as if she understood my poverty, and my desire to give to my children opportunities that I had never had myself. Suddenly that dear angel of God, Liberty, opened wide her arms and called out, 'Venite! Venite! Venite! Come, come, my son,' and obedient to her call I came here."

The Highest Eloquence.

It has been my fortune to listen to many noble orators, in this and foreign lands. True eloquence is a divine gift. It cannot be borrowed, or assumed. Eloquence is a great soul, expressing a great thought, at a great crisis. This man was truly eloquent. A sacred fire was burning in his heart. America had been to him a kind mother. With difficulty he had struggled his brains and forced himself to learn our language, to read our newspapers, and to follow our speech. But his children—they were Americans. Never were they a moment late at school. Never were they allowed to play truant. Every lesson was perfectly learned. Upon Lincoln's birthday this Italian father pinned an American flag upon his own shoulder, and upon those of his wife and his four children, and proudly marched them down the aisle to a front pew to listen to the Lincoln memorial address. "I had no chance myself, but my children—they shall know."

This Italian father's simple earnestness moved one to tears. With infinite pride he spoke of an Italian merchant who had several hundred clerks, and bought a splendid home and was working hard for our country, and he exclaimed, as he pointed to his children, "They shall be like that man!"

And those four children will be successful. This man appreciates liberty. He knows the work of our free schools, free church and opportunities for advancement. A man who had lived on skimmed milk in Italy for twenty years knew American cream when he tasted it. The peril of our land is through Americans who have had dessert so long that they do not appreciate their own institutions!

Mayor Key stated Friday that he wished very much to be present at the celebration, but owing to the bond and tax election coming on April 23 and the heavy demand on his time in the interest of the campaign, he had declined the invitation.

The petition will go to council at its meeting next Monday for ratification and if successful will then go to Mayor Key for his signature. If Councilman Carpenter obtains this he will ask the general assembly at its meeting next summer for the amendment.

ANDERSON MAKES PLEA FOR FEEBLE-MINDED

Appearing before the meeting of the State Medical association Friday morning, Dr. V. V. Anderson, scientific adviser of the Georgia commission on feeblemindedness, made a plea for a recognition of the menace of feeblemindedness in the communities and the need of institutional care for such cases as may need such attention.

Dr. Anderson, who took part in a number of the leading investigations on the subject in Boston and New York, has recently been making a complete survey of the schools, institutions and courts of Georgia, and he spoke with the results of these investigations before him.

He said:

"Along with the brilliant advances in many other fields of medicine, there has come about in recent years, as a result of patient research and collective investigation, a more adequate knowledge as to the causation, extent, significance, treatment and prevention of feeblemindedness.

Three Factors.

"Three probable factors may well be responsible for our widespread interest today in this condition and the menace it affords. The first factor, and probably the most important one, is due to the more scientific approach to our serious social problems, the growing tendency to break down the so-called social groups into their component units for purposes of study and control.

"Wherever such scientific studies have been made, the overshadowing importance of feeblemindedness stands out. It has been this individual viewpoint, this study of the make-up and the actual needs of the individual himself, that has brought us to the scientific, to the intelligent and really promising approach to our anti-social problems, and has brought to the foreground, feeblemindedness, as the greatest single, underlying, causative factor.

"Another important factor must be considered responsible for the widespread interest in feeblemindedness; that is the discovery and popularization of psychological tests, which aid greatly in disclosing feeblemindedness.

Simplified Problems.

"The possibility of determining mental capacities by methods, undoubtedly superior to common or even trained observation, has greatly simplified our problems of mental diagnosis; and has enabled us to detect the high-geared feebleminded person who, on ordinary observation, might well pass as normal, and who, in some instances, because of his superficial brightness and unusual loquacity, might deceive the elect.

"The application of these methods to the study of criminals, vagrants, paupers, prostitutes and the like, has brought to light feeblemindedness in a high percentage among these individuals.

"Finally, a very important factor in our present-day interest in feeblemindedness is the work that has been done bearing upon the hereditary nature of this defect. From the studies of Goddard, Davenport, Treadgold and others it is beginning to be realized that feeblemindedness is an inherited condition; is the result of defective germ plasm; is the expression of degenerate family stocks.

"It began to be appreciated that feebleminedness is a hopeless defect, carried on from generation to generation, in accordance with well-known laws of heredity; for in 80 per cent of the cases studied was mental defect preceded by other cases of defect in the family.

Usually Hereditary.

"There is no doubt as to the potency and certainty of this hereditary tendency. In a small proportion of cases, possibly 20 per cent, accidental or environmental causes are held responsible for feeblemindedness, such as injuries to the head at birth, blows or falls in infancy, physical conditions of the parents, or the absence of certain vital substances from the blood, as incretinism.

"But it is becoming more and more clear that even where the exciting cause is undoubtedly accidental, there is often a strong hereditary predisposition. Similar injuries or causes in sound families do not result in feeeblemindedess. In the majority of the cases the environment causes are only accessory. The real origin of the disease lies in the defect in the germ plasm. Furthermore, these and other studies showed that feebleminded women are twice as prolific as normal women.

"In short, these three factors—the individual approach to the study of anti-social problems, as against the old group method of attack—the popularization of psychological tests; and the recent disclosures as to the hereditary nature of this condition are sufficient to justify the general feeling of apprehension as regards the social meance of feeblemindedness."

TURNER DEFENDS CREMATORY BONDS

City Electrician Submits Three Plans by Which Power Generated at the Garbage Plant May Be Utilized.

Answering criticisms from opponents of the proposed crematory bond issue that $300,000 will not install an electric plant at the crematory, City Electrician R. C. Turner addressed a communication to Mayor Key on Friday refuting statements that $300,000 will not be enough to purchase boilers for the new plant, and outlining three plans by which the power could be utilized.

Mr. Turner's Statement.

Following is Mr. Turner's communication:

As requested, I am submitting a plan or rather three plans for the manufacture and distribution of electricity from the proposed bond issue, crematory electric plant as well as the coal-consuming auxiliary electric plant.

In reference to the criticism as to the price of boilers, it being widely advertised that $300,000 will not pay for the boilers in a 20,000-horsepower plant.

I do not recall any statement of any city official as indicating that the city intended to install 20,000 horsepower in boilers at any one time.

It is a well-known fact that the present war-time prices for boilers average about $20 per horsepower or $20,000 a thousand. However, it cannot be denied by anyone that the city has 2,000 horsepower in boilers at the crematory which have already generated and wasted over $200,000 worth of steam during the past four years.

As to the plans. Number one would be to install two 500-horsepower and one 5,000-horsepower steam turbine electric generators at the crematory and transmit this current to the river pumping station and pump all of the city water from the river to Hemphill avenue reservoir by electricity. About one-third of the water supply is now being electrically pumped, the city paying $23,400 last year for the current used by the one electric pump located at the river.

Distribute Current.

Plan number two would be to install two 500-horsepower and one 1,000-horsepower steam turbine generators and distribute the current to city hall, Auditorium-Armory, police station, Grady hospital, Boys' High school, Carnegie library and the river pumping station.

Plan number three would be to put all of the $300,000 into an electric plant located at the crematory and sell the entire output of current to the Georgia Railway and Power company at a fixed price and at the same time enter into an agreement as to the price for current sold by the company to private consumers in Atlanta, any raise in the rates by the company to automatically break the contract between the city and the company.

Any of the three plans proposed can be carried out for $300,000 or less, and thousands of dollars can be saved the citizens of Atlanta annually if either one of the plans outlined in this letter is adopted in spending the electric plant bond money.

ATLANTA BROKERS ORGANIZE FRIDAY; RALEY IS PRESIDENT

The brokers of Atlanta organized yesterday under the name of Atlanta Wholesale Brokers' association, with J. F. Raley, president; Homer S. Prater, vice president; W. S. Rogers, treasurer, and J. H. Andrews, secretary.

The meeting was held in the assembly hall of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and twenty-five brokers who deal with the wholesale men were present.

Mr. Raley set forth the following purpose of the organization: "To inculcate just and equitable principles in trade reciprocities in business relations, acquire, preserve and disseminate valuable information, and to bring closer co-operation and better understanding between brokers and the men with whom they deal.

The new organization will hold weekly meetings, the next meeting being scheduled to take place next Tuesday in the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce building.

CHURCH ROOF WILL BE SCENE SUNDAY OF UNIQUE SERVICE

The spacious and level roof of the Wesley Memorial church will be the scene of an unusual service Easter morning, when the Sunday school class of Major R. J. Guinn will gather at sunrise for a devotional.

This sunrise service will begin an elaborate program for the observation of Easter day. When the Sunday school assembles at 9:45 o'clock there will be a program of songs and recitations by the classes of Major Guinn, R. K. Glenn and Miss Gilbert.

The special musical program for the regular services at 11 o'clock will include two especially ambitious numbers by the choir.—"The Same Stone Which the Builders Rejected Is Become the Head of the Corner," by Richardson; and "Awake, Thou That Sleepest," by Stainer.

The pastor, Dr. B. F. Fraser, who has just returned from a successful revival at Greensboro, will preach a special Easter sermon at 11 o'clock, and will be heard again at 8 in the evening.

HIT BY AUTOMOBILE SIX-YEAR-OLD GIRL SERIOUSLY INJURED

Mabel Hood, a 6-year-old girl, was seriously injured about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, when she was struck by an automobile driven by J. F. Wallace, a contractor, in front of her home on the Howell Mill road, just outside of the city limits.

The little girl was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the Grady hospital suffering from severe bruises all over the body. Wallace told the county police that the accident was unavoidable, as the little girl apparently did not notice the approach of his car, and ran directly in front of it. He was taken to the Fulton county Tower and later released under a $300 cash bond.

HOME-COMING SERVICE AT INMAN PARK CHURCH

Policies That Have Paid In Other Cities

It is a wise nation that profits by the experiences of other nations.

Had Japan, a few decades ago, been unwilling to discard old policies for the newer and better policies of the most advanced peoples, she would not today be a force to be reckoned with in the council of nations.

It is time for Atlanta to discard her time-worn policies for new and better ones that have been proved successful by the most progressive communities.

Once again, fellow citizens, we ask you to take a thoughtful survey of the figures we submit for your consideration. They tell a story of progress and advancement throughout this broad land of ours; and should bring home to every citizen a truth that has been stated before, but which will bear repetition:

Atlanta cannot build a great city on a smaller revenue than any other city in the country.

Read the list of cities given below with their tax rates, and remember this: that, even with a restored tax rate of $1.50 on a 70 per cent basis, Atlanta will still have a lower tax rate than any city in the first group of twenty-four cities; and lower than most of those in the second group of sixteen southern cities.

TAX COMMISSION MEETS IN ROME

Governor Defends Legislature Against Charges of Extravagance—Many Tax Features Discussed.

Rome, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—The state tax commission, with all ten of its members in attendance and Governor Dorsey presiding, held the most successful meeting of its entire series thus far from the standpoint of attendance in Rome today. The Floyd county courthouse was well filled at both sessions.

The feature of the day was the address of Governor Dorsey, who made the response to the address of welcome. He defended the legislature against charges of extravagance, declaring that "it is conscientious zeal in trying to satisfy the crying need of state instittuions for money that leads them to appropriate more than the state's revenues authorize." The governor urged a permanent budget system, co-ordinating appropriations and revenue. He paid tribute to the Georgia School for the Deaf at Cave Spring, declaring that it deserved more support than the state had been able to give it.

Other features of the tax program of classification and segregation were discussed by Senator De Jarnette, Judge Calloway, Commissioner Fullbright, Representative Arnold, Dr. McPherson, Dr. Johnson and Senator Denny. The last named discussed the merchants' tax, the most mooted feature of the new act. The senator received plaudits from the ladies present when he said the new tax act would permit more pay to the teachers.

Members of the tax commission were guests at a Victory loan luncheon at noon at which Governor Dorsey made a ringing five-minute talk showing the necessity of liberal purchases of the fifth loan to "finish the job."

ACCEPT PEACE TERMS, HE WARNS GERMANS

Berlin, April 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—In a strikingly sober article written by Eduard Bernstein, The Voerwaerts warns the nation of the dangers attendant upon a refusal to sign the terms of peace and declares the world will not absolve former Emperor William and his advisers from responsibility for all the misery of the war.

The article points out the enormous damage done to French territory and says:

"Every one acquainted with the facts knows that the allied demand for the delivery of coal for a specified period is based upon economic necessities, although a legitimate objection can be made to the demand for pledging the output of the entire Saar district. In any case we cannot save the Saar district for Germany by threats."

FREE HAND ASKED TO SETTLE STRIKE

Massachusetts Would Take Over Operation of Lines "During Disability of Government to Furnish Service."

Boston, April 18.—Governor Coolidge today asked Postmaster General Burleson whether he objected to the state taking over the operation of the telephone system during the disability of the government to furnish service in New England.

The senate adopted an order asking President Wilson, through Secretary Tumulty, to confer upon William R. Driver, general manager of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company, authority to settle the strike of telephone operators and electrical workers which had caused a suspension virtually of telepnone communication in five of the six New England states.

While the senate was thus engaged a resolution was introduced in the house declaring that the strike was not only a serious handicap to the transaction of business in the commonwealth, but that it also was endangering the successful promotion of the Victory Liberty Loan. The resolution called upon the postmaster general to bring about an equitable and speedy settlement agreeable to all concerned with special consideration of the public interests or to submit the question to arbitration. Without discussion, the resolution was referred to the rules committee.

Situation Unchanged.

In his telegram to Postmaster General Burleson, Governor Coolidge said:

"For the duration of the disability of the United States government to furnish telephone service to the New England states do you object to the commonwealth of Massachusetts taking over the operation until the federal government can again resume it? Conditions here imperatively demand immediate resumption of telephone service."

The strike situation showed no marked change up to midafternoon.

Leaders of the striking telephone workers conferred today regarding Postmaster General Burleson's plan for breaking the deadlock that has arisen in connection with their demands for wage increases and the privilege of collective bargaining. Mr. Burleson's plan for breaking the deadlock that has arisen in connection with their demands for wage increases and the privilege of collective bargaining. Mr. Burleson yesterday sent word to the operators' committee that as they had failed to adopt his suggestion that they place their proposed wage scale before the general manager of the company, William D. Driver, Jr., he (Mr. Burleson) had decided to take the initiative in their behalf and had submitted their demand to Mr. Driver with the undestanding that they would discuss their case with the general manager and that final action on his recommendations would be taken by the postofifce department on or before May 10.

Strike Is Spreading.

Members of the operators' committee asserted that as the strike of young women which started Tuesday had spread until it involved about 12,000 male employees, in addition to the 8,000 operators, and conferences now must be with a committee of the New England Joint Council of Electrical Workers. The council, which was said to represent some sixty unions in New England, was to make definite announcement of its position during the day.

Business men, seriously handicaped by the continuance of the strike which has affected the Boston exchanges even more than those in the suburbs and outlying districts, were hopeful of an early adjustment. They were waiting with interest to learn the outcome of a trip to Washington undertaken by Andrew J. Peters last night after conferences with strike leaders and company officials.

Officials of the company claimed some improvement in the service today, but little effort was made in this city to care for more than emergency calls. In some of the outside exchanges it was possible to make local calls and occasionally to get a toll call through.

Preparations were made to prevent if possible any recurrences of disorder which occurred at some exchanges last night when college students and others who had manned the switchboards were interferred with and in some cases roughly handled as they left the buildings.

BURLESON SENDS MESSAGE TO STRIKERS.

Washington, April 18.—Postmaster General Burleson today gave Mayor Peters, of Boston, a message to the striking telephone employees in New England, which Mayor Peters said offered "distinct hope" of progress toward a settlement of the strike. The message will be presented at a conference with the strikers tomorrow.

Mayor Peters discussed the New England Telephone strike situation for nearly an hour today with Postmaster General Burleson, then went to the white house to see Secretary Tumulty.

Mr. Peters said he had presented the schedule of demands of the workers to the postmaster general and several suggestions from the standpoint of the public. He declared the postmaster general was impressed with the gravity of the situation.

JOHN RICHMOND DIES IN ATLANTA HOSPITAL

John L. Richmond, of New Orleans, died in Atlanta Friday night in a private hospital, after a short illness.

Mr. Richmond, whose home was formerly in Atlanta, left here several years ago to live in Memphis. From there he went to New Orleans, where he had been for eight years, holding the position of secretary and treasurer of Penick & Ford Co., syrup manufacturers.

Possessed of a manner at once cordial and sympathetic, Mr. Richmond had a host of friends in Atlanta. He was the son of the late Jefferson L. Richmond. He came to this city a short time ago for a rest, but instead of recuperating became worse and had to be taken to a hospital, where he lived only a week.

The survivors are his widow, who was Miss Effie Taylor, of Memphis; a son, John L. Richmond, Jr., and three sisters, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. George Forrester and Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin, all of Atlanta. The funeral will take place at the home of Mrs. Forrester, the time to be announced later.

STEAM FROM ENGINE BADLY BURNS BOY

Clyde Stewart, a 16-year-old lad, son of a prominent druggist of Decatur, was badly burned last night by steam escaping from an engine while he was standing near the tracks at the Georgia railroad depot in Decatur.

He was taken to a hospital where his wounds were dressed.

It is said that the French people at large did not appreciate the value of chocolate until it was brought to their notice during the war.

CHAMBERLAIN SEEN ON BRITISH FIELD

Paris, April 18.—Lieutenant Commander Frederick H. Allen, of the American air forces, continued his testimony today in the case of Captain E. G. Chamberlain, of San Antonio, Texas, of the American air forces. Captain Chamberlain is accused of having made false reports of exploits while on the British front last year.

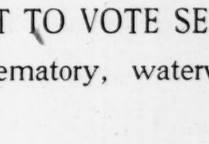

Lieutenant Commander Allen was subjected today to a severe cross-examination by the prosecutors, each of them taking a turn in an endeavor to bring about a contradiction of Allen's testimony previously given. Allen, however, stood their gruelling, producing affidavits from various persons at Rozoyen-en-Brie, near Touquin, where the British aviation field is situated, who remembered having met Chamberlain in the latter part of July of last year.

The prosecution laid particular emphasis on the inability of Allen to confirm the spot where Chamberlain is supposed to have landed between the lines and failure to find a record of the German prisoners alleged to have been captured by Chamberlain.

The French and British aviation authorities, the king of Spain and even the Germans had made every effort to locate this spot, but were unable to do so, said Harper. The attorney for the defendant argued that the capture of one prisoner at a time when the German captives numbered thousands daily might pass unnoticed.

You Can Vote on EACH of the Bond Issues Separately--Remember That--Separately

HAVING BEEN EXPOSED in their scheme to flimflam Atlanta with any such idea as saving "waste steam" at the crematory, the politicians behind the effort to put through a $300,000 bond issue for building a wild-cat electric plant fizzle down there are trying now to create the impression that in order to vote for ANY issue of the bonds a citizen must vote for ALL the issues.

Another sample of their work. It's coarse!

EVERY VOTER HAS THE RIGHT TO VOTE SEPARATELY for or against EACH OF THE ISSUES—crematory, waterworks, cyclorama, fire department.

He can vote FOR one issue and against all the others.

He can vote FOR two issues and against the two others.

He can vote FOR three issues and against the fourth.

For instance, there is this attempt to bunch the bonds and talk of closing the swimming pools "if the bonds don't pass." Bunk! Pure bunk! The only issue that could possibly affect the swimming pools by its failure is the waterworks issue.

What the voters are going to do with the other plan to scatter $300,000 under the guise of building an annex to the crematory, could not have any possible connection with the established departments of the city.

You have the clear right to VOTE AGAINST CREMATORY BONDS, regardless of how you vote on the other issues. And voting against crematory bonds does not commit you in any way on any other issue in the election.

The effort to drag through the thoroughly discredited crematory bonds by tying them on to the waterworks bonds and the other issues that many people favor IS NOTHING BUT A WEAK PLAY AT SLICK POLITICS.

The only thing necessary to defeat THAT is to EXPOSE it.

Remember another thing: Being registered to vote and then staying away from the polls on election day (next Wednesday) is NOT "just as effective" as voting against the crematory bonds. The plan has been changed. Under the law, as it now stands, if you want to put the full weight of your opposition against crematory bonds, YOU MUST GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE NO.

HOME COOKING

Easter Monday.

Mother Earth is awakening from her long winter sleep, bringing to us just about the Easter season her first flowers, the dainty golden daffodils and the delicately tinted tulips, with the joyful thoughts of this season. The narcissus, lilies of the valley and the modest violet are also coming into bloom. All these blossoms give us a wide range of choice for the decorations for Easter luncheons.

Usually at the season spring lamb forms the piece de resistance, with old-fashioned mint sauce or mint jelly. The Easter holidays are second only to Christmas in the British Isles, where for entertainment after the luncheons there is always egg-rolling or egg-hunting contests.

English Lamb Chops. Mint Sauce.
Potato Diamonds with Peas.
Easter Cakes. Tea.

Or—

Eggs and Mushrooms. Marmite.
Easter Custards. Coffee.

Puree of Spinach.

Wash the spinach in plenty of water to remove the sand and then place one cupful of boiling water in a saucepan and add the spinach, pressing down closely. Cook for twenty minutes and then cool. Rub the spinach through a fine sieve. Measure and add equal parts of milk. Place in a saucepan and add one level tablespoonful of flour for each cupful of liquid. Stir until the flour dissolves and then bring to a boil. Cook for five minutes and then season with salt and paprika.

English Lamb Chops.

Have the butcher cut the chops from the loin one and one-quarter inches thick and remove the chime bone and excess fat. Now place in a bowl—

One cupful of bread crumbs,
Three tablespoonfuls of finely minced parsley,
One teaspoonful of salt,
One teaspoonful of paprika.

Mix and add one-half cupful of the spinach puree to moisten. Form into balls and then place one beside each chop. Roll the flank about the chop and fasten with a string or toothpick. This filling is to replace the kidney. Broil the chop and lay on a hot platter. Garnish with a strip of bacon and watercress.

Mint Sauce.

Shred one bunch of mint fine. Place in a saucepan with—

Bring to a boil and cook slowly for fifteen minutes. Strain and add two tablespoonfuls of finely minced mint leaves.

Mint Jelly.

Soak two level tablespoonfuls of gelatine in four tablespoonfuls of water for ten minutes. Add to the mint sauce and then pour into individual molds and set aside to mold.

Potato Diamonds With Peas.

Shell one-quarter peck of southern peas. Cook until tender and then drain. Scrape and wash, then cut into tiny dice six new potatoes. Parboil until nearly tender and then drain and add the peas and—

Two teaspoonfuls of salt,
One teaspoonful of paprika,
Two teaspoonfuls of grated onion,
One tablespoonful of finely minced mint leaves,

Tulip Salad.

Cut the hard-boiled egg in half and remove the yolk. Now cut the white into quarters and then cut the quarters into halves, thus making eighths. Now with a sharp knife split these pieces into twos. Mash the yolks of the egg and then add—

Two teaspoonfuls of mayonnaise dressing,

Mix thoroughly and then form into tiny balls. Now arrange the crisp lettuce leaves and place a spoonful of mayonnaise on the lettuce. Stand the white petals, made from the white of egg, up in the mayonnaise and then dust lightly with paprika and drop the tiny ball made of the yolks of egg in the center.

Easter Cake.

Bisque of Orange.

Place in a saucepan one cupful of orange juice, one and one-half cupfuls of water, one level tablespoonful of corn starch, four level tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Dissolve the starch and the sugar and bring to a boil. Cook slowly for five minutes and then remove from the fire and add the yolk of egg. Beat hard to thoroughly blend and then, while the mixture is cooling, beat the white of egg very stiff. Beat the prepared white into the soup and then pour into sherbet cups. Dust lightly with nutmeg and then set in a cool place. Serve ice cold. This soup is frequently called the June orange cocktail around Santa Barbara.

Eggs and Mushrooms, Marmite.

Allow one hard-boiled egg and three mushrooms for each service. Pare and then parboil the mushrooms for three minutes, using both the stem and cap. Now prepare one and one-half cupfuls of cream sauce, adding one green pepper, chopped fine; one tablespoonful of grated onion.

Season with salt and pepper. Cut an egg in half and then place in individual ramekins. Add the mushrooms and then cover with cream sauce. Sprinkle with fine bread crumbs and one tablespoonful of grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes.

Paprika Potatoes.

Wash old potatoes and then rub with shortening, and bake until tender. Now cut a slice from the top of the potatoes and scoop out the contents with a teaspoon. Mash the potato and then season with milk, salt and pepper. Dice one strip of bacon for each potato. Brown nicely and add to the potatoes. Fill into the potato shells and then place a piece of butter on each potato and dust with paprika.

Easter Salad.

Arrange the crisp hearts of lettuce on a plate. Place one tablespoonful of mayonnaise on lettuce. Now mold cream cheese into the size of a walnut in an oval shape. Place the small ball at one end; make a bill of tiny piece of orange peel and then make tiny eyes with bits of raisin.

Easter Custards.

Line individual pie tins with plain pastry.

Make a custard of one cupful of milk, two eggs, yolk of one egg, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of vanilla.

Beat to thoroughly mix and then pour into the prepared pastry shells. Bake in a slow oven until the custard is firm in the center. Cool.

Now place white of one egg, one-half glassful of jelly in a bowl and beat until very stiff. Pile on custard and sprinkle with cocoanut. Serve.

My dear Mrs. Wilson—Will you kindly tell me how to make a rich Mocha filling for a layer cake? Thanking you, I am, very truy yours,
F. L. C.

Mocha Filling.

One cupful XXXX sugar, four tablespoonfuls mocha extract. Beat butter to cream, add sugar and flavoring and beat until mixture is creamy.

My dear Mrs. Wilson—I wish to ask for a recipe for a light and feathery layer cake and orange filling. Two layers and not three, please. I like thin layers and thick filling.

I have what I consider repeated failures in layer cake, the cake being too solid and stiff, yet am considered a most successful cook in most other things and would appreciate a response to this request. Thanking you in advance, I remain,
A. P. C.

See replies to Mrs. L. A. B. Bake mixture in two layers and reply to J. A. R. for fillings.

My dear Mrs. Wilson—Will you please send me a recipe for making a Spanish omelet and explain how to prepare it so it is light and fluffy. Sincerely, MRS. S. BROOKS.

Spanish Omelet.

Beat whites of three eggs until stiff, then carefully cut and fold in yolks of three eggs. Then when well blended pour in hot frying pan containing three tablespoonfuls of shortening, cook slowly, shaking frequently until mixture is dry on top. Now spread with a filling prepared as follows:

Place in bowl two tablespoonfuls grated onion, one-half cupful of well-drained tomatoes, four olives, chopped fine; two tablespoonfuls finely minced parsley, one-half teaspoonful paprika. Cook this mixture in two tablespoonfuls of shortening until hot, spread on omelet, fold and roll, turn on hot dish, sprinkle with paprika and garnish with finely chopped parsley.

My dear Mrs. Wilson—Would you give me a recipe for biscuits? Although mine are always very light, they never rise. Would you also give me recipe for pie crust (standard measure) and the best shortening to use? I hope you are going to stay with us a while and that we will often have an opportunity to hear you lecture. Your lesson at the armory Saturday evening was much appreciated by, very sincerely, ELIZABETH.

Biscuits.

Two cupfuls of sifted flour, one teaspoonful salt, four level teaspoonfuls baking powder. Sift to mix. Now rub in two level tablespoonfuls shortening and mix to dough with three-quarter cupful of milk or water. Work to smooth elastic dough in the bowl, then roll out on four-dusted board three-quarters inch thick, cut, brush tops of biscuits with shortening and bake in hot oven fifteen minues.

For just this purpose women all over the land, in every walk of life, have used for over half a century the time-honored and famous remedy, Mother's Friend. It is prepared to give the mother-to-be that direct help she needs. The muscles, nerves, tendons and cords are made and kept soft and elastic. Thus strain is avoided, and as a result nervousness, nausea, bearing-down and stretching pains are avoided.

The abdominal muscles expand easily and gently when baby is born. Naturally, pain is less and the hours are fewer. The system is prepared and the crisis is one of much less danger.

CHAPTER XIV.

Mary Faces a Crisis.

Clifford had just gone, and Mary now sat alone in the ornate drawing-room which for a brief week she had occupied as "Mrs. Grayson," and considered rapidly the situation in which her own will and the unforeseen working-out of life and human nature had, within the last half-hour, suddenly placed her. Concrete questions with their inseparable difficulties and dangers rushed upon her: What was Clifford going to do? What was Jack going to do, whose mistress she had just declared herself to be before his father? And what would be the next move of Jack's father amiable forgiver of what he considered Jack's discreet liaison, whose invitation to a yachting tour for two among West Indian seas lay in tiny fragments upon the floor?—which invitation, she knew, he would soon repeat and press for an answer. And most especially, just what was she going to do herself to make her way safely through all these dangers which beset her plans?

Again she recalled Clifford's grim words; he was through interfering with her, he was going to leave it to Life, to the shaping forces of Life's experiences, to make her or ruin her. Well, she was going to show him! She was going to make Life her tool, her ally, her servant—she was going to bend all its currents to carry her in the direction of her desire!

And then for a space she felt herself at a loss in this new turn of affairs. She felt the instant need of the guidance of some one near to her. Clifford? No, she would have nothing to do with him now. Her brother Slant-Face? But her present situation was not the sort in which the skill of her brother, whom discretion had necessitated her neglecting, could possibly avail her. And then she thought of Uncle George. He was her friend, he would understand her; and no one could give more shrewd counsel, could plan more cunningly, than this urbane old master of the follies of the world and of the stratagems by which the world could be made to believe his wishes to be its own inborn desires. Yes, she would call in Uncle George.

And then, suddenly, she had a different vision of her situation. For the present, at least, she must act alone. She arose quickly. Those questions that had been so prompt to ask themselves, those dangers that had presented themselves so vividly, they indeed pressed her sorely; but most pressing of all, she decided, was that she should move from here where all could find her to some obscure hotel, where she might remain undiscovered for a few days and have time in which to plan and act. She ordered the trunks up; and at once, with the help of her maid, she set about the packing, which was quickly finished since she and Jack had brought nothing to this richly furnished apartment except their clothes. All her own things for which she would have an early need she put into one steamer trunk and a bag.

She had changed into a traveling-suit, had paid and sent away her maid, and was standing in the hall of the apartment watching the baggageman tag the trunks and taking from him the claim checks, when the apartment door opened and in stepped Jack.

He stared at Mary, at the trunks, at the change that had been made in their brief home since he had left it two hours before. But he stood quietly at one side, until the baggageman had shuffled into the corridor with a trunk humped upon his shoulders.

"Mary, what does this mean?" he demanded sharply.

"I'm just leaving; I haven't time to tell you now. I'll write you or telephone you."

She started past him, but he caught her arm. "Mary, I'm going to know this now! And I'm going to understand everything else!"

He was white, and so wrought up with excitement that she perceived that whatever problems she might be facing, the most pressing and the most dangerous was the barely suppressed frenzy of the young man before her—which frenzy, if not controlled and insulated, might bring about an explosion and cause half a dozen other explosions. "Come on," she said, and led the way from the stack of trunks through the drawing-room, so recently the scene of unforgettable drama, into the study, where there was a heavy door that gave privacy and in which minor explosions could take place unheard. Jack closed the door, and stood with his back against it—a tense, white, haggard figure, made to seem all the more haggard by the contrast of the unemotional formality of evening clothes.

"I was at dinner with father and Maisie Jones—she's the girl they want to marry me to—and a few others, but I managed to give them the slip!" he said rapidly, by way of explaining his presence. "Tell me"—his burning eyes were fixed on her—"what do those trunks mean?"

She told him the truth; not the whole of it, but what she did tell was true enough.

"You're not going to do anything of the sort!" he declared. "But we won't argue that point now. First tell me this—why, in the name of God, when my father discovered you here at the Mordona two hours ago, did you admit that you were my mistress? Yes, and made me admit it!"

She spoke quietly, hoping to calm him by her reasonable voice. "It began with your father's mistaken conception of our relations. His mistake saved us. It would have been foolish not to have fallen in with his mistake. Surely you understand that?"

"I didn't understand it, and it made me sick!" he cried. "I backed you up, just because I knew you wanted me to. But I'm not going to stand any longer for this lying, this living in secret! I'm going to end it!"

"End it? How?"

"I'm not going to let my father or any one else, think of you as my mistress! I'm going to tell him we're married! And from now on everything's going to be in the open."

She had never liked him more than just then. Whatever else he might be in the future, she would never be able to forget him as he was at this his highest moment—frenzied, outraged, dominated by reckless impulse. But she saw danger to her dreams in this attitude.

"It's fine of you to say that, Jack, but you must not do it."

"It ought to be plain for you, Jack. You are entirely dependent on your father. If he were told of our marriage—particularly since he's so eager to have you marry that other girl—he'd be sure to cut you off in every way, and I'm not going to have that happen to you." Within herself she was also saying that if Mr. Morton were told of the marriage, and if she and Jack lived in the open, father and son would inevitable and swiftly learn who she really was—and that would end everything. "We must keep it all quiet, Jack," she went on, "and keep on waiting, and after a time we'll have our chance to win your father around. You leave it to me."

His face had suddenly darkened at mention of his father. "What did Clifford offer you in my father's behalf, after we'd gone?" he demanded abruptly.

"Mr. Clifford told me that your father would give me in settlement any sum I might mention."

"And your reply to that?"

"I didn't make any reply. He'll come for it himself, if necessary."

"That's one reason of my moving—because I knew he would come."

"Was that all dad offered?" Jack demanded. "You made a big hit with him."

She thought it best that the inflammable youth should remain ignorant of the father's invitation, convoyed by orchids each worth a bank-note, to the supposedly dispensed mistress of his son to join him in a very exclusive cruise.

"That was all that happened," she answered steadily.

Quickly, but without seeming haste, she shifted from this dangerous subject, back to their difference. "Of course you agree, Jack," she pressed him, "that we must keep things quiet, and keep on waiting?"

His desperate mood was instantly back upon him again. "Even if we could keep up that pretense," he cried,—"why, you're forgetting Maisie Jones! You're forgetting my predicament!"

"I can't keep it quiet, even if I want to! Don't you you see? Now that I've settled down into a steady business man—your doings!—all parties are willing that Maisie and I should at once be formally engaged and then be married in a very short time. Father's pushing it across as though it were a big option that expired tomorrow. Get the fix that puts me in? There are only three things for me to do. Run away from it all, in which case dad'll be done with me as long as he lives. Or say I won't go through with the thing with Maisie, and give no reasons—which means the same result. Or else come right out with the truth that I'm married to you. See my fix?"

Mary saw; and swiftly judging her many-angled situation she saw, that, however pressing other matters might be, this matter of the other girl was the first business that must be somehow adjusted if she were to realize her vaulting dreams—if she were to pass through the Golden Doors. And as she perceived this, she had an instant's realization, that this business of gaining the world ly heights, which had at the inception of her plan seemed so simple and easily achievable, was every day becoming more complicated, more tortuous. Again Clifford's grim words flashed briefly back: "I'll leave it to Life to test you." . . . .

"So, you see, I might as well come across with the truth about our marriage!" Jack exclaims. "It's the best way out of the fix!"

And So They Were Married

EPISODE FOUR (The Other Man)

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

(Copyright, 1919, by Public Ledger Co.)

CHAPTER XXI.

In spite of the fact that Ruth kept up her friendship with Nick Carson and that Scott rarely spoke of it at all, Ruth began to realize a difference in Nick after that night when Isabel had made her confession. Once or twice he had done things that had made Ruth uncomfortable, and she discovered that she was really lying to herself when she said that Nick's friendship was safe. Ruth herself cared not at all for Nick, she cared for no man but Scott, and she did nothing to distract Nick and to put other thoughts save friendship into his head, but the thoughts were there just the same, and Ruth knew it.

When a man cares for a girl, her very nearness serves as a tinder box to light the fires of his emotion. Ruth would have attracted any man who was with her often.

Nick was allowing himself a little freedom. He did things that he would not have attempted at first, such as holding her hand a great deal too long when he left her. Once he had stooped and kissed it lightly, and Ruth had pretended to herself that it was nothing at all to give a second thought to, that Nick meant nothing at all by anything he did. Once she even said laughingly to Scott that Nick was a flirt but that he meant nothing by it.

"Women have spoiled him, and he doesn't know how to be just a friend."

Scott had thought a moment before replying and then had said slowly, "Perhaps he doesn't want to be a friend to a woman."

"Nonsense, Scott," Ruth had returned quick as a flash. Matters like this were never talked over with any freedom any longer between them. There was a barrier that both of them realized and neither recognized, that prevented them from being frank with each other.

Naturally with such an unnatural condition existing between them there would have to be a step taken in one direction or another. If Ruth had been asked to tell exactly what she thought about it, she would have admitted that she would rather go back to the old state of affairs, but that inasmuch as Scott had not been satisfied with things as they had been she herself would abide by the consequences. If any one had asked Scott to tell how he felt about matters he would have admitted that he was bitterly sorry that he had ever made it possible for Ruth to be friends with a man like Nick Carson, but he was too proud to tell her so. Both were playing at cross purposes.

Ruth insisted upon Scott sticking closely to his original program of going out at least one evening a week, and Nick Carson had been looking forward to these evenings with a certain regularity of late. He was seeing Ruth often and always alone, and Scott knew that she spent these evenings with Nick, yet he felt that he could hardly object. If he had thought for a moment that Ruth was growing to care for Nick, he would have died rather than admit it anyway.

Then Dolly Dayton gave a masquerade affair and both Ruth and Scott were invited. From the day their invitation came until a few days before the affair itself Ruth talked of little else but her costume and what fun they would have. The very fact that she was going with Scott and that she need fear nothing from Nick's attentions went far toward making the evening one to be thoroughly enjoyed. Then Fate took a hand again and three days before the party Scott's firm sent him to Ohio on business.

He announced this fact at dinner that night and Ruth looked at him with frank disappointment.

"What about the masquerade?" she asked immediately.

"I'm sorry, dear. It does seem a shame, but of course there's nothing else for me to do but go where I'm sent."

Ruth's first thought was that of course she could not go, that was the conventional thought, then came the second thought, why shouldn't she go anyway? What was there to prevent it?

"Would you want to go alone?"

"Of course, after paying all that money for that lovely Turkish costume. Aren't you sorry you won't be here to see me in it?"

"Nick can't bring you home here unless you have some one stay with you."

"Why, Scott, surely you're not going to develop a conventional strain. All of your friends live alone, or a great many of them do. Don't tell me that no one ever has a man take her home on that account?"

And Scott for all his broad mindedness wished suddenly right here for the power of the most typically dominant husband. He wanted to forbid Ruth to go to the masquerade, but he felt powerless to do anything about it.

BITTER TASTE SOUR STOMACH

Pills and Strong Medicines Made This Lady's Troubles Worse, But Thedford's Black-Draught Improved Her Appetite and Took Away Her Bile.

Nancy, Ky.—Mrs. Cora Waddle, a resident of this place, gives out this statement: "I have taken Black-Draught and found it to be the best liver medicine I ever used. It has just been fine for indigestion, sour stomach and a bitter taste in the mouth.

I used to get bilious and constipated and had to take something. Pills and other strong medicines would only tear my stomach up and leave me in a worse fix than before taking. I began to have sick headache.

After learning of Black-Draught I took it and was cured of sick headaches. One or two doses a week, or a pinch after meals, kept the bowels open and took away all bile. I have a good appetite, due to my use of Black-Draught."

If your liver is not acting properly you may suffer from such symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless relief is obtained serious trouble may result.

In its 70 years of successful use, Thedford's Black-Draught has been found to relieve these ailments and stimulate the liver to do its work.

JESSUP-FORT GAME CANCELLED

Since five of the Camp Jessup baseball team have received orders to be on guard duty at the speedway when the "Flying Circus" performs Saturday afternoon, the game which had been arranged between Camp Jessup and Fort McPherson at Ponce de Leon today has been called off after a conference between the athletic directors of the two posts.

Had the game been staged it would have been a preliminary to the one between Camp Gordon and the Atlanta Crackers.

After accepting Lieutenant Davis' explanation, Major Reilley, athletic director for Fort McPherson, thinking it possible to arrange an encounter between his team and some other strong one around the city, called a conference of his players Thursday evening shortly after 6 o'clock. After a half-hour's deliberation it was decided not to stage a battle this afternoon, since both of Fort McPherson's twirlers are, at present, in bad condition on account of the strenuous games which the fort team has participated in recently.

It is hoped, however, that a game between these two squads can be arranged for an early date, since it is sure will prove exceedingly interesting.

Lyerly Defeats Oak Hill.

Lyerly, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) In an interesting game of baseball here Wednesday afternoon Lyerly defeated the Oak Hill nine by a score of 5 to 4. Batteries: Lyerly, Cleghorn, Brady and Edwards; Oak Hill, Jones and Mitchell. Umpire, Harrison.

Duray Made Favorite On Eve of Auto Races

French Speed Demon Make Sensational Practice Run—Haughdal and Clark Determined to Take Events.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock when the starter's flag drops over the field of dirt track stars that have entered the automobile races at Lakewood park, the automobile racing eyes of the world will be focused upon Atlanta, for the foremost stars of the world are entered in the six events that comprise the program.

Leon Duray, whose sensational practice trials yesterday set the speed bugs talking, has been made the favorite over both Haugdahl and Clark in the three-cornered match race, but friends of the other boys are placing their real coin on them. Never before has there been such a wide difference in opinions as to the relative merits of these drivers as exists at this meet. All of them are known for their daring and skill, and with cars evenly matched, a great race can be looked for.

Preparations are being made to take care of an enormous crowd, as the out-of-town reservations have been heavy, and it is expected that a big crowd will come in to attend the dual attractions that will be held.

The Liberty loan flights will be held over the city at 1:30 and will last about half an hour. The flyers will then go back to the speedway by way of Lakewood, giving all those who arrive at the grounds early an opportunity of witnessing their feats. Special street car service has been arranged to convey quickly to the gounds those who stay in the city to see them. As the first event will not start until 3 o'clock, every one will have ample time to reach the park in time.

Eleven-Inning Game Won By Jackets; Score 3-2

Errors Costly to Both Sides in Ragged Game Friday — Mercer Infield Blows Up in Eleventh.

By Loyd A. Wilhoit.

The Tech Jackets yesterday continued their triumphant comeback in baseball by defeating the Mercer Baptists in the eleventh inning of an exciting game on Grant field by a 3 to 2 score.

As the score between the two schools now stands, Mercer has won two games to Tech's one. The final game will be played Saturday afternoon at Grant field.

Tech's victory of Friday was due to a sensational little hitting bee in the last of the eleventh frame aided by a general ascension on the part of the Mercer infield.

The Jackets scored first in the third inning when Wheeler got a single to center and tallied on the first baseman's failure to catch the ball thrown to put out Asbury at first.

Error Again Responsible.

Mercer scored again in the ninth, when E. Morgan got a base on balls, was sacrificed and came in on an error. The Jackets also scored in the ninth on a double by Turner and an error by Lane, Mercer's first-sacker on Webb's grounder.

In the eleventh inning Turner, Adams and Webb, first three up for Tech, got hits and Turner scored on Wrigley's successful sacrifice, the game ending at this point.

The game was only a fair exhibition of baseball, the play being ragged at times and a number of errors being made—bobbles being responsible for most of the runs.

Bloodworth and Asbury pitched a nice duel with the odds slightly in favor of the former. The Baptist hurler was steady throhout, fanned ten men, and two of the hits gotten by Tech in the ninth were due merely to the failure of the Mercer infield to field the ball at all.

Captain Charlie Turner and E. Morgan weer the hitting stars of the game. The former got a double and a single out of three trips to the plate, and the latter got two clean safties out of four times up. Adams and Davis, at short for the two teams, made two errors each.

Program of Olympic Games Is Announced

New York, April 18.—The complete program for the inter-allied games, to be held near Paris about the middle of June, was announced here today by Dr. George Fisher, head of the physical education department of the Y. M. C. A. The list of contests, which will require several days to complete, resembles the program of the Olympic games.

There are twenty track and field events, the running races being at standard meter distances, ranging from the 100 meter sprint to 1,500 meter run. High and low hurdle events are carded, running high and broad jumps, pole vault, javelin, discus, shot-put and a modified Marathon race of 16,000 meters and a cross-country run for individual competitors of 10,000 meters. Three relay races, one a medley event, are also proposed.

Team games, both American and English, hold a prominent place and there is a rule that other events can be added where two or more allied nations enter teams for such competition. Swimming, shooting, boxing, wrestling and rowing for various weights and classes are also included.

This series of events, open to all soldiers and sailors of the various allied nations, was planned by Colonel Wait C. Johnson and Elwood S. Brown, for the A. E. F. and the Y. M. C. A., co-operating. The track and field meet will be held in Pershing stadium at Joinville. The stadium, which is partly completed, will seat 22,000 spectators and including standees will accommodate 35,000. A 500-meter circular track and a 300-yard straight-away will be the scene of the running events, except the Marathon and cross-country races.

Candidates for teams to represent England, America, Italy, France, Belgium, British colonies and other nations are in training. The Americans are practicing in all parts of Europe, where army or navy bases are located. Later the team squads will gather at one point for final work.

More than 2,500 army officers and 300 Y. M. C. A. trainers are at present developing the athletes from whom the United States' team will be selected. No idea of the size of the team can be given at this time, but it probably will range from 500 to 800 men.

Soldiers and sailors returned to this country or who did not get overseas are eligible and some are certain to make the trip to France to represent the United States.

Special trophies for certain exceptional events, such as the pentathlon, are to be donated by kings, presidents, premiers and others of the allied nations. On certain days there will be a moderate admission charge to Pershing stadium in order that local residents may not completely crowd out the soldiers and sailors who will gather by thousands for the games.

PECKINPAUGH IS OLD HEAD WITH YANKEES

Roger Peckinpaugh, who came to the New York Yankees in 1913 while Frank Chance was managing the club, is the veteran of the team which Miller Huggins is now piloting, and is the only player now with the Yanks who played with the club during the Chance regime.

Walter Pipp, who made his debut with the Yanks at the start of the 1915 campaign, is second to Peck in length of service, and Bob Shawkey, purchased in June, 1915, ranks next to Pipp. Most of the players now wearing the Yankee uniform have been purchased during the past two years.

LANIER SLUGS HARD AND BEATS SMITHIES

Macon, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) In a clean hand-fought game here today Tech High went down to defeat before the Lanier High school baseball team by the score of 7 to 3. It was a case of too much Stone for the Atlantans, the Lanier pitcher striking out seventeen of them. In the very first inning he slammed the ball over the left field fence for a home run with two men on bases.

In the eighth inning Stone again started something when he hit safely for two bags and was followed with a duplication by Hatcher. Then Ricks came to bat and connecting with the first ball thrown he placed it in exactly the same spot Stone placed his in the first inning and three more runs crossed the plate.

Lake did some good work for Tech and after the nightmare in the first inning he held the Lanier bunch scoreless until the eighth, when the Macon boys again began their bombardment.

SCHMANDT LOOKS GOOD TO FANS THIS SEASON

It is safe to say that Ray Schmandt, the tall guardian of the Robins' keystone sack, will be the target for much favorable comment around the National league circuit this season. The youngster, who broke into the game with a bang last spring, only to have his bright career halted by a call to the colors, is playing even better than he did last year.

His work in the pre-season games has been sensational. He took part in thirty-four contests last summer, and when he went to camp he took with him a batting average of .307. Manager Robbie predicts a great future for him, and he is counted upon to win many games with safe hits.

PLEASE EXCUSE "BABE?" HE WAS FEELING BAD

Baltimore, Md., April 18.—"Babe" Ruth, of the Boston Americans, who played left field in today's exhibition game with the Baltimore Internationals, made four home runs in six times at the bat. The other two times he was given base on balls.

They're Off Today

Furious Fandom will once again get set to the mark for a season of real baseball this afternoon, following the slight interruption while the boys were over putting the finishing touches to one William Hohenzollern & Co., and the city of Boston is expected to turn out en masse to watch the Braves synchronize their watches and prepare to see the whites of the Brooklyn Dodgers' eyes.

The first major league game of the season is coming a little ahead of the regular opening date for the year, but Saturday is Patriots' day in Boston, and the managers of the Braves and Dodgers were prevailed upon to forget schedule dates and advance the game to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned.

The dope in this first game of the Nationals is that Boston has a slight edge on Brooklyn, but this far-ahead-of-time dope and everything else is liable to be upset. It is safe to say that the encounter is touching a match to baseball interest throughout the country, and if things don't boom from now on all predictions will be pretty much upset.

Atlanta Intends Copping Opener And Attendance

Improvements Nearing Completion on the Park. Tickets on Sale—Aiken Arrives and Gooch Comes Monday.

Manager Charley Frank announced Friday that plans are nearing completion for the big opening game of the season on Thursday, April 24, when the Chattanooga Lookouts will be taken on by the Crackers and Atlanta will strive to win the Southern league attendance trophy.

According to Manager Frank, the closing of Camp Gordon and the attendance of Atlanta's regular contingent of fans, not to mention the closing of Camp Jessup and Fort McPherson, with the proclamation from Mayor Key for a city-wide closing of business houses, which are expected shortly, is going to mean that the largest crowd in the history of any opening day here will be present at Poncey park.

Tickets have gone on sale at Franklin & Cox pharmacy, Marshall & Reynolds, in the Empire building; Largomarsino's, Oppenheim's Cigar store, on Peahtree street, and other selling places will be announced later. Business in the advance selling line has already commenced to boom and it begins to look, according to those interested, that all the available chairs of the city will be requisitioned to aid in seating the Thursday crowd.

Improvements Going Ahead.

Improvements are going ahead steadily at the park. There will be seven ticket-selling windows and as many gates to keep from getting things in a jam and everybody will have an opportunity of getting in, as the gates are going to open shortly after 12 o'clock.

Arrangements will be made by Chief of Police Beavers for enough guardians of the law to look after things, and everybody is expected to have a big time, even the cops who will have to be on duty to protect the umps when Fandom goes wild.

The city street car lines are going to make every effort to take care of the crowd and those who just can't find a strap to hang on to will be able to find parking space for their automobiles in the vicinity of the park.

The Crackers had a stiff work-out Friday afternoon in a practice game in which Sammy Mayer chose sides. The only thing which really worried the ball players was the umpiring of one of Atlanta's newspaper fraternity, which was strictly not up to standard.

Diamond in Condition.

Poncey diamond is in good condition and Sam, official caretaker of that high-priced plot of ground, has been faithfully rubbing and massaging it to take out even the suggestion of a wrinkle which might keep the Crackers from romping home with the opener.

Frank announces that Gooch will show up Monday and all of the soon-to-be teammates of the infielder are eagerly looking forward to his appearance. Aiken's arrival Friday was in the nick of time for the Copper Hill southpaw to have a work-out in the afternoon and, as they say, "the boy is there with a world of stuff," providing he holds true to the form which he exhibited during his short stay in the box in practice.

"Things are just about right now," said Mr. Frank at the park Friday afternoon, "and I believe we will have one of the biggest crowds and best openings that we have ever experienced in Atlanta."

As far as doping this far in advance of the opener just who is going to officiate on the mound and how the other positions will be held, Frank states that he cannot tell yet, because there are still members of the team to show up.

FIRST GOLF TOURNEY OF SEASON TODAY

The first local golf tournament of the season will be held this afternoon on the course of the Atlanta Athletic club at East Lake, the affair being a one-day medal score tourney.

Entry fee will be one golf ball, and four prizes of golf supplies will be awarded. Players will play a round, keeping their medal score and deducting their handicap to get their net score.

The tournament will enable the golf committee to arrive at what handicap to be given the members. The course is in great shape, and due to the fact that this is the first tournament of the season, a large number of entries and some highly interesting playing is anticipated.

By Purifying the Blood

Once you get your blood free from impurities—cleansed of the catarrhal poisons, which it is now a prey to because of its unhealthy state—then you will be relieved of Catarrh—the dripping in the throat, hawking and spitting, raw sores in the nostrils; and the disagreeable bad breath. But the point is—don't suffer with Catarrh—it is not necessary. The remedy S. S. S., discovered over fifty years ago, tested, true and tried, is obtainable at any drug store. It has proven its value in thousands of cases. It will do so in your case. Get S. S. S. at once and begin treatment. If yours is a long standing case, be sure to write for free expert medical advice. MOTOR TRANSPORTS BEAT HEADQUARTERS

By W. C. Munday, Jr.

In a game that at first bore appearances of being slow, due to inclement weather, the Motor Transport nine defeated the fast Camp Headquarters team, the final score being 6 to 5. A very large crowd of khaki-clad men were in attendance at the battle.

Heavy hitting on the part of the winners in the closing round of the contest was the big feature of the combat. Lord, the swift second baseman for the M. T. C., was the shining light of the encounter, with one home run, a triple and a base on balls out of four trips to the plate. Maloney, also of the winning team, made probably the most spectacular stop of a hot grounder with one hand that has ever been made on a Gordon baseball field. After he had nabbed the pill with his bare hand he threw his man out to first.

Penncler, behind the bat for the losers, was the big hero both with the stick and in fielding for them.

The M. T. C. will face the fast Fire Department aggregation on next Monday on the Base Hospital diamond.

CHANGES MADE OF OFFICIALS AT SOUTHER FIELD

Americus, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) Announcement was authorized at Souther field of the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Ira A. Rader, J. M. A., A. S., as commander of the post here. He succeeds the late Colonel F. T. Dickman, who was killed in an airplane accident here recently, which time Major Earl S. Schofield has been in command at the flying school. Colonel Rader is expected to arrive at the field any day and will assume command immediately. Previous to assuming command of Southe: field, Major Schofield was executive officer at the aviation general warehouse, now a department of Souther field and it is generally believed he will again assume that position.

Another interesting announcement at the field is that Major Courtney Perry Grover, M. C., recenthy stationed at Carlstrom field, Arcadia, Fla., has arrived at the field here and will succeed Captain T. F. Bridgeman as post surgeon.

Lieutenant Alfred W. Vance, officer in charge of flying at Souther field, and Lieutenant Alexis B. McMullen, who recently flew to Charleston in the interest of the Victory loan, telegrams received here yesterday announce, will return to Americus by train, having left their DeHavilland planes at Charleston, where they will become a part of the famous Mineola flying circus. The planes reached Charleston at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning after a most successful flight.

Lieutenant Herbert Blakeslee, engineering officer at the field here, has gone to Atlanta, where he will be engaged during two days in laying out the landing field at Candler flying field, a new field, which officers here believe is destined soon to become one of the most important in Gorgia, and which it appears certain will be a point of tremendous importance with the inauguration of aerial mail service in the near future.

LAGRANGE CELEBRATES HOME-COMING OF BOYS

LaGrange, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—A great home-coming day was celebrated here yesterday afternoon for all returned soldiers, after which Dr. Ashby Jones, of Atlanta, delivered one of the greatest memorial addresses, combined with an appeal to buy Victory Loan bonds, our people have ever had the pleasure of hearing. Dr. Jones had previously accepted an invitation to deliver the memorial address on April 26, but the ladies of the Memorial association kindly consented to join in the exercises held on yesterday. A street parade, under command of Captain D. A. Leman, recently returned from France, was preceded by one of the tanks which saw active service, and which was sent down to be used in the parade, caused great enthusiasm.

After the speech of Dr. Jones, a barbecue was given on the courthouse lawn. Promptly at 9 o'clock this morning, various teams begun canvassing for the sale of bonds, and by 10 o'clock 70 per cent of the quota alloted to LaGrange had been sold. This city and Troup county intend to mantain the reputation she has made in the past, and "go over the top" the very first day of the drive.

SOLDIERS HALF PRICE.

Manager Charley Frank Friday announced that it is the intention of the Atlanta club to play to soldiers at half price all during the approaching season. This is another step by Manager Frank to aid all men in uniform.

"Every soldier and sailor," said Mr. Frank, "can see the games of the season at half price, because they deserve it and it is up to us to give them as good a time as possible."

144 HOLES IN DAY IS NO GOLF RECORD, SAYS THE DOPSTER

Chicago, April 18.—Recent claim of a Philadelphia golf player to have "broken all known American records" by playing 144 holes in one day, today brought a statement from a statistician here that the eastern record had not come up to one made here ten years ago. George H. Lytton and Andrew McCaughey, of the Exmoor Country club, according to the statistician, to test their endurance, started play at 4:30 a. m. and stopped at 7:50 p. m., making 153 holes—nine holes more than the Philadelphia player.

According to the same statistician, the world's championship appears to be held by H. B. Lumsden, who, in June, 1910, played 216 holes over the Aberdeen golf course in Scotland, starting at 2:30 a. m. and finishing at 9 p. m. It is estimated he walked more than forty miles.

Georgia and Alabama Towns Are Talking Of Organizing League

Anniston, Ala., April 18.—(Special.)—The baseball fans of five Alabama and Georgia towns are talking league. Rome, Ga., fans started the move, and it now has spread to Anniston, Gadsden, Talladega and is moving on to Selma. Plans are to have a six-club league for a short, snappy season.

It is planned to start the season late, probably inaugurating it on Labor day, but the wishes of the several towns will determine this, and it may be that summer play will be the rule. Captain Will A. Patton, an enthusiast in the game, and a former newspaper man of Columbus, Ga., has been here this week in behalf of the proposed league, and was given encouragement. Anniston, it is said by fans, will get in

SMITHS AND JONESES ARE IN PROMINENCE

The names of Smith, Miller and Jones are quite prominent in the rosters of the various major league clubs now opening the 1919 campaign. A glance over the line-ups shows Elmer Smith with the Senators, Sherrod Smith with the Robins, Jack with the Cardinals, George with the Giants, Earl with the Browns, Jimmy with the Reds and J. Carlisle with the Braves.

Jack Miller is with the Cardinals, Otto with the Robins, Tod with the Giants, Tom with the Braves, Elmer with the Yanks and Frank with the Pirates. The Jones family is represented by Bobby of the Tigers, Sam of the Red Sox, John Paul of the Giants and Johnny of the Yankees.

A., B. & A. DEFEATS FEDERAL RESERVES

The fast A. B. & A. railroad aggregation which met and defeated the crack Federal Reserves on last Saturday by the score of 7 to 5 will encounter the nine representing the Seaboard Air Line railroad this Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on the Piedmont park diamond, according to J. O. Duckett, assistant manager of the A., B. & A. team, in a letter to the sporting editor on Friday. Duckett further states that the team which his nine will tackle will play its first game Saturday, but the boys on it have shown up so well in practice that a lively game will doubtless ensue.

Art Phelan Is Sold.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 18.—(Special.)—Second Baseman Art Phelan was sold by the Chattanooga club tonight to the Galveston club, of the Texas league. DRIVE TO CONTINUE FOR NEAR EAST FUNDS

"Georgia must and Georgia will go over the top for the Armenian and Syrian relief. The state quota is about $300,000 and Atlanta's quota but $75,000. We are not going to stop until the fight is won," said Harry G. Hoak, national field director of the Armenian and Syrian relief, upon his visit to Atlanta Friday for a conference with Mrs. B. M. Boykin, chairman of the Atlanta committee.

"The old saying that people are tired of giving is absolutely wrong. They are not tired of giving, but they are tired of serving in an effort to get others to give," continued Mr. Hoak. "The people of the south have always been most liberal in giving for any worthy war charity. There is no more worthy a cause than that of the starving Armenians and Syrians. Georgia has never been as wealthy as she is at present. Since the signing of the armistice everything has seemed to go our way. Georgia has made all kinds of money on cotton and her financial resources have been greatly boosted, and there is no reason why the state quota of $300,000 should not be raised. We are going out after it and we are going to get it, for we have trust and confidence in the people of this great state."

Mr. Hoak explained that throughout the country the Armenian and Syrian relief committees are carrying out what they designate a clean-up campaign. When this drive was first commenced $30,000,000 was their quota. Today about $22,000,000 has been subscribed. The remaining $8,000,000 will be raised before the campaign is brought to a close.

Mr. Hoak further explained that as the people are really tired of trying to get others to give, a mail campaign, properly handled, would bring about the desired results. After the personal solicitation has been accomplished in this state, local committees will resort to mail-order plans as outlined by Mr. Hoak, who will remain in Atlanta several days helping to boost the local drive.

Mrs. Boykin assures Mr. Hoak that the local drive would increase with time, and that there will be no let up in the campaign until the $75,000 has been collected in this city.

She said: "We have worked hard for the past two weeks, but we have just commenced. We will show the people of Atlanta just what this $75,000 would do for the starving people of Armenia and Syria. We have been assured that the leading organizations of this city will rally to our support and Atlanta will go over the top."

F. F. Dennison, Georgia state director for the Armenian and Syrian relief, was also present at the conference and told Mr. Hoak that he would do everything in his power to secure the $300,000 allotment.

TABLEAUX WILL SHOW SCHOOL CONDITIONS

Tonight at 8 o'clock hundreds of Atlantans are expected to go to the Auditorium to witness the interesting tableaux in which the pupils of the Atlanta schools will participate in an effort to depict the conditions that exist in the schools, and to hear the address of former Congressman William Schley Howard in the interest of the proposed tax rate increase.

Printed words aren't half as vivid to portray the defects that exist in the schools as will be the pictures in tableau tonight of leaky roofs, garbage dumps, cold buildings and other things that now impair the future progress of the pupils.

W. S. Wier will also speak for the tax increase.

"Star-Spangled Banner and Pledge of Allegiance"—Schools.
"Miss Atlanta and Her Children"—Davis.
"No Room"—Grant Park.
"You're Where We Should Be"—Fraser.
"Till We Meet Again"—Calhoun and Greenwood.
"For the Want of a Railing a Life Was Lost"—Walker.
"One Day in the Principal's Office"—Tenth.
"Playtime"—Greenwood.
"Janitors? Yes, We've Had 'Em"—East Atlanta.
Song—Schools.
"Election Day"—Forrest.
"Our Band"—Highland.
"Truths"—Girls' High.
"Swan Song of the Old Guard"—Atlanta Normal.
"The Children's Appeal and the Voters' Answer"—Schools.

SCOTTISH RITE EASTER CEREMONY IS PUBLIC

One of the most beautiful and impressive of the Easter services to be held in Atlanta will be that of the Scottish Rite bodies in the hall of the Rite, Masonic temple, Sunday, at 3 p. m., when the seven lights of the temple will be relighted, the lights having been extinguished with an impressive ceremony on Maundy Thursday. To Scottish Rite Masons the extinguishing and relighting of the lights has a symbolical meaning, to the public it is an impressive and beautiful ceremony typifying the darkness that spread over the world at the crucifixion of the Savior, and the light that dispelled the gloom at the resurrection.

The Easter service calls into action a large number of the members of the Rite, including members of the thirty-third degree, knights commanders of the court of honor, the entire Scottish Rite guard in crusader and court costumes, and the Scottish Rite choir. The latter body, which has the distinction of being rated as the finest body of male voices in the south, will render a splendid program of songs incidental to the ritualistic ceremony.

A large number of Knights Templars in uniform will be present on special invitation, and the general public is included in the invitation, but owing to the limited seating capacity of the hall children will not be admitted.

SOLONS OF TENNESSEE COMPLETE SESSIONS

Nashville, Tenn., April 18.—The Tennessee legislature adjourned sine die last night. Legislation enacted included:

Suffrage for women in city and presidential elections; ratification of the federal prohibition amendment; creation of a state constabulary; more liberal provision for rural schools; appropriation of $1,000,000 for a soldiers' memorial here; indorsement of the proposed league of nations; revision of the taxing system; general road law by which the state will receive federal aid.

Memorial Tree Arrives.

Anniston, Ala., April 18.—(Special.)—Anniston's memorial tree has arrived and plans are being made for planting it with elaborate ceremonies. The tree, sent from the battlefields of France to Alabama and to Anniston by John H. Wallace, was expected to form a feature of the home-coming celebration for Calhoun soldiers, but definite plans have not yet been made for its planting.

"Tommy, if you are playing you're an automobile, I wish you'd run over to the store and get me some butter." "I'm awfully sorry, ma, but I'm all out of gasolene."—Boston Transcript.

The Constitution's Markets, Business and Financial News and Reviews

SALE OF COTTON GOODS LARGEST SINCE ARMISTICE

New York, April 18.—Sales of cotton goods in the past week have been the largest since the armistice. Gray goods and convertibles have been particularly active and there has been a decided increase in the inquiry for sheetings, and fancies from combed yarns. Prices for print cloths are a full half-cent a yard higher than a week ago, percales are one cent a yard higher, with some of the leading lines sold up, branded bleached cottons have been advanced, pillow tubings are up one-half cent to one cent a yard, and many other lines are substantially higher than a week ago. Jobbers have been buying more freely, but the large operations have been for the account of printers and converters.

Colored goods are firmer and in several instances higher. The earliest deliveries promised on denims by the largest producer is in July, while many ginghams cannot be delivered from stock in mill hands. Mills are constantly increasing their production to meet the new conditions. The export trade has quickened and sales have recently been made for shipments to China, Cuba, Buenos Aires, Colombia, Philippine Islands and Scandinavian countries. Removal of restrictions from imports into England have made it possible to do more business on American blankets and napped goods.

Prices quoted are as follows: Print cloths, 28-inch, 64x64's, 7¾c; 64x60's, 7½c; 38½-inch, 64x64's, 11¾c; brown sheetings, southern standards, 17c; denims, 220 southern indigo, 25½c; tickings, 27c; prints, 12½c; staple ginghams, 15c; dress ginghams, 20c and 22c.

"CLEAN-UP" CAMPAIGN BRINGS FINE RESULTS

A final request to all Atlantans to "clean up and paint up" was issued by the committee Friday afternoon in a statement from Robert B. Troutman, general chairman.

"We wish to thank all Atlantans for what they have done, and express our pleasure at the results obtained," Mr. Troutman said, "though we realize that all has not been done that could have been done."

The trash carts of the city, superintended by the entire inspecting force of the sanitary department, will clean up the trash in the ninth and tenth wards gathered from every corner by the school children, who were given a half holiday Friday in which to clean up the back yards, front yards and alleys. Throughout the week the schools were closed in the afternoon by the board of education, the first and second wards on Monday, third and fourth wards on Tuesday, fifth and sixth wards Wednesday, seventh and eighth Thursday and ninth and tenth Friday.

Even the downtown section was not left alone in the campaign, either. Numerous business houses devoted time and money to putting up new awnings and cleaning up generally, and the city, as a whole, profited very much from the campaign, in the opinion of Mr. Troutman. The organizations of business men according to the various streets will be made a permanent affair, Mr. Troutman stated, and the boys of the 82d division, casual visitors to Atlanta and any residents returning will not be tempted to say that "Atlanta is the dirtiest city in the south," as some have been wont to do in the past.

"Clean up and paint up" was carried through with more success than ever before, with the exception of the government's job in 1917.

EASTER EGG HUNT AT PIEDMONT PARK TODAY

The stage is set and everything is in readiness for the big Easter egg hunt, which will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Piedmont park for the benefit of the fatherless children of France. Approximately five thousand Easter eggs, many prize eggs and other Easter novelties, including miniature ducks and chickens, have been secured, and are now ready to be hidden in the grass.

The various chairmen of the arrangements have reported to Mrs. W. D. Manley, general chairman of the Fatherless Children of France, Inc., that all the details of the hunt have been completed. Many generous Atlantans have bought numbers of tickets, which were given to the children at the Home for the Friendless and other institutions, according to H. W. Davis, who has been placed in charge of this branch of the work. A prize goat and wagon will be given to the child who sold the most tickets to the hunt.

Alabama Woman Shot By Cartridge Swept Into Her Fireplace

Anniston, Ala., April 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. Robert Ford, of Jacksonville, was seriously injured when a cartridge which had been swept into a fireplace exploded. The bullet struck Mrs. Ford in the back, causing a wound which physicians pronounced serious. Arrangements were made to bring her to an Anniston hospital, where the bullet could be located by an X-ray and extracted. Mrs. Ford's little girl, in sweeping a room in the Ford home yesterday, swept the cartridge into the fireplace, where a fire was burning. She did not know that the cartridge was loaded. In a moment or two the cartridge was exploded and Mrs. Ford was shot.

NITRATE MADE FOR WAR SOLD CHEAP TO FARMS

Washington, April 18.—More than $1,500,000 will be saved by the farmers this year as a result of the action of the government in making available, at reduced prices, large quantities of nitrate for fertilizer. After the armistice was signed, the war department released to the department of agriculture 111,000 tons of nitrate produced during the war for use in explosives. To this quantity is added 40,000 tons received from Chile by the agricultural department too late for distribution last year. Under authority of the food control act, the nitrate is to be sold at cost, and already, says a statement today by the department, farmers have taken up the full 151,000 tons in orders ranging from 200 pounds to 300 tons.

HEAD IS IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF BLANQUET

Mexico City, April 18.—Photographs of the head of General Aureliano Blanquet, reports of whose death on Tuesday in a skirmish in the state of Vera Cruz were received here yesterday, arrived last night and were positively identified as that of the former federal general.

Hotel Fixture Suit Decided.

A record in length of time required for a case in the municipal court was made Friday when the trial of the Pedmont Investment company against J. R. Bennett and B. M. Bullard ended after four days' contest in Judge Ridley's court. The trouble concerned the ownership of the furnishings and fixtures of the Wilson hotel, at No. 5 Walton street. A verdict was rendered in favor of the defendants.

HUN CENSORSHIP IS NOW REVEALED AS STUPID EFFORT

Pamphlet, Said to Have Been Inspired by Director of Krupps, Tells of Constant Lies.

WRITTEN OSTENSIBLY BY CORRESPONDENT

"How We Were Lied To," Is Title of Remarkable Expose of German Cunning—Victory of Marne Never Heard of in Germany.

Berlin, April 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Revelations of the "stupidity and cunning" of German newspaper censorship which for more than four years obsessed 70,000,000 people with the hope of an impossible victory, hid from them the news of Prussian defeats and at last contributed to the downfall of the structure of pretence it had raised, are brought out here in a remarkable pamphlet said to have been inspired by Dr. Wilhelm Muehlon, formerly director of the Krupp works, whose expose of Germany in 1918 as the real instigator of the war, sent him into voluntary exile in Switzerland.

The pamphlet, entitled "How We Were Lied To," is published ostensibly under the name of Kurt Muehsam, a former Austro-German war correspondent. It is filled with instances of military duplicity, showing the efforts that were made to conceal from the German people everything of a discouraging nature that had to do with the war.

Newspaper editors, according to the document, were forbidden under dire penalties to discuss any subject relating to the war without the approval of hundreds of government censors operating through 21 newspaper bureaus and various branches of the government. The Lusitania sinking and the submarine controversy with the United States was so skillfully maneuvered in the press that for many months the people were led to believe that the negotiations were taking "a course very favorable to us."

Many Falsities.

Only such news was published as the militarists thought would favorably affect public opinion and to carry out this purpose, the pamphlet points out, all kinds of falsities were employed. Secretary Lansing, for instance, was reported as being ill and on the verge of leaving office. A hopeless breach was also said to have arisen between the American secretary of state and President Wilson. These items appearing in all of the German papers and bearing the apparent sanction of the authorities were readily believed by the populace.

Dr. Muehlon, who, in his earlier revelations, accused the then Emperor William of having issued the order "take no more prisoners," points out the astonishing fact that not once in all of the German war reports can be found any admission that the first battle of the Marne was a German defeat. The only thing that the German high command was able to report about that terrible reverie was disguised in the words: "In the western theater of the war the operations, details of which cannot yet be published, have led to a new battle which is developing favorably. Reports spread by the enemy unfavorable to us, are false."

The former head of the great munition plant at Essen who possessed complete information as to the operations of the military authorities her declared that "there was hardly a day during all the long war when the editorial offices of the German daily press were not 'honored' by the receipt of confidential communications, orders and prohibitions from the censorship authorities, calculated to limit free expression of opinion on the most vital questions and ultimately to throttle it."

On U-Boat War.

The Germans, for instance, were never to be charged with conducting a "ruthless" U-boat war, but rather an "unlimited" or "boundless" war. Descriptions of devastation in France aad Belgium were forbidden and all references to barbarism and wanton destruction were taboo, with the significant expression: "The army knows when to use force and when to be mild." Details of the closing down of factories, coal and food shortages, poor crops and the employment of prisoners of war in mines and munition plants were suppressed as were also reports of street disorders, unrest and strikes.

Referring to the time when hundreds were dying daily in Turkey from starvation and the collapse of the Ottoman army seemed imminent and when Germany was sending vast quantities of food and munitions and heavy reinforcements of troops to the Near East Dr. Muehlon recalls the fact that in those dark days "the German people were fed upon roseate accounts of conditions in Turkey, that the sultan's army was 'strong and sufficient,' and the Turks were a 'valable ally.' 'With the enormous masses of troops that we had to send to Turkey,' continues the pamphlet, "it was pretty strong to suggest to the press that the Turkish army reserve was adequate. It was a deliberate altering of the facts."

It must be understood, writes Dr. Muehlon's colaborator, that all the censorship regulations under which the newspapers were operating were unknown to the people. The distortion of facts was thus made easy for every editor. He was encouraged to that, notwithstanding that the allies were sinking German submarines as fast as they could be built, "the number of new German U-boats is four times greater than the losses. Our submersible fleet has grown extraordinarily during the war. The press is to picture the submarine warfare as a means of shortening the struggle and not as a measure of retaliation or a weapon to starve our foes."

Months of Deception.

After months of deception in trying to convince the people that America would never enter the war, asserts the Krupp director, when President Wilson sent his ultimatum, the German press very readily executed an "about face" and endeavored to minimize the United States as a possible adversary. Quoting from the pamphlet: "The entry of America would mean little from a naval standpoint. Looked at from all angles, it would be possible for her to use only a few torpedo boat destroyers and a few small, slow cruisers which might, perhaps, be used as convoys. The United States has built no armored cruisers, which are decisive in maritime warfare. For the transport of an army corps of 30,000 men, 75 steamships of 4,000 tons each are necessary. For the transport of 100,000 soldiers with nothing but their marching equipment, 400,000 tons would be necessary for the double trip."

Even after the United States had landed more than 1,500,000 men in France, Dr. Meuhlon declares, the German papers continued their campaign of falsity and delusion. The diplomatic intercourse between Germany and the United States during the two years preceding America's entry into the war is set forth in the pamphlet with interesting references to Count von Bernstorff and his military and naval attaches, Boy-Ed and Von Papen, in Washington. It was given out as "established" that the former ambassador, and not Dr. Zimmerman, the German foreign secretary, had conducted the correspondence with Heinrich von Eckhardt, former German minister in Mexico, looking to an alliance between Japan, Germany and Mexico, if the United States entered the war. German newspapers were cautioned never to use "the unfortunate expression 'Zimmerman letter,'" because it was believed this might lead to a severance of diplomatic relations between Berlin and Washington.

After the United States actually had entered the war the censors permitted such statements as "the damage to German ships lying in American harbors has been carried out to our satisfaction. For example, the giant steamship Vaterland has been made wholly unusable. Even the sketches of the turbine construction have been destroyed."

Views on America.

An interesting sidelight on the psychological view the average German was permitted of the American situation is shown in the following summarization by Dr. Meuhlon: "At the beginning of the war America was inimical to Germany. But this situation was improved. After the Lusitania things got worse again. Then an improvement set in because America had such cause for complaint against England. At the time of the breach of diplomatic relations the impression prevailed that the people did not want war with Germany.

"Wilson has a more strongly autocratic position than any European ruler. Since he is English in his upbringing he knows little or nothing about German things and has no use for Germans. Undoubtedly he has been against us from the outset. Often, however, he has had to guard the interest of American high finances. Wilson himself has an unbribable character. He did not labor to bring about war with Germany, since there does not exist a positive desire for war.

"The impression in America is general that his peace intentions were serious and honorable. He wanted to become the peace president, but the breach of relations was necessary for him for the maintenance of American prestige. In the war between America and Germany the financail support of the entente by America will be very great. In a war-like way, however, the Americans can never become dangerous for us either on land or on water.

"Lansing is an outspoken German hater. He is the great friend of England and always was for participation in the war for America. His voice can never mean much for us. Negotiations with America are no longer possible for us. It wanted the war and that is its affair."

Ludendorff's Errors.

The mesmeric spell which had been cast upon the people as a result of reading daily "an unbroken chain of victorious announcements," Dr. Muehlon points out, was dissipated when Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann declared publicly that the war could not be won "militarily." It cost Von Kuehlmann his post, but it awakened the German people to the fact that they were on the precipice of national disaster. Thereafter the censors permitted less optimistic and bombastic news reports.

Loss of the war was charged by the former Krupp expert to two grave mistakes by Von Ludendorff, described as the "brains of the German army," in his failure, first, correctly to estimate the wonderful possibilities of the American troop transport and his false assumption that Marshal Foch's reserve army had ceased to exist in June, 1918. Ludendorff, he said, gambled with the existence of Germany. He was like a jockey in a long race who forced his horse far ahead of the rest of the field and who, toward the end, when the others began to gain with their carefully reserved strength, used "whip and spurs" in a desperate effort to win, virtually killed his mount and yet lost after all."

BIG WELCOME TO AMERICAN NAVAL COMMANDER.

After an absence from this country of a little more than two years to serve as commander-in-chief of the United States naval forces in European waters, Vice Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., is back again on American soil. Like other heroes of the war whom New York has welcomed so gloriously, he had kept the faith, and although his work and that of the forces under him had been less spectacular, they were none the less efficient and valuable in crushing the menace of the German. He did not return at the head of the formidable fleet of dreadnaughts, as might have been expected, but as a passenger on board the Mauretania, but the welcome given him could not have been more fervent.

FOOD FOR RUSSIA IF BATTLES STOP

Agreement Reached by the Council of Four by Which It Is Hoped to Restore Order.

Paris, April 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The allied and associated powers are prepared to aid in the relief of Russia with foodstuffs, medical supplies and other necessaries, provided there is a cessation of hostilities "within definite lines in the territory of Russia." This fact became known in correspondence which has passed between Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, head of the commission appointed to feed Russia, and President Wilson and Premiers Clemenceau, Lloyd-George and Orlando.

Dr. Nansen in his appeal to the council of four for aid in bringing relief to Russia where he said thousands of persons were dying monthly from sheer starvation and disease, suggested a neutral and "purely humanitarian committee" for the purpose. The council of four, in reply recognized with sympathy the situation in Russia and gave assurance of its readiness to succor the stricken people of Russia along the lines that Belgium was fed and ministered to, but with the fundamental proposition that a cessation of hostilities would be brought about.

Premier Clemenceau withheld his approval of the proposition temporarily, but added his signature today to those of Premiers Orlando and Lloyd-George and President Wilson, thus virtually assuring the immediate economic relief of soviet Russia, as Lenine is known to be willing to accept food on the conditions outlined by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, and discussed with the Bolsheviki by various neutral representatives at Moscow.

While the plan is divorced from politics, it is generally believed by the entente powers that it eventually will restore order and enable Russia to banish chaos.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT D. A. R. CONGRESS

Washington, April 18.—Results of the annual election of officers of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution were announced at tonight's session of the annual continental congress. Balloting during the day on the various candidates for vice president general followed a week of intense political activity on behalf of the ten candidates for the seven places to be filled.

Mrs. Edmund P. Moody, of Delaware, was elected historian general of the national society, without opposition. The successful candidates for the office of vice presidents general were announced as follows:

Mrs. Isaac L. Patterson, Oregon; Mrs. John P. Hume, Wisconsin; Mrs. James L. Smith, Texas; Mrs. Frank W. Bahnsen, Illinois; Mrs. William H. Wait, Michigan; Miss Louise H. Coburn, Maine, and Mrs. William D. Sherrerd, New Jersey.

The voting for officers and a visit to Mount Vernon where wreaths were placed upon the tomb of Washington made up the entire day's program. At a general meeting tonight addresses were given by Dr. William F. Slocum, president emeritus of Colorado college, and by Orrin C. Lester, associate director of the savings division of the treasury department.

Columbus, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. Savannah Cobb, 81 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Jones, in Wynnton, here, today, following three weeks' illness. She was born in Wilkes county, Georgia, September 27, 1838, and resided in Columbus since 1882. The deceased is survived by a large number of relatives. She was distantly related to Colonel E. M. House, of Houston, Texas, President Wilson's personal adviser, now in Paris.

Mr. Johnson was a member of the state senate for the 1888-1889 term. For forty years he had been in the newspaper game, practically all of which time he spent on Columbus newspapers. A man writing to a Vienna newspaper makes a peculiar request of Wilson. He asks the president to send him a new fur coat because his old one was stolen in a public cafe while the owner was absorbed in reading Mr. Wilson's speeches at the Paris reception.

CAPT. GROOVER SEES SON FOR FIRST TIME

Charleston, S. C., April 18.—With the arrival of the transport Zeelandia at the Charleston port terminal today, the final units of the 30th (Old Hickory) division, which first pierced the Hindenburg line, at its strongest point, were landed on American soil. These men of the 30th division were principally of the 105th Engineer regiment. Other units of various divisions, including more than five hundred negro soldiers of the "service of supplies," were included in the 2,844 officers and men who were debarked in just thirty-four minutes. The soldiers were carried direct in four military trains to Camp Jackson, Columbia, for disinfection.

Among interesting scenes at the pier was the meeting of Captain Gordon L. Groover, Jr., of Savannah, with his wife and two children, it being the first time that the captain had set eyes on his 10-months-old son, Gordon L. Groover, III. Captain Groover told a correspondent for the Associated Press that "I am the happiest man in this outfit, and all of us are happy enough on getting back to the good old U. S. A."

Believing that the war was fought for democracy as far as America was concerned, an enterprising westerner plans to "kick the kings and queens out of the decks of playing cards." The plan is to substitute as follows: For the king, the American soldier; for the queen, the Red Cross nurse; for the Jack, the Jackie of the navy; for the ace, the American aviators.

GERMANS HINDERING FOOD RELIEF WORK

London, April 18.—The frequent reports, which have come almost daily during the last fortnight from German sources, to the effect that there is constant difficulty in the unloading of American food ships at Bremen and Hamburg because of strikes, are believed here to be part of the current German propaganda. Direct reports to American naval headquarters here, sent by American officers over lines of communication controlled by the navy, discredit all of these reports.

The latest of the reports reached London this morning by way of Copenhagen. It says that the strike at Bremen prevented the unloading of the American steamer Franklin, upon which the captain of the Franklin prepared to leave port. A large number of lawyers, doctors and judges then offered to do the unloading themselves, the report adds, but it does not state the result of their offer. A direct message from an officer of the Franklin received at headquarters here yesterday, reporting on routine matters, does not mention any occurrence out of the ordinary which it is considered surely would have been the case had there been the slightest difficulty in connection with the Franklin's cargo.

The only real difficulty in unloading steamers at German ports occurred at Danzig several days ago, but this trouble lasted only one day. Since then the German workmen at Danzig have been working ten hours a day to get the needed food out of the ships. As far as is known, this is the only place in Germany where laborers are working as much at ten hours a day.

German labor at Bremen and Hamburg is swayed by two influences—the desire to get food on the one hand and the general unrest on the other, this unrest not being conducive to steady work. The result is a sullen and rather unwilling attitude on the part of the laborers, but so far there have been plenty of men available to keep the work of unloading in progress.

"We are turning ships around at Bremen and Hamburg in a remarkably short time, and altogether the work is proceeding most satisfactorily," a naval officer told the Associated Press today.

CUMBERLAND IN RACE FOR WILLARD BATTLE

Cumberland, Md., April 18.—George C. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, received a telegram today from the delegation sent to New York to see Tex Rickard, to bring the Willard-Dempsey bout here, to the effect that Cumberland and but one other city are now in the field, all others having been eliminated, and that Rickard notified all other promoters to withdraw as he did not wish them to kill time at New York and spend money unnecessarily.
